RESCUE 157 OF HELENA'S CREW FROM JAP ISLE

Take Off Survivors in Daring Raid.

BY J. NORMAN LODGE.

Maj. Bernard T. Kelly.

IN THE JAPANESE HELD SOLOMONS, July 16 [Delayed]—(AP).—Units of the United States fleet rescued 157 survivors of the cruiser Helena from this Japanese island before dawn today. The 9,700 ton Helena was sunk in the first battle of Kula gulf July 7.

The pre-dawn rescue was one of the most magnificent maneuvers in the Pacific war to date. The audacity of going into the enemy's back yard thru waters thick with submarines made its success remarkable.

Tonight heavily bearded men who have suffered from hunger, thirst, and anxiety for nine days slept once again without fear of molestation.

"It was an impudent thing to do, running up there," the commander of the protecting destroyer fleet said on his return, "but it was damned well worth while."

Ships Had Good Luck.

The commander explained that the force of destroyers—converted four-stackers now known as APD's or destroyer transports—penetrated northward deep into the Japanese Solomons.

While we were waiting for the return of our landing boats from the beach a Japanese bomber dropped a stick of explosives across the stern of one of the destroyers, but the blast apparently did no damage.

Men Quickly Fed.

The rescue boats were in charge of Ensign Rollo H. Nuckles of Kansas City, Mo. Lowered from the destroyers, they slid noiselessly into the coral outcroppings, feeling their way thru the dark passages. The moon silhouetted each ship, making it a perfect target for planes.

Finally a deep sigh was heard thru our ship. Tiny black specks showed ahead of white waves, and the boats hove into view.

Alongside, men scrambled aboard quickly and were taken to the galleys, where Chief Cook Harley Moore, from Alma, Neb., had ready huge cauldrons of soup, coffee, cocoa, sandwiches, scrambled eggs, and cigarets.

The survivors were in nondescript attire, wearing improvised foot coverings made of rice sacks and kapok from their life jackets. All were nursing coral cuts, and every one was shoeless.

[Other dispatches said Marine Maj. Bernard T. Kelly, 5915 South Campbell avenue, Chicago, was in the water 36 hours and then located one of the ship's rafts. With four marines and four sailors he set up a defense unit on the island. Their firearms consisted of a pistol, two Japanese rifles, two old .303s and a shot gun with only two shells. This force was the last to leave the island. Maj. Kelly won a Tribune R. O. T. C. medal at Northwestern university in 1940. His father is a retired police sergeant.]

Illusion Fatal to Some.

Ensign George Bausewine, Cincinnati, O., said he was two nights and three days in the water. He paddled all one day and night in an attempt to reach Kolombangara, but tides and current pushed him and his companions out of sight of the big island.

"Men were always falling asleep, and we lost a few who were victims of their fatigue, together with a strange illusion," said Bausewine. "Aboard ship they had had to go below deck to smoke. Of course, we had no decks and had no smokes, but so overpowering was their instinctive discipline that, wanting to light their imaginary cigarets, they stepped into what they thought to be a hatch and never reappeared."

New Women's Army—SDC Helps Abroad

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull has been made "czar" over foreign operations of all government agencies and has set up an office of foreign economic coördination at the direction of President Roosevelt, it was learned tonight.

To perform the myriad duties abroad assigned to this new state department agency, a new women's army, probably to be known as the SDC [state department corps] is being organized. Advance contingents of this women's army already are on duty in North Africa, state department officials disclosed.

Members for service abroad in the SDC will be recruited mostly from state department offices altho women possessing special educational requirements necessary for duty in foreign embassies, legations and consular posts probably will be sought, officials said.

Ordered to Coördinate Agencies.

Secretary Hull was directed to coördinate the economic operations of the United States civilian agencies in areas liberated from enemy control in a letter from President Roosevelt on June 3. The plan of coördination was designed by the budget bureau.

"Our civilian agencies must be adequately prepared to assist our military forces in performing those services and activities in which they are expert," the President wrote Hull. "We must harness together military and civilian efforts. Only thus can we achieve full mobilization for the prosecution of the war and adequately meet the many problems developing in the wake of our armed forces."

Following out the President's orders, Hull named Assistant Secretary of State Dean Acheson director of the office of foreign economic coördination on June 24, and Thomas K. Finletter, special assistant to the secretary, was named executive director.

Plans Three Divisions.

Known officially as the OFEC, Hull directed that "there shall be three deputy directors to be charged respectively with [1] the planning of economic activities related to liberated areas, [2] the recruitment and training of personnel for service in liberated areas, and [3] coördination of the foreign policy aspects of war-time economic controls and operations."

As a result of his appointment as coördinator, Hull was made "boss" over the lend-lease administration, the war production board, and Jesse Jones' Reconstruction Finance corporation so far as activities abroad are concerned, and over Henry Wallace's late board of economic warfare, now the office of economic warfare directed by Leo T. Crowley.

Since he was given this authority on June 3, Hull was actually the czar over all foreign operations of both the RFC and the BEW a month before Jones and the Vice President had their classic brawl.

Called in BEW Row.

It was learned tonight that Hull was called into consultation by the President before he administered the official spanking to Jones and Wallace.

Because Hull had no desire to cause further ruckus in the hair trigger atmosphere of this feuding city, recruiting, organization, and training of the SDC was kept secret as long as possible, it has been reported.

Recruitment and training of the SDC and personnel of the civilian agencies that will serve in the liberated areas has been delegated to a special subcommittee of the interdepartmental committee for the recruitment and training of personnel.

'CREW OF WEEK' NEW HONOR FOR GOOD JOB OF FLYING IN GUINEA

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, July 18 [Delayed]. — A newly created honor carrying only the satisfaction of knowing a good job has been recognized was won today by the crew of a Liberator bomber on its first mission which two days ago dropped 500 pound bombs in the center of a Japanese anti-aircraft position near Salamaua and brought back photos to prove it. They were named "The Crew of the Week" by the commander of the bomber group to which they are attached.

The names of the crew so honored each week will appear in New Guinea's favorite daily newspaper, Guinea Gold. In addition, today's crew will be featured in a broadcast Saturday, Aug. 7, over the Mutual Broadcasting system at 11:45 a. m. Chicago time direct from New Guinea. The crew members will be interviewed by Jack Shaw, MBS war correspondent in the southwest Pacific.

Ex-U. S. Warship Convoys Ships Without Losing One

LONDON, July 19 (AP).—One of the 50 destroyers which the United States transferred to Britain in 1940 has convoyed more than 9,000,000 tons of allied shipping without the loss of a ship, the Norwegian shipping journal Nortraship said today.

Plane Guides Rescuers to 7 on Stalled Boat

Two dramatic rescues took place in Lake Michigan yesterday. One, the result of some good teamwork by the civil air patrol and the coast guard, brought back the occupants of a stalled speed boat who had spent a night and a day on the water. The other was the work of amateur yachtsmen who picked up two boys whose canoe had capsized seven hours earlier.

Sought All Day.

The speedboat, which was sought all day by cruising civil air patrol planes and coast guardsmen, had been missing since Sunday evening, when seven Michigan City residents had left on what they had expected to be a short trip. They were not found until early last night, when Floyd Zerber, a civil air patrol pilot, swooped down over them two miles off Lakeside, Mich.

Guided by a bearing given to them by Zerber, coast guardsmen rushed a boat to the scene and found the occupants in good health. Those on the boat were the owners, Dr. F. L. Burris and Carl H. Meakens, jewelry store owners, and their wives, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Neulieb, and their daughter, Jeanette, 14, all of Michigan City.

Run Out of Gasoline.

They said they had run out of gasoline at 1:30 a. m. yesterday morning.

Norton Mann, 6749 Lakewood avenue, and Arthur Strilky, 3520 Lake Shore drive, were rescued at 5:15 p. m. by the crew of a sloop which had seen them clinging to their overturned canoe a mile off the Foster avenue beach. Numbed by their long immersion, which began at 10 a. m., Mann and Strilky nearly drowned at the moment of their rescue.

Wind Hits Rescue Boat.

The two released their hold on the canoe and swam toward their rescuers. At this moment the sloop, piloted by Don Horne, 6026 Winthrop avenue, a sea food salesman, was blown away from them by a strong wind.

Horne tossed the struggling pair life preservers which held them up until the sloop could be maneuvered into position. James O'Connell and his brother, George, both of 6044 North Clark street, helped Horne pull the two aboard.

EYEWITNESS TELLS HOW U. S. FLYERS STRUCK RAIL YARDS AND AIR FIELD

Watches Fires Rise from 3 Military Targets.

BY JOSEPH MORTON.

WITH AMERICAN BOMBERS OVER ROME, July 19 (AP).—I was over Rome today in a Martin Marauder with two flyers who helped plaster Tokio in April of 1942.

Our plane was near the tail end of the last echelon, and we went in at the uncomfortable height of 10,000 feet to unload our bombs with deadly accuracy on a group of grounded airplanes. It seemed very unlikely to me that the airport would be of much use for some time.

If the axis can produce proof that our bombers destroyed anything except military objectives today, I shall be very much surprised.

Sees Targets Afire.

We observed nothing from the air to give the slightest hint that a bomb fell within four miles of Vatican City.

I could see fires coming from three legitimate military targets—two railway switching yards and an airport.

[The targets bombed by the American raiders were the San Lorenzo railway yards, four miles east of Vatican City (the raid nearest the east, and the Ciampino airport, nine miles from the center of Rome. Details on page 2.]

Ahead of us had been Flying Fortresses, Liberators, and Mitchells, and they obviously had done a good job. We were the last to come and to go.

Heavy explosives and anti-aircraft shells interfered with our view as we left, but otherwise there was nothing to mar the picture of imperial Rome stretching below us.

Foe "Fiddled Around."

As far as the bombers in this flight were concerned, enemy fighters were fiddling around while three militarily strategic areas burned.

Not a single enemy fighter challenged us.

Capt. Jack A. Sims, Kalamazoo, Mich., a veteran of the Tokio bombing and pilot of my plane, said he thought the ack-ack [anti-aircraft] gunners in the Japanese capital "had a little more on the ball."

He described the ground fire today as "about as heavy," but said the Italians obviously were out of practice.

Another Tokio veteran was aboard. He was Capt. James H. Macia Jr. of Tucson, Ariz., who was a navigator-bombardier. He was more interested in the effects of the bombing than anything else.

"Flyers Were Localized."

"I had been studying the target chart of this layout for some time and I knew exactly where to look to observe the results," Capt. Macia said.

"The flyers were localized at the spots they were supposed to be. The only other smokes visible from the air were far westward of the city between Rome and the sea. The first arose in the shape of an oval and it looked as if the Italians were

SURPLUS OF FEDERAL GOODS SCHEDULED TO GO ON MARKET SOON

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP).—Ten million dollars worth of surplus federal property soon will be sold by the treasury department to war contractors and tax supported state and local governments.

Located in all parts of the country, according to the department, the property consists of construction equipment, laboratory and hospital equipment, automotive equipment, and parts, educational equipment and facilities, shop maintenance equipment, and a wide variety of miscellaneous material.

Approximately 9 million dollars worth already has been transferred to federal war agencies.

PUSH TO ENNA AS AXIS RESISTANCE GROWS WEAKER

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 19 (AP).—Axis resistance in central Sicily tottered tonight as American and Canadian troops raced down the 10 mile road leading to the vital communications hub of Enna after overrunning Caltanissetta and Piazza Armerina.

Enna, a city of 23,000 population, is on a 3,000 foot mountain and is the hub of all highway and railway communications in central Sicily.

The British 8th army on the eastern coast was battering at Catania's doors.

[The Moroccan (allied controled) radio reported that "American and Canadian troops have reached Enna." Algiers radio said aerial reconnaissance had noted the enemy's "general movement of retreat" toward Messina in northeastern Sicily. "All around this port, reports speak of considerable defensive preparations. It appears everything is being done for a final, prolonged stand." The broadcasts were reported by the United States foreign broadcast intelligence services.]

Prisoner Toll Now 35,000.

The prisoner toll had mounted to 35,000, of which 23,000 were in American hands.

Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's British troops were within three miles of Catania, 40 miles to the east of Enna.

German troops fought savagely to save Catania, a port prize half way up the coast to Messina, the best possible point for the enemy to escape across the two-mile strait into Italy.

[British dispatches from allied headquarters said it was believed Montgomery's army had reached at least some of the air fields in the vicinity of Gerbini, on the Catania plain 13 miles southwest of Catania. One main airdrome and nine satellite fields are there.]

But inland the Italians surrendered in droves to the Americans and Canadians stabbing straight into Sicily's heart. These hard-striking allies were now half way across Sicily and threatening to split in half the island's defenders.

37 Miles from North Coast.

Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters staff announced the capture of Caltanissetta by the American 7th army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.

Caltanissetta, 28 miles inland and only about 37 miles from the north coast, was taken in an eight mile push from the position of the Americans announced yesterday.

Caltanissetta, a city of 50,000 population, was an immensely important prize, however, as it placed the allies in control of a huge section of Sicily's internal communication lines.

Falling almost at the same time to the Canadians was Piazza Armerina, 15 miles to the east. One Canadian unit had pushed ahead thru the difficult mountains at the amazing pace of 20 miles in a day.

On Line with Right Wing.

The Canadians and Americans then formed a junction and began a rapid push toward ancient Enna [Castrogiovanni].

By the capture of Caltanissetta and Piazza Armerina, the allied line was brought up almost on a line with the right wing along the east coast, and the allied front had now been pushed to an average depth of 50 miles into the interior.

[An Algiers (allied controled) radio broadcast recorded in London said allied troops also had reached the vicinity of Ramacca, 13 miles east of Piazza Armerina and 22 miles southwest of Catania.]

Planes Pound Enemy Rear.

[The Morocco (allied controled) radio said the warships were bombarding Acireale, seven miles north of Catania.]

Italians Say Old Church, Cemetery Were Damaged.

BERNE, Switzerland, July 19 (AP).—The Italian propaganda agency, Stefani, giving the first axis version of the American air attack on military objectives in Rome, said tonight that it caused "numerous victims" and destroyed the basilica of San Lorenzo Fuori le Mura, but made no mention of what damage there was to the San Lorenzo freight yards near-by.

The San Lorenzo church is on the Via Tiburtino near the Termini station of the San Lorenzo yard and on the same street where military barracks are located.

Stefani said that Pope Pius XII. had left Vatican City after the raid to visit the church. He was met by large crowds in the area where "numerous workers'" homes were destroyed, and he gave the apostolic benediction to them, the agency said.

Tomb of Pius IX. Intact.

The San Lorenzo church was built in the 4th century by Constantine and contains papal tombs, including that of Pius IX. Stefani said the tomb of Pius IX. was intact, but that all the columns of the church had fallen except two.

Campo Verano cemetery near the church also was said to have suffered heavily, and bombs fell in University City and damaged a public hospital.

All these places lie in an area studded with military objectives. The Termini station in the heart of Rome is less than 1,000 yards from the church. The Vincinali rail station also is near-by as well as the vast Ferdinand di Savoia barracks, an artillery practice field, and freight stations.

Barracks Near Station.

Via Tiburtino runs alongside the barracks and into Termini station. The Portonaccio station, about a half mile from the Termini, was believed to have been one of the main allied targets.

[Berlin broadcast a "Vatican City" story saying that the pope very likely would reply soon to President Roosevelt's recent message assuring him that allied airmen would endeavor to respect the Vatican City and Roman Catholic church property in their attacks on Italy.]

Vatican City's Account.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 19.—Vatican City radio tonight gave this independent account of the pope's activity in connection with the bombing of Rome:

"This afternoon following today's raid the holy father suddenly left the Vatican and arrived unexpectedly at 5 p. m. among the ruins caused by the raid. He remained to pray at Verano [cemetery] and outside the basilica of San Lorenzo, which was seriously damaged.

"He then walked along for a while. He was acclaimed and invoked by the crowds whom he blessed, comforted, and encouraged. The people crowded round him so he was prevented from climbing back into his car.

"The holy father then returned to St. Peter's where large crowds were waiting to be blessed and comforted."

King and Queen Visit Scene.

Rome radio reported that both the king and queen of Italy had visited the stricken districts immediately after the raid and that the queen had also toured the hospitals.

First Italian mention of the bombing came in the regular communique, which said simply: "Late this morning a formation of American planes dropped numerous bombs on Rome. The damage is being ascertained."

Later the German overseas radio gave an account of the raid, in which it was said one bomb fell some 300 yards from the basilica of St. John Lateran, which belongs to the Vatican.

"Fires Still Burning."

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 20 [Tuesday] (AP).—Fires were still burning in Rome early today following the American raid on military targets there, and all of the population of the Italian capital not essential to its activity has been urged to evacuate the city, Rome dispatches to the Swedish press said.

The Rome correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported the streets were crowded when the air raid alarms sounded in the Italian capital about 10 a. m. after "an agitated night" during which the public had expected a raid. A few minutes later anti-aircraft batteries opened fire and a great formation of American bombers could be seen, he wrote.

Center of City Spared.

The center of Rome was spared, the dispatch said, and all well known streets, monuments, and ancient ruins known to tourists thruout the world were left "as peaceful as ever," it added.

The San Lorenzo and Tiburtina districts were hard hit, however, the correspondent asserted. Buildings were still ablaze and the streets filled with debris at the time the dispatch was filed, he said.

Urged to Quit City.

The Rome press was said to have appealed to all citizens not forced by their work to remain in the city to depart at once. Warnings also were published against unexploded bombs.

The Dagens Nyheter correspondent said that no announcement concerning casualties had been issued, but that the dead still were being removed from the debris and fatalities were reported high.

Following the raid taxis, trucks, and even motorcycles were pressed into service to help carry wounded to hospitals or remove the homeless to "more or less improvised quarters," the correspondent wrote.

This would seem, he said, to indicate that authorities had failed to make proper preparations.

WAR NECESSITY: LONDON

LONDON, July 19 (AP).—With grim satisfaction, but not exultation, much bombed London accepted the first aerial attack on Rome today as the start of a series that can end only when Italy quits the war.

Press and individual opinion seemed agreed that the time had come when the bombing of the Fascist capital was necessary to shorten the battle of Italy and to save axis as well as allied lives on the fighting front.

Reflecting the conviction that this was no stunt, the Evening Standard in an editorial said that Mussolini's capital had received the first in "what will be a succession of aerial attacks," and the London Star said military targets in Rome "will be attacked again and again until Mussolini and his gang capitulate."

Bombing "a Military Necessity."

The Evening News, anticipating charges of vandalism, wrote that "it is no more vandalism than is any other necessary act of war."

Refusing to defend the bombing on the obvious grounds of retribution, the Evening Standard summed up:

"The plain fact is that the bombing of Rome is a military necessity. It is confined to military objectives.

"Their complete obliteration will save the lives of many allied soldiers, encourage such elements of revolt as may exist inside the Italian capital, and shorten the battle for the liberation of the Italian homeland. To pull our punches now would be a crime and a blunder . . . the sooner the knockout the more certain will be the world's hope for the restoration of the glory that was Rome."

Cardinal MacRory, archbishop of Armagh and Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, said in Belfast that the bombing "is very serious news and I am sorry to hear it."

HOW CANADIANS PUSHED AHEAD IN SICILY DRIVE

Tells of Speedy Chase After Enemy.

BY ROSS MUNRO.

[Canadian Press war correspondent. Distributed by the Associated Press.]

WITH CANADIANS IN SICILY, July 17 [Delayed].—Speeding northwest along twisting, dusty mountain roads, Canadian troops now are thrusting into the heart of Sicily.

After the capture of Vizzini, Canadian infantry and armor struck west to capture Grammichele in a short, fierce engagement with a German-Italian force Friday afternoon and pressed on to occupy Caltagirone, 35 miles west of Augusta.

Check on Civilians.

Now columns of infantry, guns, trucks and tanks are pouring thru Caltagirone, blitzed into a London east end by R. A. F. bombings. I drove into Caltagirone in the wake of a Brencarrier patrol a few hours after the troops marched into the town without meeting any opposition. Canadians were patroling the streets, watching for snipers and booby traps, and checking on civilians.

The dirty, dust-choked narrow streets were strewn with concrete and stone rubble. Buildings had been smashed and gutted by fire and bombs rained down by the R. A. F. in the Sicilian blitz ahead of the advancing troops.

Civilians waved us on here as they have in other towns, giving the "V" sign.

8th Army Really Rolling.

The speed of the advance was beyond expectations. It is difficult at times to keep contact. Headquarters move sometimes several times a day. day.

While the operations are gathering momentum few of us get more than a few hours' sleep a night, bivouacking at dark, then speeding forward in pursuit of infantry and tanks at dawn.

There is a tremendous concentration of fighting power being driven into the heart of Sicily. The 8th army really is rolling. In seven days the Canadians advanced more than 70 miles from their landings on the Pachino peninsula.

Pushover, Occupation.

I am writing this by the roadside near Caltagirone and a constant stream of army traffic is pouring past. An enemy force was reported ahead and the Canadian commander made a reconnaissance over high ground before dusk. He could see axis fires flickering in the valley beyond.

The Canadian attack was scheduled to start during darkness but when a regiment went up to the town there was no enemy there. These Canadians were disappointed that Caltagirone was another pushover occupation.

The commander, pushing his troops along the fastest he can, has received a congratulatory message from the British commander, Gen. Bernard Montgomery, which also urged the Canadians to keep it up.

First Blownup Roads.

The first blownup roads I have seen are in this area. All the way from the beaches there had been no obstacles apart from occasional poor roadblocks. Near Grammichele attempts had been made to put craters in the roads, but the royal Canadian engineers filled up the holes. Burned out Italian trucks are lying like skeletons. Some of our troops are driving in captured German vehicles.

Bombing a 'Great Sorrow,' Argentine Prelate Says

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 19 (AP).—Cardinal Giacomo Luigi Copello, archbishop of Buenos Aires, said in a message to Argentine Catholics tonight that the bombing of Rome "causes us great sorrow."

HELD IN PROJECTOR THEFT.

Sgt. James Zegar of the detective bureau left last night for San Francisco to take into custody Carlyle Brown, 25 years old, 4857 George street, who is under arrest on a warrant charging him with theft of 15 motion picture sound projectors from the National Safety council, 20 Wacker drive.

YOUNG SOLDIER FROM EVANSTON DIES IN SAND

Corp. Richard A. Younglove, 21 years old, who entered the army from Evanston, was killed when sand caved in on him during a storm near the army air base at Alliance, Neb., Col. D. Arthur Walker, base commanding officer, announced yesterday.

The accident occurred Saturday when Younglove and other soldiers with a chemical warfare detachment on maneuvers took refuge from the storm in the lee of a sand hill.

Corp. Younglove attended Evanston High school. His father, Bernard, moved to Los Angeles, Cal., after his son was inducted.

U.S. FLYERS BOMB AXIS MILITARY TARGETS IN ROME

Blast Two Railway Yards and Air Fields.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 19 (AP).—American airmen specially trained in precision bombing dropped hundreds of tons of bombs on rail and airfield installations at Rome today in the first attack of the war on the "Eternal City."

[The London radio said more than 500 American planes took part in the raid on Rome. The broadcast quoted a report from allied headquarters in North Africa.]

The first "bombs away" call of Flying Fortress bombardiers came at 11:13 a. m. [4:13 a. m. Chicago war time].

Leaflets first were dropped, advising the inhabitants why certain sections of the city were military objectives.

Tons of explosives then smashed the San Lorenzo railway yards four miles east of Vatican City. That was the target nearest to the Vatican. The yards are those in which axis troop trains are made up for dispatch southward to Sicily and the southern mainland. The Littorio yards farther east and the Ciampino airfield also were bombed heavily by airmen using the highly accurate American bombsight.

Carry Maps and Photos.

Fortresses, Mitchells, and Marauders from the North African command were joined by four engined Liberators from the middle east. Their crews had trained for weeks for this delicate task and carried large aerial photographs on which such places as Vatican City and the churches, St. John Lateran and Santa Maria Maggiore, were marked in red and labeled:

"Must on no account be damaged."

Up to a late hour tonight there were no reports of any American planes being lost, altho hundreds participated. Many airmen of the Catholic faith, as many as possible, were chosen for the military expedition to counter any axis propaganda moves evoked by history's first aerial assault on Rome.

Urged to Oust Fascists.

Interspersed among the raiders today were planes carrying more leaflets repeating the Roosevelt-Churchill demand that Italians overthrow the Fascist ringleaders who led them into war.

The importance of the military objectives was apparent in the fact that the Littorio rail yards alone handle 3,000 carloads of freight daily.

The Liberators from the middle east blasted the yard with 350 tons of bombs for nearly 75 minutes, meeting almost no fighter opposition.

Allied leaders, in anticipation of an immediate flood of axis propaganda decrying alleged "desecration" of Christendom's symbols and shrines in ancient Rome, released the news of the raid before it was over.

City Jammed with Refugees.

The bombing was an emphatic answer to Premier Mussolini's Fascists, who apparently long had believed that their headquarters and military installations would be immune because of their construction close to the Holy See and amid the cultural treasures prized by the entire western world.

The Fortresses led the way up the winding Tiber river, skirted Vatican City on the left bank and roared across the city to hit the San Lorenzo freight yards.

"It is from this war engine that weapons to kill our soldiers have been coming," said the leaflets.

While the heavy bombers were tearing up the rail yards hundreds of Mitchell and Marauder medium bombers escorted by Lightning fighters struck the Ciampino airdrome, nine miles from the center of Rome.

Hub for Trans-shipment.

Forty-five minutes later a second wave of Flying Fortresses assaulted the rail yards so vital to the Italian war effort.

One electric and one steam train service enters Rome from the north, two lines enter from the northeast, one from the south, and two from the southeast, making Rome the hub for trans-shipment, and rerouting thruout southern Italy.

The principal center of Italian aircraft construction and repair also is located in Rome, whose normal population of about 1,000,000 persons now may be twice that figure.

The allies took "unusual risks" in tipping the Italians in advance that the capital would be raided by daylight. But this precaution and the elaborate instructions given the airmen were in line with a communication which President Roosevelt sent to Pope Pius XII. recently assuring him that the allies would do all in their power to avoid damage to the Vatican and Roman Catholic church property in Italy.

Warned of Nazi Tricks.

The leaflets dropped by American airmen bluntly told Rome's citizens that their city was being attacked in daylight so that they could see for themselves that military targets were the sole objectives.

"The Fascist government, which has consistently concealed from you the facts about the war," said the message, "will pretend that we are trying to destroy those cultural monuments which are the glory not only of Rome but the civilized world.

"It is possible, moreover, in order to lend plausibility to their lying statements, the Fascist government or their German associates will arrange that bombs will be dropped on the center of Rome or even on Vatican City.

"We leave it to your intelligence to decide whether it is likely that we should waste our efforts on targets whose destruction is useless for our purpose.

"We have declared, and we repeat, that we shall be aiming at military objectives—communications, war industries, military installations and airports, all of which are being used for the sole interest of the Germans."

Some Errors Unavoidable.

The message made it clear that it was not always possible to avoid some destruction of civilian buildings, but "it is our intention to reduce this destruction to a minimum."

"Since our attack will be in daylight you will be able to see for yourselves that these statements are true."

Allied officials disclosed that Fascist authorities had built a number of high-powered generating plants so close to religious shrines that their vibrations can be felt within the Holy See's precincts. These are considered legitimate military targets.

The Liberator airmen said they saw evidence that the Italians already had taken steps to protect some of Rome's historic monuments. The columns of the Trajan arch of Titus and the beautiful cascades decorated by the sculptures of Bernini had been encased in thick concrete, the airmen reported upon their return.

Outlying Places Attacked.

Ostia and Fiumicino, about 10 miles outside of Rome, had been attacked previously, and in May a sharp attack was made on Lido di Roma, a seaplane base 15 miles west of the city.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden last month had warned that Rome would be attacked if the allies found it necessary in prosecution of the war, and the Americans have been training for the task for some time.

The decision actually to bomb Rome was prompted largely by the results of the American precision bombing of Pantelleria more than a month ago.

Flying Fortresses laid a pattern of explosives within a small designated area of Pantelleria, barely 1,000 yards from allied troops who were landing at the time of the raid. On another occasion bombs from the Fortresses swept harmlessly over the masts of allied minesweepers and landed on their objectives ashore.

PILOTS TELL OF CARE TAKEN TO AVOID ERRORS

Assert Flight Over Rome Was Precise Run.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 19.—"It was just another raid. We went after the railroad yard and hit it. That's all."

This, laconically, paraphrases the report of Maj. Warren Whitmore, 28 years old, of Jacksonville, Fla., who led the second part of the second wave of Flying Fortresses which participated in the all-American bombing of Rome.

"I am glad of the opportunity to hit an axis capital. Tokio was my first choice, but I didn't get a crack at it. I am still waiting," Whitmore said.

When pressed the handsome blond flyer gave more details of this allied aerial assault which was the boldest in the North African theater and also one of the heaviest.

"Didn't Hit any Churches."

"Such was our line of attack that we couldn't hit forbidden religious and cultural places," he said. "If there is any griping that we hit schools and churches, well, we just didn't. I was a little apprehensive about going into Rome. But my second in command, Capt. Bob Elliott, of Los Angeles, a devout Catholic, was happy about the raid before and happy after, so we can be pretty sure we did not hit anything we wouldn't have wanted to. There were no mistakes."

Whitmore said he could spot the target [the freight yards] 25 miles away and started his run from a specified initial point north of Rome. There was little Italian anti-aircraft fire and it was inaccurate.

"We came in at more than 20,000 feet, about our usual bombing altitude," Whitmore said. "I saw the freight yards at the west side of the city smoking—they had been hit by the first waves. On the other side in the Vatican area the enemy tried to put up a smoke screen. We dropped our normal load of 500 pound bombs on the objective and I know we hit where we were supposed to. Then we turned for home and saw other bombers en route to the target.

Midwesterners on Raid.

"Among the midwesterners participating in the Rome raid were: 2d Lt. Joseph Gabriel, of Akron, O., a Fortress bombardier; and Sergeants Edward Doolan, of St. Joseph, Mo., and Orville West, of Omaha, Neb., both gunners. Gabriel's right index finger was cut by a sliver of anti-aircraft fire, but it did not handicap his flicking of the bombsight trigger.

"A flak [anti-aircraft] burst tore a couple of holes in the nose of the ship and one piece nicked my finger and another hit my leg, but it was so spent it didn't even go thru my pants," he said. "I got away my bombs smack on the target."

West expressed surprise at the lack of anti-aircraft batteries and enemy fighters and said when he viewed the target it was just "one big belch of smoke."

Another bombardier, 2d Lt. Anthony Mastropallo, of Tyrone, Pa., was born in Sicily and and is a devout Catholic.

"I had absolutely no conscientious scruples against bombing Rome," he said. "In fact, I was very much disappointed when I found my name was left off the list at first. Later that was changed. I consider Rome as much of a military target as any city we have been kicking around. Why shouldn't we bomb it?"

One Pilot a Chicagoan.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 19 (AP).—American airmen, including those of the Catholic faith, from Libyan bases, bombed the Littorio freight yards in Rome, and up to a late hour tonight not a single Liberator had been reported lost on the successful expedition. A few planes had landed at other than their home bases, however.

The first six planes and pilots to land at the home base included the "Bengazi express," piloted by Lt. Lyle T. Ryan of Chicago. Another plane, the "Geggie Anne," had Lt. Kermit Hansen of Hartley, Ia., as bombardier.

Col. Willis Beightal of Webster City, Ia., reported on his return that there was a dazzling display of ack-ack as the Liberators winged their way from the coast to Rome and back.

Capt. R. H. Philips, 23, of Evansville, Ind., who led one American group, previously had flown 14 times over Germany from England.

The navigator-photographer on the last aircraft to leave the target lay flat on his stomach and photographed the area thru the open bomb bay. He made 20 pictures.

"The axis can't lie about this one," he said. "These pictures will prove our bombing was accurate and that only military targets were hit."

ALLIES ADVISED TO LIST PEACE AIMS CLEARLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—Rep. Louis Ludlow [D., Ind.] tonight advocated the writing of a new "Declaration of Independence" by the allied nations in which they would set forth their peace aims "in language so clear that it cannot be misinterpreted and so plain that a child may understand."

Rep. Ludlow.

Rep. Ludlow told a Mutual network audience that such a statement of peace aims would have a "tremendous" effect on the morale of the people and would hasten the collapse of the enemy.

As conceived by Ludlow, the statement would set forth why we are fighting this war, the benefits that would flow to mankind by the triumph of the allied nations, and some "plans and specifications of the better world which we envision."

CHARGES U. S. EMPLOYES TAKE SECRECY OATH

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP).—The Cox committee investigating the federal communications commission heard an accusation today that the war communications board requires its employes, contrary to law, to take an oath not to divulge secret, confidential, or restricted information.

Harry S. Barger, the committee's chief investigator, said the oath is a "great departure" from the allegience pledge usually required of government employes. He declared he found nothing in the law to substantiate imposition of such a "secrecy" oath.

He expressed belief the oath denies WCB employes the privilege of giving congress information it desires.

FIGHTS MONTHS IN AIR; THEN HE'S HURT ON GROUND

Lt. John Innes Brown, who was unscratched in 19 months of battle as a fighter pilot of the royal air force's Eagle squadron in England, was put out of action last week when his automobile overturned on a curve near Cambridge, O., his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brown, 6920 Oglesby avenue, said yesterday. He is in a hospital in Cambridge.

Before he transferred to the United States army air forces and was brought home to lead a squadron overseas, Lt. Brown shot down a German Junkers 88 and sank four enemy ships. He obtained a leave to bring his automobile to Chicago. A friend, Lt. James D. Gray, was driving at the time of the mishap.

Lt. Brown suffered a fractured pelvis and a concussion. Lt. Gray was only slightly hurt. Lt. Brown, a graduate of Morgan Park Military academy, was employed by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation until he resigned in February, 1941, to join the Eagle squadron.

Sees 3 Military Areas Set Afire.

trying to throw a smoke screen over an airport. The second was a small isolated blaze that might have been caused by a bomb jettisoned by some one on the way home.

"Our individual target was grounded aircraft at Ciampino airport 15 miles southeast of the city. I watched thru the open bomb bay as our bombs fell and I followed them with my eyes all the way down to the ground.

"Kicked Up Smoke."

"When they struck they flashed flame and then kicked up tremendous clouds of smoke. As we moved across the target our explosives ploughed a neat furrow along our line of flight. The furrow advanced straight across the dispersal area of the airport, knifing thru at least a dozen revetments covering enemy planes.

"On our maps marked not to be bombed at any cost were such points as Vatican City, St. Maria Maggiore, St. Paul Basilica, the ancient Forum, the Coliseum, the national museum, and the Michaelangelo monument.

"They were marked as not to be bombed and they weren't."

Finds "Signpost."

Prior to the raid, Ciampino airport was described to me by the general officer as the most important in the Rome area. Smoke from demolition charges dropped by Mitchells ahead of us were sufficient to serve as a perfect signpost, even when we were some distance at sea.

With a specially prepared target chart before me it was easy to locate Littorio and San Lorenzo, the freight yards and other objectives. I also could look across the Tiber river where Vatican City basked under the warm afternoon sun, well out of the danger zone.

SEES AMERICANS ROUT ITALIANS IN CENTRAL SICILY

Doughboys and Artillery Take Key Towns.

BY JACK BARNETT.

[Chicagoan and veteran newsreel cameraman who has just finished a tour of the entire American front in Sicily.]

A NORTH AFRICAN INVASION PORT, July 19 (AP).—With 155 millimeter "Long Toms" snapping like a bunch of firecrackers at fleeing enemy troops, American forces stormed into Caltanissetta and cracked the Italian line in central Sicily.

I saw them stage this smashing combined infantry-artillery success Saturday along a rocky, dusty road strewn with the crumpled bodies of our foe.

Italian trucks and motorcycles dotted the route ahead, some of them burning and others abandoned intact.

Everywhere you drive behind this ever advancing front you're bothered continually by hundreds of Italian soldiers streaming down from hiding places in hillside villages and vineyards, and waving their arms in surrender.

All Ask Rations.

At road junctions they total thousands, all trying to be friendly and asking for American rations and cigarets. The Italians want to live, they tell you. They don't want to die for either Germany or Mussolini.

The day before the Americans swung into Caltanissetta I went over to Agrigento [off the southern coast], which our troops had taken a few hours earlier—with 4,000 prisoners.

It was ringed miles from the city limits by big tank traps, machine gun nests and mines imbedded in concrete. It could have been a terrible stumbling block, but the Americans hit it with everything they had—naval buns and concentrated field artillery, and finally a determined charge by doughboys.

A number of pillboxes were still smoldering from ammunition explosions and at least 10 or 12 enemy tanks were collected in the town square when I went into Agrigento. This was one place where the people seemed very Fascist. They seemed dazed at how quickly the Fascists flopped.

Axis Planes Absent.

The last three days I was in Sicily I didn't see a single enemy plane in the day time. That's how completely our air forces won the war in the air.

But last Wednesday at Comiso air field [60 miles east of Agrigento] I saw two surprised German Junkers bombers shot down gy gun fire when they tried to land on what they thought was a friendly runway.

Our air force already had turned grain fields into runways and made it possible for our aircraft to land easily in Sicily at a number of points.

In almost every town I went thru Sicilians were turning in arms to AMGOT [allied military government of occupied territory]. Italian police stuck on the job.

In one hilltop town which the Rangers toop from 400 enemy troops, civilians immediately broke into Fascist party headquarters and looted it to the bone.

Race Conference

Gov. Green told a group of Negro leaders yesterday that he will appoint a bi-racial commission to study the causes and prevention of racial trouble.

Meeting with eight members of a special committee, the governor was warned that disorders similar to the recent race riot in Detroit might ensue in Chicago unless preventive measures are taken. The committee members will meet again tonight to make nominations for the Negro membership of the proposed commission.

"Chicago has had no major racial demonstrations yet, but there is trouble in the air," Gov. Green was told by Charles W. Burton, an attorney, who heads the special committee.

Former State Sen. William E. King, a member of the state industrial commission, said: "We have asked in vain for assistance from President Roosevelt. Now we feel the problem is in the hands of the state's governor and Chicago's Mayor Kelly. We felt the President should have acted because he is commander in chief of the armed forces and most racial incidents involve men in uniform."

COLOGNE ON A SMALLER SCALE: THAT'S CATANIA

Yank Officer Describes Terrific Damage.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 19 (AP).—Sicily's principal eastern port of Catania, rocked by allied aerial bombs and naval shells and threatened with imminent capture by the British 8th army was described by an American flyer today as "Cologne on a small scale."

Lt. Sanford Bloom, 22, of Minneapolis, participated in Saturday night's crushing attack when American Mitchells and R. A. F. Bostons rained more than 85 tons of explosives on the doomed city, starting new blazes in the fire-gutted objective.

No enemy fighters came up to challenge the bombers but they encountered anti-aircraft fire.

"When we first saw Catania it was dark and tired looking," said Bloom. "Just south of the town an artillery duel lit up patches of the sky. Just before reaching the town all hell broke loose below us as other of our aircraft let go with their loads.

Couldn't Handle Fires.

"Three long rows of incendiaries appeared and then flashes from explosives were visible around us. When we were dropping our bombs another flood of incendiaries fell. Suddenly there were more fires than the New York fire department could handle."

The fact that the flyers spotted an artillery duel raging indicated that the British troops were very close to the vital port.

Meanwhile R. A. F. and South African Bostons and Baltimores patroled the roads connecting Enna, Palermo, Messina, and Randazzo, and bombed and shot up several large concentrations of vehicles.

Truck Convoy Shot Up.

A group of American flown Bostons working over the network of roads leading north from the captured town of Agrigento shot up a convoy of 150 vehicles.

American Mitchells blasted Randazzo with 24 tons of high explosives and photographs showed numerous direct hits on a rail siding on the southeast corner of the town. Randazzo is the key point of enemy communications between Catania and western Sicily.

Eighteen enemy planes were destroyed in the course of yesterday's widespread operations, which cost the allies four aircraft.

Middle east air force Halifaxes and Liberators, British and American four engined bombers, again hammered the mainland side of the Messina strait sea-supply route early Sunday, hitting Reggio Calabria.

The mainland airdromes at Monte Corvino and Pomligliano were bombed, and the roads connecting Enna with Palermo, Catania, Messina, and Randazzo were hotly patroled. A convoy of about 150 vehicles was badly shot up north of Agrigento.

Communiques on Battle for Sicily

ALLIED.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 19 (AP).—An allied communique said today:

"On the eastern sector of the Sicilian front progress has continued in the face of strong opposition. Canadian troops have fought their way northward with skill and determination over difficult country.

"United States troops have made further advances to the north and northwest. The allied bridgehead now occupies approximately one-third of the island.

"On the night of July 17-18 our bombers attacked the air fields at Monte Corvino and Pomigliano in Italy. Bombs burst across the runways and on airdrome buildings. Attacks on Italian air fields also were carried out during the night by intruder aircraft.

"Catania was bombed during the night by medium bombers and the focal communication points at Randazzo were attacked during the day.

"Light bombers by night and fighter bombers by day attacked enemy road and rail communications in Sicily. Our fighters carried out sweeps and patrols over the battle area.

"During these operations three enemy aircraft were destroyed.

"While on escort duty over the Tyrrehenian sea a formation of P-38 Lightnings encountered 15 JU-52 transport aircraft. In the ensuing combats all of the enemy aircraft were shot down.

"From all of these operations four of our aircraft are missing."

ALLIED MIDDLE EAST.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 19 (AP).—A middle east air communique today said:

"R. A. F. Beaufighters carried out an offensive sweep against shipping in the Ionian sea on Saturday. They attacked a two masted schooner anchored at Kyllene on the west coast of Greece and bomb hits were seen on the bow of a ship as well as on the jetty. Other Beaufighters attacked a train southeast of Pyrgos.

"On the night of July 17-18 R. A. F. Halifaxes and Liberators bombed rail and port facilities at Reggio Calabria, Italy.

"Bomb bursts were seen in the railway sidings and munition sheds and when our aircraft left the target one large and several small fires were burning.

"From these and other operations none of our aircraft is missing."

ITALIAN.

The following is the Italian Monday communique as broadcast from Rome and recorded by the Associated Press:

"In Sicily repeated enemy attacks were repulsed. In the fighting of the last two days particular mention is deserved by the Livorno division.

"Axis bombers and fighters intervened in support of the army and effectively attacked troop and supply concentrations. In the course of these operations four enemy planes were shot down.

"One steamer of 12,000 tons laden with ammunition was hit by one of our torpedo planes and blew up.

"One heavy cruiser and one merchantman of medium tonnage were also hit by our torpedo planes.

GERMAN.

The following is the German Monday communique as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press:

"In Sicily German and Italian troops continued to offer the enemy fierce resistance, partly in mobile actions.

"In the coastal sector south of Catania attempts by British infantry and tank formations to break thru, supported by heavy ships' artillery and strong air force formations, were repelled.

"German and Italian air force formations fought the transport fleet of the enemy by day and night in waters off Sicily with much success."

BRITAIN LOWERS ITS LIQUID MILK RATION ON AUG. 1

LONDON, July 20 [Tuesday] (AP).—The weekly liquid milk ration will be reduced from three to two and one-half pints beginning Aug. 1, the ministry of food announced today.

The reduction comes earlier than last year and, the ministry said, was designed to meet special demands for manufactured milk products from the fighting services.

Supplies of dried milk will be available during the winter to supplement liquid supplies for domestic consumption. The allowances for priority consumers, including children and expectant mothers, will not be cut.

Fire Causing Heavy Loss Reported in Rouen

LONDON, July 19 (AP).—The Paris radio, in a broadcast recorded by Reuters, reported today that a great fire was raging in the French city of Rouen and damage already ran into millions of francs. It did not give the cause of the fire.

HOTEL MEN HIT ARMY OPERATION IN ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N. J., July 19 [Special].—Atlantic City hotel men who have not yet surrendered quit claims for army use of their boardwalk and other choice hotels today refuted the so-called "army side" of the controversy.

The criticism was directed against the published statement Saturday by Joseph C. Goldsborough, project manager, north Atlantic division, corps of engineers, who termed the returned hotels "in better condition, in many respects, than when they were taken over."

Bennett E. Tousley, manager of the Hotel Ambassador, charged Goldsborough with "not having his facts straight." He said "walls and floors were scrubbed beyond reason until all paint was removed," and "hotel furniture just completely disappeared in some cases."

John C. Woulfe, owner-operator of the Knights of Columbus hotel, termed methods used in hotel negotiations "far from ethical" and charged Goldsborough with "hiding behind leases obtained by false oral commitments."

Answers to Your Questions About the Shortage of Whiskey

YOU: First off, why is there a shortage?

US: Because not a single drop of whiskey is being distilled in America today. The entire industry is devoted 100% to making war alcohol for Uncle Sam. And no one knows when the production of whiskey can be resumed.

YOU: But how about prewar whiskey stocks? Haven't you quite a bit set aside?

US: Yes, but we're trying to apportion our stocks not only so that they'll last for the duration, but so that after the war there'll be at least a reasonable supply of old, mellow whiskies for you to enjoy until the whiskies we start making then have a chance to mature.

YOU: So I suppose that's why I can't get my favorite Frankfort brand every time I ask for it at bars and package stores?

US: Exactly. And believe us, we're sincerely sorry. We're doing our level best to allot our reserves as fairly as we know how—so everyone will get a fair share.

YOU: Have you raised the price of your whiskies because of the shortage?

US: No. We are still offering the same brands at the same prices. There has been no price increase except for Government taxes. And, incidentally, the sum total of taxes for the entire distilling industry amount to more than one billion dollars a year to Federal and State Governments.

YOU: Well, I guess I understand the situation now. But what's the story on this "war alcohol" you spoke of?

US: That's explained in the pictures and text below. Let's take a look, shall we?

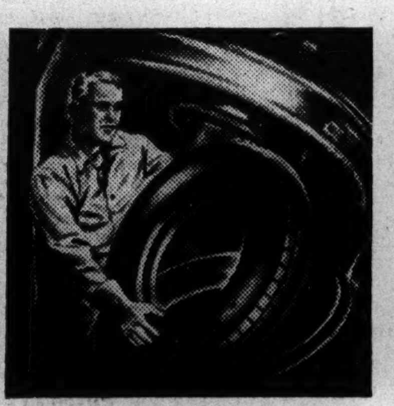
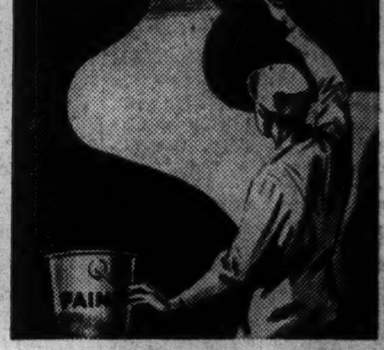
NOT ONE DROP OF WHISKEY IS BEING DISTILLED IN THE U. S. TODAY. HERE'S WHY...

Since Oct. 6, 1942, our distilleries have been devoted 100% to the production of alcohol for the U. S. Government—chiefly for making smokeless gunpowder for bombs, shells, and ammunition.



Rubber for Victory—Alcohol, produced in tremendous quantities by U. S. distillers, is used as a base for synthetic rubber for tires, gas masks, paratroop equipment, and countless other war materials.

For Saving the Lives of Americans all over the globe, vast quantities of medicines and medical supplies are needed. In their production, the alcohol provided by U. S. distillers plays a vital part.



Can Enemy Eyes Spot It? The art of camouflage has been developed to a high degree by American technicians. Alcohol forms the base for the materials used in camouflaging military equipment.

ALLIES ADVANCE ON MUNDA; MAKE GAIN IN GUINEA

Yanks Kill 179 Japs on New Georgia.

ALLIED HDQ. IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 20 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Jungle fighting, some of it hand-to-hand, cost the Japanese more than 260 dead yesterday as allied forces pressed their attacks thru the southwest Pacific battle area.

Near Munda, New Georgia, major immediate objective of the offensive launched June 30 by Gen. MacArthur, American troops made a limited advance to enlarge their beachhead at Lilio. Today's communique said 179 enemy dead were counted.

"Our losses were light," the announcement said.

Macassar Bombed.

Bombers from both the South and southwest Pacific areas not only gave powerful support to allied ground forces, but carried the fight to enemy bases far removed from the jungle battlegrounds.

A strong force of Liberators repeated their near-record flight for land based bombers to bomb Macassar on Celebes Island.

Huge fires were started, some of which were visible by pilots 80 miles away. The attack, directed at the water front, the factory area, and airdrome installations, apparently caught the Japanese by surprise because the town was well lighted when the first bombers went into action. The attack lasted five hours.

Flying Fortresses and Mitchells again hammered the Kahili and and Ballale airdromes in the Buin-Faisi area. One plane was lost in the attack, but three large fires gave evidence of the effectiveness of the raid.

Increase Plane Losses.

A final assessment of the aerial battle over Buin-Faisi July 18, when one Japanese cargo ship was sunk and two destroyers and another merchantman damaged, raised the toll of Japanese fighters destroyed to 21. Our losses were 10 planes, mostly fighters. First report had placed our losses at only four, the Japanese at 13.

Reports from the Munda area were confused as to our actual positions. The communique said only that "our ground troops have made a limited advance for the purpose of enlarging the beachhead at Lilio." Lilio is near the Japanese perimeter of defense.

Jap Positions Pounded.

Avengers and Dauntless bombers, supporting the Munda action, bombed Japanese positions north of the airdrome, starting fires among the supply dumps. Bombers spilled 28 tons of bombs on enemy positions at Bairoko on Kula gulf, while other aircraft machine gunned Japanese beach defenses.

JAPS CLAIM 77 PLANES.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Two Japanese communiques, broadcast by the Tokio radio asserted yesterday that Japanese naval air units shot down 77 allied planes in three days last week, while Japanese ground forces repulsed tank-supported thrusts near Munda.

On July 17, one communique said, Japanese naval planes engaged 167 allied planes which raided Buin and shot down 58 of them while losing nine aircraft of their own. Nothing was said about Gen. MacArthur's statement that seven Japanese ships had been sunk by U. S. bombers in the raid. Six American planes were lost, the MacArthur bulletin said.

On July 15, the Japanese said, their naval planes attacked enemy positions on Roviana Island, inflicting heavy damage and shooting down 19 allied planes. The MacArthur communique for July 15 made no mention of a Japanese attack on Roviana but announced the capture of Mubo on New Guinea and the destruction of 45 of 80 Japanese planes in Solomons air battles.

Claim Allies Circled.

In another communique the Japanese said their troops on New Georgia had circled behind an allied position and raided an allied landing point, inflicting heavy damage. The broadcast gave no date for this action, but said: "Our units are continuing operations."

"Our garrison units stationed near Munda several times repulsed enemy forces supported by tanks," the communique said, "and on July 17 cannonaded and routed an enemy torpedo boat flotilla which attempted to effect a landing."

Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo was quoted by the Berlin radio as saying in a speech calling for increased food and industrial production that Japan's armed forces are preparing to deal "more decisive blows" to her enemies.

"I am firmly convinced that we shall win the war and carry thru our big plan, the establishment of a new greater east Asia," the broadcast quoted the premier as saying.

Sight Guns on Marine Fighter

212 OFF 2 SHIPS SUNK IN PACIFIC ARRIVE IN PORT

Survivors Tell of Jap Submarine Drive.

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, May 29 [Delayed] (AP).—Two hundred and sixteen survivors of two American merchant ships torpedoed and sunk have arrived at this base port with the first eyewitness reports made here on new Japanese submarine offensive efforts against South Pacific shipping lanes.

Ship officers reported a total of 14 men are missing and believed dead and 24 men wounded in two submarine encounters.

South Pacific headquarters has acknowledged a shift by the Japanese in use of undersea boats. The enemy previously concentrated his submarines almost entirely against warships and Pacific shipping had been notably free from sub attacks.

Hint Nazi Style Sub Drive.

This week the Japanese broadcast the second report in a month on South Pacific submarine sinking claims, indicating the Nipponese are attempting to start a German style submarine campaign.

A South Pacific headquarters spokesman declared the newest Japanese claim to having sunk 13 allied ships, including five transports, from May 5 to May 24 was an exaggeration. The Japanese boast of sinking five transports is a flat lie, the spokesman asserted.

Claytone Riddle, 35, Connelly's Spring, N. C., the first officer of one of the lost merchant ships, reported that a torpedo hit his vessel at 2 a. m. when she was less than a day from her destination. The ship was helpless, but the submarine didn't fire another torpedo, Riddle said. Twelve merchant seamen and eight navy men were wounded.

12 Missing Believed Dead.

Most of the 12 men missing probably were killed, Riddle said.

Part of the crew and passengers took to lifeboats, but the ship did not sink until eight hours later. Men in the lifeboats said they saw a periscope pass back and forth in the moonlight near them. Near dawn the navy gun crew fired at what they believed to be a submarine, but the results were not observed.

Shelled by Jap Sub.

Capt. Gustav Adolf Johnson, 57, of Albany, Cal., skipper of the second ship, said his ship was hit by two torpedoes and shelled by a big Japanese submarine in the early morning moonlight.

Johnson said Second Officer John Kirken of Richmond, Cal., and eight men were on lookout but didn't see the first torpedo hit. The ship was settling slowly, but Johnson hoped to save her before the second torpedo hit 40 minutes later.

Johnson then ordered the ship abandoned and 10 minutes later the bow was standing upright in the water, but the ship wouldn't sink.

The submarine then surfaced and shelled the ship's bow with deck guns. The submarine circled, continuing the shelling, and then stopped dead within 100 yards of a lifeboat. The Japanese fired the last of 25 rounds from this position into the ship and it went down.

Fortress Drops Supplies.

A two engined bomber piloted by Maj. Leroy L. Stefonowicz of Wildrose, N. D., located the survivors. A Flying Fortress then came out and dropped a radio transmitter and supplies and "everything you could think of."

Planes circled the survivors for 12 hours until a destroyer arrived, Johnson said. Two men were missing and four wounded.

FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE.

Albert F. Fort, 62 years old, 2531 Montrose avenue, was found dead yesterday, supposedly of a heart attack, in his car in the garage at the rear of his home.

U. S. PARTY GETS BEHIND JAP LINE —AND OUT AGAIN

Officer Spends Half an Hour in Foe's Camp.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN NEW GEORGIA, July 16 [Delayed].—The officer commanding the artillery in the New Georgia offensive spent 20 minutes yesterday which will live in his memory.

With his aide he went to Laiana beach to observe the effect of his artillery fire on Jap strong points, mortars and machine guns which for several days had held up the advance of the American troops. Landing on the beach, they were assigned a small patrol to lead them toward the strong points.

The party hiked 500 yards thru the bush along a dim native trail. They estimated they were still several hundred yards from the strong point when suddenly several Jap light machine guns opened up only 50 yards ahead. The officer and men were forced to sprawl flat.

The patrol leader decided to attempt to flank the machine guns and left the officer and his aide on the trail behind trees which were being chipped by bullets. A few minutes after the patrol disappeared Jap heavy machine guns opened up 100 yards to the rear on both sides of the trail.

Walk Thru Jap Lines.

They were firing on advancing American troops. The party had walked straight thru the Jap first line without the enemy knowing it.

About this time the light machine guns ahead stopped and the patrol returned, thinking the Japs had withdrawn. But the Jap gunners were only moving their weapons to vantage points on a ridge which commanded the party. When the fire was renewed, it landed right among the party and they decided to stake all on a quick break across the field of fire and back down the trail.

When the fire lessened, they jumped up and started to run. It was just 20 minutes from the time the firing began that the party reached their own advancing men and comparative safety. The artillery commander returned to headquarters swearing that next time he would know where he was going.

Blunders Into Jap Camp.

An even more hectic experience was that of Capt. Charles Tripp, a veteran New Zealand bushman. On July 12 Tripp set out to feel out enemy strong points on Laiana beach.

Penetrating half a mile thru the bush Tripp ran into a Jap machine gun and mortar next to a high ridge. He tried to return and found that a Jap party had cut in behind him. He tried to move sideways to the right and found still another force.

He attempted to bypass the machine guns ahead and ran into three Japs fixing their bayonets to rush him. He tried to fire his carbine at them, but it jammed, so he hurled it at them and ran into the bush.

For a quarter of a mile he trekked safely in the growing darkness. Then he blundered into the main Jap position, where 60 men were in bivouac. Two Japs saw him and one grabbed him by the shirt, while the other thrust his gun under the first Jap's arm and fired into Tripp's chest.

Kills Both Japs.

The bullet struck a notebook, cigaret lighter and carbine clip in his breast pocket, exploding two shells and burning Tripp's chest. The Jap bullet richocheted and slashed his left wrist. Before the Japs could fire again, Tripp drew his pistol and killed both.

Backtracking thru the bush, Tripp came in from the other side of the camp, figuring his best chance was to act like a Jap in the darkness. Then he blundered noisily thru the Jap bivouac area, watching the Japs cooking food over small fires and twice stepping on sleeping Japs.

After 30 minutes in the camp, during which American artillery shelled the area, Tripp stole out and after sneaking past the sentries, spent the night returning to our positions.

Despite the unexpected delays and frustrations encountered by the Yanks in this campaign to capture Munda, there is one important consolation. The American forces have not yet advanced into the actual Jap defense perimeter surrounding the air field.

Pounded by Artillery.

For weeks before the offensive started, this perimeter and the air field were subjected to daily heavy bombings. Since the offensive began, the area has been pounded regularly by heavy artillery and was the target for a fierce hour long shelling by the heavy guns of the naval task force the morning of July 12. It is a desolate waste of pockmarked raw ground and withered trees.

The American units may find the opposition they are meeting now, two miles from Munda point, is merely a hollow shell around the objective.

The possibility exists that the Japs have been unable to bring up new equipment and fresh troops to the battered Munda garrison from Kolombangara Island. Marine raiders and army units landed on the Kula golf beaches of New Georgia on July 5 to block the trail leading from Kolombangara to Munda. But indications are there are still trails available to the Japs.

Japs Use Old Tricks.

The army found the almost impassable jungles infested with Jap snipers and innumerable small strong points. The native trails turned out to be dim and almost imaginary breaks in the foliage walls. The difficulty of lobbing shells onto a pinpoint target deep in the bush is obvious. Also there is the danger of hitting our own troops, often only a few hundred yards away. Outnumbered and outgunned, the Japs facing us to slow down our advance are resorting to tricks they learned in Malaya and the East Indies and perfected at Guadalcanal. Nature helps them.

We are living in shallow trenches and lowslung pup tents deep in the perpetual green twilight of the jungle. During the day alternate rain and the heat of the sun transforms the camps into a natural steam bath in which the men must fight.

The nights are worse. They bring the Japs—just a few who infiltrate like snakes into our lines and wage a war of nerves against us.

Imitate Americans.

They follow a definite and unholy system. Early in the night, before the moon comes out, several settle themselves 50 feet up in trees where they are well camouflaged. Later others sneak up within a few yards of us. Then the war of nerves begins.

One Jap screams, "God! I'm stabbed!" Another yells, "Look out! Here come the Japs!" Another calls, "Hey, Joe! Put a burst from your automatic rifle over there."

With long cords they rattle the underbrush to simulate an advancing enemy. There are even reports that some of the Japs have leaped into our foxholes, knifed a man and then jumped out again, leaving the occupants battling each other in the darkness.

The purpose of these tactics is to make the men nervous and leap out of their holes so the snipers can get them. It worked better during the first few days than it does now. Today only the greenest men are unable to recognize the Jap accent in the shoutings.

Speed Up Your Payroll Accounting
—in spite of new "Withholding Plan"
Today, both office and plant must get more done with less manpower—and, usually, less experienced manpower. To this problem, there is only one answer—better use of time.
Take your new Withholding Tax payroll accounting routine, for example. To carry that extra burden, the entire payroll process must be so simplified that every clerical hour will cover more work.
And Shaw-Walker, always working to develop new office methods that "make time," has the answer ready—a payroll accounting plan that does more with less help, in less time.
▲ THIS NEW PLAN effects a tremendous saving of man-hours that war demands have made so precious.
As you write one payroll record, all figures are automatically transferred to the two or more other essential records that you now write in separate operations.
After each individual payroll entry, every record you need is complete, correct and up-to-date—ready for quarterly reports and government inspection. Rewriting of figures is entirely eliminated.
Entirely eliminated, too, are separate records for War Bonds, Social Security, Withholding Tax, employee insurance, employee hospitalization, union dues and all other ledger records of a similar nature.
Every pay day the statement you give to each employee includes:
(1) A complete record of earnings.
(2) A detailed list of deductions.
(3) A notice telling the worker the exact amount he has on deposit with you toward his next War Bond.
▲ SO SIMPLE is the "KOPI-SPOT" payroll system that any clerk can handle it. It can be adapted to any type of payroll whether you pay by check or in cash—whether you make your entries by typewriter or by hand.
▲ A COMPLETE FOLDER has been prepared, illustrating the "KOPI-SPOT" and explaining its application to various payroll methods. May we send you a copy of it?

RUSSIANS CLAIM 130 MORE TOWNS IN OREL DRIVE

Whole Red Front Ablaze, Says Berlin.

LONDON, July 20 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Russian armies pounding on a semi-circle around Orel captured 130 villages and populated places in advances from four to six miles yesterday to the north, east, and south of the great German base 200 miles south of Moscow, the soviet command announced today.

Earlier reports from Moscow had placed the Red army within 12 miles of Orel and said the soviets were wheeling up artillery within range of the city. Berlin reported the whole Russian front ablaze with Red army attacks all the way from Leningrad to the western Caucasus.

Take Rail Town.

Among the towns captured was Malo-Archangelsk, 25 miles south of Orel on the railway running to Russian held Kursk.

Another 72 German tanks and 96 planes were destroyed running the toll exacted from the Germans since their attack of July 5 was converted into a counter-attack to 3,516 tanks and 2,094 planes. These German losses were suffered Sunday.

The midnight communique, recorded by the soviet monitor from the Moscow radio, said the Germans were fighting back determinedly, mounting a dozen counterattacks Monday. All were said to have been repulsed with heavy losses.

Troops pounding down from the north achieved the greatest successes, scooping up 70 populated places, the communique said. Those pressing up from the south toward a junction with the column atop and behind Orel were said to have captured 20 populated places. A junction of these columns would pinch off the Orel salient and trap large German forces in the base.

Front Like an "S."

Other troops moving in frontally from the east were credited with seizing 40 places.

The 255 mile front from Belgorod to Sukhinichi is formed like an "S" with a German bulge in the Russian lines around Orel and with a Russian bulge pointing out from Kursk. It was in the Kursk area where the battle was joined July 5.

The communique said only patrol activities were reported from the Belgorod area at the extreme southern end of the front. It was near Belgorod that the Germans achieved some penetration early in the month but were unable to exploit it.

4 Major Attacks: Berlin.

Berlin broadcasts said the Red army was lashing out with powerful tank and artillery forces under artillery and air preparation in four entire sections:

1. The north flank of the 75 mile front, from Volkhov to Leningrad where, it was claimed, the onslaught was repelled in bitter fighting.
2. The new Demidof-Velizh sector, 40 miles northwest of Smolensk where, it was intimated, no Russian gains have been scored yet.

SHOW COMPARES WEAPONS; YANKS HAVE BEST ONES

The small arms equipment of the American soldier will shoot faster, farther, and harder than any comparable weapons possessed by the enemy, and the army displays proof of this claim in the ordnance show in Tribune Square.

Rifles, pistols, and machine guns captured from hostile troops may be compared with American arms by visitors inspecting the exhibits in the Tribune Public Service office in Tribune Tower.

The enemy guns were lent to the show by the Aberdeen proving grounds, and the display is unique. An ordnance officer yesterday pointed to German, Italian, and Japanese rifles to illustrate how they are excelled by American counterparts.

The American small arms exhibited include automatic pistols as light as the 2.44 pound Colt; the Thompson submachine gun, a revised tommy gun that has become standard equipment for parachute troops, and the new Briefcase submachine gun M3. The Briefcase, so nicknamed because it can fit into one, packs 30 rounds of ammunition and can fire them at a rate of 450 a minute. It is the army's newest small arms weapon.

WILLIAM GREEN ISSUES WARNING ON WAGE BOOSTS

Detroit, Mich., July 19 (AP).—Asserting "America has failed to hold the line against inflation," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today that unless prices of food are brought down to a reasonable level organized labor "will have no other recourse but to demand wage increases."

Green spoke before the convention of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes. After reviewing progress on the war fronts and labor's contribution to war production, he said "there has been an almost complete lack of appreciation in our country of the corresponding need of keeping America's soldiers of production in topnotch condition."

"Our domestic war economy has not been geared to the need of protecting the workers against the hazards of inflation and its concomitant evils," he said. "This situation is becoming more and more serious each day."

FORTRESS CREW OF NINE SAVED FROM NORTH SEA

'Snowball' Forced Down After Raiding Nazis.

A SEA-AIR RESCUE BASE IN BRITAIN, July 19 (AP).—With nine crewmen of the Flying Fortress Snowball safe below and nine watersoaked suits of G. I. underwear, socks, and uniforms flapping from topside clotheslines, two British rescue launches put into this port today after pulling the surviving airmen from the North sea.

Lt. Wm. E. Peters.

The Snowball crew was picked up within an hour and a half after ditching its bomber on the way home from Saturday's Fortress raid on northwest Germany. For most of the crew it was the 13th operation in the Snowball, which was forced down in a battle with 25 German fighters.

One of their dinghies was shot full of holes and wouldn't inflate, said Lt. Joseph P. Shames of De Kalb, Ill., the Fortress' borbardier.

The Time Goes Fast.

"But we hitched onto the other dinghy and we all managed on one and a half dinghies," he added.

The time between hitting the water and getting rescued went fast, explained Lt. E. H. Eastlund of Tustin, Mich., the co-pilot, because they were occupied with trying to pump up the damaged dinghy and tying it up with the other.

Staff Sergeants Robert F. Martin of Velasco, Tex., radio operator, and Arturo Chacon of Del Rio, Tex., said they never saw anything as beautiful as those blue-white rescue boats.

They were all in the water such a short time that five of them found their wrist watches still keeping time.

Three Engines Out.

"Three of the Snowball's engines were knocked out and both wings were damaged," said Tech. Sgt. Thomas B. Dye of Steubenville, O., ball turret gunner.

"There wasn't a piece of that ship that was not hit," added Staff Sgt. Willard Hunter of Bloomfield, Ill.

P-38s WIPE OUT AXIS FLIGHT OF 15 AIR TRANSPORTS

Meet Foe While on Rescue Hop; 6 Yanks Saved.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 19 (AP).—A squadron of American Lightning fighters sped out over the Tyrrhenian sea yesterday to assist in the rescue of an American bomber crew and remained to wipe out an entire formation of German Junkers-52 transport planes apparently carrying troops and supplies to Sicily.

The P-38s were escorting a group of R. A. F. Sunderland flying boats on a hunt for six members of an American Marauder crew who crash-landed in the sea 30 miles off the Italian coast while returning from Saturday's raid on Naples.

One of the flying boats sighted the six flyers and rescued them after they had floated in a two-man dinghy for 18 hours. Then the Lightnings went back to search for other crews.

Spot Enemy Formation.

Instead of finding wrecked airmen they spotted the formation of JU-52s between Sardinia and the island of Ustica and in a matter of minutes they sent all 15 of them crashing into the sea.

The spectacular destruction of the troop-carrying transports was similar to aerial battles off Cape Bon, Tunisia, last May when allied fighters shot down as many as 80 of the big German ships at one time.

Lt. Morris Thomason, pilot of the stricken American bomber, told of the mishap on the Naples raid and the rescue of himself and his crew. He said anti-aircraft fire knocked out the right engine over Naples. It caught fire and the plane immediately began dropping 1,000 feet a minute.

Rescuers Drop Life Raft.

The Marauder reached the sea under the protection of another B-26 which braved the heaviest flak [anti-aircraft fire] to cover the falling plane. Thomason crash-landed neatly in the water and the bomber sank within 45 seconds but the six crewmen were safely away by that time.

Flight Officer L. H. Tarrington, Houston, Tex., of the second Marauder, radioed the location to the air-sea rescue service and dropped a life raft.

"The British boys did a wonderful job of finding the tiny spot in the sea where we were," Thomason said. "Three or our crew were injured when we hit the water but we managed to drag everybody on the dinghy.

"During the night a British aircraft circled, dropping flares, but a Junkers-88 came along and spoiled things. We were plenty glad to see the Sunderland come over the next day."

ENGINEERS TURN OVER AIR BASE TO ARMY; FINISHED IT IN 89 DAYS

LONDON, July 19 (AP).—United States army engineers turned over another bomber base to the 8th air force today just 89 days after they started the job of clearing the land and laying out the runways. It was the third field completed in two months.

Brig. Gen. C. R. Moore of Harrisonburg, Va., chief engineer for the European theater of operations of the United States army, presented the base to Brig. Gen. Robert C. Candee of Hinsdale, Ill., chief of the 8th air force support command.

The aviation engineer unit, which did the job, was commanded by Lt. Col. Paul C. Brown of Chabot Court, Oakland, Calif.

Mister, you could park ol' DOBBIN right in front of our door ....about thirty years ago

That's when the auto ads read "this car will take you to your destination—nine times out of ten"..... and some of our more conservative friends preferred the slower safety of a horse and buggy, which they'd park in front with the early Fords and Ramblers.

Randolph Street has changed a lot since then. New theaters and stores..... and Old King Joy's is gone..... but our place is where it always was ..... and friends of ours who came in horse and buggy—or Rambler or Electric—some of them will still be coming here for lunch today.....

The Fury of a Patient Man

This man is matching the quartz crystals used in Bendix* Aircraft Radio. He has sets of them, like square diamonds in a jewel box. He lifts them with a plastic tool, so they will not be affected by cold steel or warm fingers. For to make each respond at its fixed radio frequency, he must polish it down within millionths of an inch.

That takes patience. But it has well been said... "beware the fury of a patient man." In his department, more than half have sons or brothers at the front... many of them aloft with bomber crews. They know that certain numbered crystals will be selected for each flight... inserted secretly in the transmitters, at the last moment before taking off ...identical throughout the squadron and at the base. They know that upon the matching of these crystals depends the private line nobody can tap. So they work with deadly accuracy.

With the same grim intensity, the research engineers of Bendix fight their remote war... forging new weapons . . . including further applications of Radar. And there is no pause in their battle. Many of their victories mark permanent advances for the future... but that is not now their purpose. The enemy is unrelenting, too. And the stakes are precious lives.

One advantage of our side is the bitter wrath of men forced to leave their quest for the better life, to turn their talents to destruction. It spurs on the engineers of Bendix, and all the many thousand workers in 25 Bendix plants...to get the unwanted job done quickly, thoroughly. But the enemy now feels the full fury of patient men.

WMC RETREATS; TO RELAX JOB FREEZING EDICT

'Going Wage' Shifts to Be Permitted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—The war man power commission job freezing order will be relaxed next week to permit many workers now frozen in their jobs to transfer to other jobs for higher pay, it was learned today.

A WMC spokesman said the revision will permit workers who are paid less than prevailing wage rates in their present jobs to transfer to other jobs which pay prevailing rates.

The relaxation was confirmed by Paul V. McNutt, WMC chairman, at his press conference, but he declined to discuss specific changes, which were disclosed by other WMC officials. McNutt said the amended order will be issued next Monday.

Order Restricts Shifts.

The job stabilization, or freeze, order was issued April 17 and prohibits workers in war work or essential civilian activities from transferring to other jobs for higher pay unless they obtain certificates of release from their old employers or from the WMC. At present such releases are granted only if the worker is laid off for seven days or more, is discharged, or can show that he will be used to a higher skill in the new job.

As amended, the order will authorize such releases, in addition, for workers receiving less than the prevailing rate and wishing to transfer to the same type of job under another employer who pays the going rate.

"Going wage" rates for various types of jobs are being established by the national war labor board and these rates will be used as a yardstick by the WMC, officials said.

Relaxation Marks Retreat.

The prospective amendment was interpreted as an admission by McNutt and his staff that the job freezing order restricted too drastically a worker's right to move to a new job when his pay was below the community norm for the work he was doing.

At his conference McNutt also revived discussion of national service legislation by remarking he was ready to submit a draft of such a bill to congress "if and when the administration deems it is necessary." Such an act would give the government power to order any man or woman to take a specific job.

Last fall McNutt said such legislation probably would be needed, but later revised his view by saying it should be used only after all other methods had been tried. Without committing himself to the need at this time, McNutt said the WMC "has the machinery, if the need should arise."

BEATEN PASTOR LAYS KIDNAPING TO 7 SOLDIERS

One Admits Charges as 6 Go on Trial.

Camden, N. J., July 19 (AP).—An Atlantic City clergyman told a United States District court jury today he was abducted by seven soldiers at the shore resort last May and beaten "so badly with flashlights and revolver butts that I lost seven teeth."

One of the soldiers pleaded guilty as they went on trial, charged with abducting and robbing the Rev. Wilmot Green, Negro evangelist, of $314 after allegedly escaping from an army guard house.

Changed to Civilian Clothes.

The clergyman testified four soldiers entered his car as he was parked on an Atlantic City street the night of May 16, threw him into the back seat, picked up three more soldiers, and then drove to Reading, Pa., after stopping at the home of one of the men [Pvt. Robert H. Steinberg, 19 years old, in Sicklerville, N. J.] to change into civilian clothes.

Sentence was deferred on the man who pleaded guilty, Aaron Salyer, 19 years old, of Carver, Ky., and Charles A. Stanziale, assistant United States district attorney, indicated Salyer would be a government witness.

The group abandoned the the car at Reading, the clergyman said, leaving him tied up on the floor. After half an hour he managed to open a door and roll out.

Not to Ask Death.

In his opening address, Stanziale said he did not believe he would ask the death penalty, the maximum under the Lindbergh law in cases where the victim suffers bodily harm.

In addition to Steimling, those on trial are Privates Harry de Lettre, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Joseph Snedecker, 22, of Plainfield, N. J., named by Stanziale as ringleaders; Peter H. Maher, 19, of Jersey City, N. J.; Grover T. Young, 19, of Toledo, O., and Finish Chatham Jr., 20, of Livermore, Ky.

REPORTS PURSE STOLEN.

A Negro snatched her purse containing $2.50 yesterday morning while she was walking near her home, Gertrude Urden of 6042 Harper avenue reported to police.

Pacemaker Henry J. Kaiser with a 14-foot model of one of his famous Liberty ships

"Will it be Jobs or Apples, Mr. Kaiser ?"

"I hope that you are one of those who'll see to it that none of us will be selling apples on the street when this war is won," the young soldier said to Henry Kaiser.

WHAT BETTER ANSWER than Mr. Kaiser's inspiring words to the graduating class of Washington State College . . .

"Our tools and machines are wearing out; our substance is being consumed; our transportation system creaks and groans; our highways are inadequte; our people lack safe and comfortable housing, perhaps by millions of units. There is demand enough in sight to keep every productive force in America working to capacity for 25 years."

May we shake your hand on that, Mr. Kaiser.

The building of the new America is going to be done by courageous, venturesome men. Men who are "self-starters."

The job is going to be done by lots of men in lots of ways . . . some great, some seemingly small. By the man who pours a concrete ship in three days. By the man who designs a portable radio to fit your hip pocket. By the man who discovers a way to simplify so prosaic a product as a door lock.

The job is going to be done by men quick to visualize all that these new developments portend . . . to adapt them to other products and businesses . . . for more jobs and better living for more people. Men whose vision and enthusiasm will make them missionaries for the new.

And where do you find such men?

This news-picture magazine of science and industry, POPULAR SCIENCE Monthly, serves 700,000 of them. Some are presidents. Some are engineers. Some are electric welders. One of them may be Henry Kaiser.

Their common denominator is not title, nor income, nor any of the conventional yardsticks. It is a state of mind. Whether they're established leaders, or young men on-the-way-up, they have a mental-mechanical-inquisitiveness that makes them want to know how things work.

They're tomorrow's pacemakers . . . and if you, your product, or your company plan on having a part in that tomorrow, we recommend you start talking to them today.

WORLD NEW DEAL COMMENDED TO WILLKIE GROUP

Isolationism Is Dead, Easterners Told.

BY ROY GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 19.—Mayo Shattuck, president of the Massachusetts Bar association, who sounded the keynote address at the eastern regional conference of the unofficial Republican Post-war Policy association here today, told 300 delegates attending the gathering that "the New Deal is a hopeless mess from the standpoint of domestic policy."

But to this he added, in addressing the proceedings largely dominated by the supporters of Wendell L. Willkie, that if the voters of the country must choose between the New Deal and "a return to narrow isolationism—if they have to make the choice—they will make what is to me the intelligent choice—they will choose the New Deal."

Recalls Empty Promises.

He told his listeners that "isolationism is dead, that there are no more isolationists," and in recalling the promises of international coöperation made during the Warren G. Harding campaign in 1920, said they had not been fulfilled.

"We must be on guard," he continued, "that the Hardings of today do not fool the people with sugar-coated lip service and thereby scuttle our second opportunity to prevent a future world war."

The meeting, regarded as the most determined drive seen to date to force the Republican party into an internationalist plan of world collaboration, took off the kid gloves of diplomacy and in a welter of words roundly applauded by Willkie's followers, conjured up the prospect of a fourth term for Roosevelt, unless the Republicans drop what was described as "narrow nationalism."

Urges Broad Leaders.

Shattuck told his listeners that "if you will show the people of the United States that it does not have to see another gang of inward-turning, isolationist stuffed shirts," but will get from the Republicans a broad leadership in international affairs, the Republican party will be returned to power in 1944.

"The failure to do so, if it is a failure, may mean the end of our party, and even the end of our republic as we have known it," he said.

Deneen Watson, Chicago attorney, who presided at the meeting urged Republicans "not to let our dislike of Mr. Roosevelt's policies blind us as we approach the question of international coöperation."

A Challenge to Spangler.

At Watson's request, the unofficial group authorized him to call on Harrison Spangler, Republican national chairman, and demand action by Spangler's official Republican Post-War Policy committee on the platform adopted today.

The group present today included organization Republicans from Connecticut and Vermont, and a leavening of leading Republicans from most of the eastern states.

Sen. Warren R. Austin of Vermont urged "firm retributive justice" for war criminals, occupation of axis lands with forces to carry out the security program, and denounced the Republican nationalist revival group of Chicago as "a menace to peace," after stating that "unconditioned nationalism is a cause of war."

Into his prepared address on the subject of lend-lease, Austin interpolated the remark that "Let us not assume that lend-lease will expire with the end of hostilities." He said all our acts at the end of the war must be directed toward national "inter-dependence."

Points in Platform.

The platform drawn up by a committee consisting of two delegates from each state included these points:

"The united nations must remain united if we are to secure international collaboration to prevent the recurrence of future wars.

"We must plan now for the establishment of an organization of nations to assume full responsibility in maintaining world peace.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

A. D. L. writes: "I have a brother who has been a German prisoner since February, and we received a letter from him in May. I am wondering if you have information on how often the prisoners are able to write."

ANSWER: It is my understanding that there are no limitations on the number of letters which we may send to American soldiers who have been taken prisoners of war by Germany, but that such prisoners are permitted to write only two letters and two postcards a month.

Mrs. J. B. writes: "My husband is in the army. He was previously stationed in New Mexico, where we had our home. At that time, I applied for the maternity care provided thru the state health department for wives of service men. My application had been approved. However, my husband was transferred to Illinois, and I came here with him. He has now been sent overseas. I expect the baby next month and have been informed that because I am no longer a resident of that state, maternity care will not be provided as a result of my application in New Mexico. I have been told that in this state applications must be made at an earlier date. Can you suggest what I can do?"

ANSWER: If you will contact the Army Emergency Relief society, Room 1109, 20 North Wacker drive, that agency will assist you in applying for the help you need thru this state, or will provide you with other necessary help. It is always advisable that applications for maternity care be made as early as possible, but I believe that in your case some satisfactory arrangement can be made. This department will supply information concerning regulations of this state with regard to making applications for such care. Interested readers may obtain the bulletin by sending in a stamped, addressed envelope.

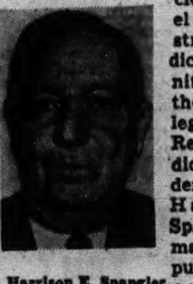
Mrs. K. R. S. writes: "I hope you can answer a question which has been bothering me. My son has been in service for 3½ months and to date has received no pay. He has been transferred frequently, but he was at his last station for a period of 8 weeks. Other boys who left home with him have been paid. I am greatly worried about it and have sent him a little money, but I am unable to do much, since I earn only a small salary and have all I can do to keep out of debt."

ANSWER: There is sometimes a delay in the payment of men who are frequently transferred. Your son eventually will receive any money to which he is entitled. Meanwhile, there is no reason why he may not go to the Army Emergency relief officer at his present station. If the circumstances are as stated, your son can obtain a temporary loan from that officer for the purpose of providing for essential needs. He can repay the money when he receives his salary. It should not be necessary for him to ask you for money.

SPANGLER FINDS TREND INDICATES G.O.P. PRESIDENT

Revolt Against Roosevelt More Pronounced.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Harrison E. Spangler.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—The trend of popular sentiment, disclosed by local elections and straw votes, indicate a "definite majority in the electoral college" for the Republican candidate for President next year, Harrison E. Spangler, chairman of the Republican national committee, stated today.

After detailing Republican gains over 1940 and 1942 as shown by numerous tests Mr. Spangler said that within the last six weeks "the revolt against the New Deal and Mr. Roosevelt has become more pronounced."

During this time, he went on, the confusion and incompetence in the administrative branch of the government has become more glaringly apparent.

Cites Figures as Basis.

"Bitter quarrels and violent differences of opinion among the New Deal higher-ups indicate an almost entire lack of White House leadership and administration in Washington," he said. "The calculations we have made take no account of the confusion and chaos into which the country has been plunged domestically with the New Deal imposing its social experiments and fourth term ambitions onto the war effort."

Turning to the figures which he said "give adequate basis for belief in Republican victory in the Presidential and congressional elections next year," Mr. Spangler remarked that "while some of the southern states present a fertile field for Republican gains," he would confine his analysis to the 38 northern states with 416 out of the 531 electoral votes. In these states, in 1940 Roosevelt polled 52.7 per cent of the popular vote, Willkie 47.3 per cent. The combined vote for Republican congressmen was 50.3 per cent, Democratic congressmen 49.7 per cent.

In 1942, the Republicans gained 9 senators, 44 congressmen, and 5 governors. The combined vote for Republican congressmen was 53.9 per cent, Democratic congressmen 46.1 per cent, Republican governors 57.7 per cent, Democratic governors 42.3 per cent. Translated into electoral college votes this was 344 Republican, 72 Democratic.

Cites Gallup Poll.

As emphasizing the Republican trend, Mr. Spangler cited the Chicago mayoralty election last April in which the "Republican, tho defeated, made the strongest showing in years, cutting further into the New Deal majority," and the election of a Republican mayor in Baltimore for the first time in 16 years.

Citing the Gallup poll, which, he said, while "not always accurate has erred largely on the side of the New Deal" as in 1942 when it forecast a gain of only 12 Republican congressmen, Mr. Spangler called attention to its report that the Republicans had gained 3 per cent in the labor and 5 per cent in the farm constituencies, which would mean a gain of 630,000 labor, 700,000 farmer votes. This shift, said the chairman, would transform the Roosevelt majority of 2,449,752 in the 38 northern states in 1940 into a Republican majority of 210,248.

MRS. DOROTHY GRAY.

Troubles came double for Mrs. Dorothy Gray, 29 years old, 8144 South Saginaw avenue, she alleged yesterday in her hearing before Judge John C. Lewe in the Superior court for maintenance from her husband, Max, 31, a purchasing agent. Her pending bill for separate maintenance charges Max with associating with other women. The Grays have two children, Dennis, 4 years old, and Ralph, 2.

"My client tells me she has trailed her husband on several occasions," said her attorney, Norman Becker. "She sees him with not one but two other women, one on each arm." Judge Lewe suggested the man power shortage may be to blame.

The judge granted Mrs. Gray $25 a week temporary support money in spite of the plea of Gray's attorney, Ald. Nicholas J. Bohling [7th], who said Mrs. Gray brought her action on insufficient grounds. Gray has a cross bill for divorse pending, charging cruelty.

REGIMENTATION MUST END WITH WAR, U.S. WARNED

Legion Commander Tells Lend-Lease Blunders.

Roane Waring.

Precautions should be taken now to insure post-war return of those fundamental rights and democratic principles the American people have voluntarily relinquished to help win the war, Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, told members of the Executives' club of Chicago, meeting yesterday in Hotel Sherman. Sherman.

"We have surrendered many of our rights in time of war," he said. "We have submitted to restrictions and even to regimentation. All these are accepted as necessary to win the war. But we must bear in mind that these sacrifices are temporary and see that they are returned to us when the emergency is over."

Tells Lend-Lease Blunders.

Altho American soldiers encounter scores of Arabs standing along the roads of North Africa, offering eggs for sale, immense quantities of powdered eggs have been shipped from the United States to that area, Waring said. Equally useless to the native population of North Africa are the large quantities of tooth paste, toilet articles, hair oil, and other products never before used by the Arabs that are being shipped there under lend-lease.

Food is plentiful in North Africa, said Waring, who recently returned from an inspection of that region. The Arab, who has been exploited for 2,000 years, has learned by experience, he said, and the Germans got little of his chickens, cows, sheep, and other live stock.

He said the manner in which Gen. Dwight E. Eisenhower handled the diplomatic situation of conflicting French factions in North Africa stamped him as an administrator of the highest order. By this achievement, Waring asserted, the American general saved the use of more than 200,000 American soldiers who would have been needed to patrol the area had the civil authorities been removed in wholesale numbers.

Blames War on 'Burocrats.'

In introducing the speaker, Chauncey McCormick, vice president of the club, said the present war was chiefly caused by the "burocrats who wrote the treaty of Versailles after the last war."

"It was a glorious field day for assistant secretaries of this and that who considered themselves great strategists because they fought the war in Washington from swivel chairs in which they spun around and around until they were dizzy," McCormick declared.

RADIO WORKER WINNER OF 12TH TRIBUNE AWARD

Triples Production of Device for Planes.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON:

Richard Najarian, who devised a way to increase production of a vital electronic device used in America's war planes, is the winner of The Chicago Tribune War Workers Award for June. An employe of the Zenith Radio corporatino, he is the 12th worker in a Chicago area war plant to win the distinction.

Lt. Comdr. William C. Eddy, United States navy, will present the award, symbolized by a diamond studded gold pin, during a broadcast over radio station W-G-N at 7 o'clock tonight. Eddy is in charge of the navy's training program for radio and radar technicians, with headquarters at 190 North State street.

Award Established Year Ago.

The radio ceremony will mark the first anniversary of the establishment of The Tribune award in July, 1942. Previous winners of the award will attend the broadcast and later a dinner at the Medinah club. They also are to pay a visit to the war show at Tribune Tower. Other guests at the dinner will include winners of The Tribune's Woman War Workers Award.

The 11 previous winners are: George Dabbert, Goss Printing Press company; Kenneth Hope, Belden Manufacturing company; George J. Fantozzi, Buick aviation engine division of General Motors; Philip Limardi, Illinois Central; Nicholas E. Whitney, Elwood ordnance plant; Mrs. Hazel Rochel, Rock-Ola Manufacturing corporation; John Hennessy, George D. Roper corporation, Rockford; N. J. Bardell, Mid-West Forging and Manufacturing company; Donald Cameron, Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company; Thomas M. Lyons, Gallaher & Specks, Inc., and Anthony Minarik Jr., Mills Novelty company.

The women award guests will include: Mrs. Catherine Vacula, Hurley Machine company; Miss Minnie Otto, Belden Manufacturing company, and Mrs. Mary A. Mowrey, the Bastian-Blessing company.

Nature of Device a Secret.

The nature of the electronic device on which Najarian worked may not be disclosed for war reasons. However, certain facts as to his achievement may be told. At one phase of the manufacturing operation on the electronic device, soldering was required at a number of places. Under the old method four girls could produce only 50 units a day, doing the soldering by hand with a heating iron.

Najarian conceived a way to use spot welders to heat with electricity the parts to be soldered. The solder melts when it comes in contact with the electrically heated parts. A machine now does the soldering.

The new method enabled Zenith to increase production from 50 to 150 units a day, using two girls as a team instead of four. Savings thru the new process amount to 23,631 hours a month, or a saving of 2,954 eight hour working days a month.

American of Armenian Parentage.

Najarian was born 38 years ago in Providence, R. I., of Armenian parentage. He is a high school graduate. He came to Chicago in 1930 and has been with Zenith since 1936. His first job was supervising girls on Zenith's radio assembly line. He lives at 5143 North Oak Park avenue with his wife, Mary, and his sons, Dick, 11, and George, 5.

"My winning the award makes me appreciate more than ever the opportunity enjoyed by all races and creeds in our country," said Najarian.

The Tribune award is made monthly to workers in war plants in Illinois, Lake county, Ind., and Kenosha and Racine counties, Wis. Selection of the winner is made by a committee headed by Henry T. Heald, president of the Illinois Institute of Technology and including Charles M. Thompson, dean of the school of commerce, University of Illinois, and James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of Illinois Manufacturers association.

COUPLE ADMITS BEATING SON, 3; FINED $200 EACH

George Stewart and his wife, Cecelia of 2222 Orchard street, were fined a total of $400 in Domestic Relations court yesterday for beating their son, George Jr., 3 years old, Saturday night. Judge Justin McCarthy continued a motion for probation until July 30 after fining the parents $100 apiece on each of two counts, cruelty to a child and contributing to a child's dependency.

Mrs. Stewart admitted hitting George Jr. with a pancake turner and her husband said he struck the boy with his hand, but both denied the blows were severe enough to cause bruises shown to the court in a police photograph. Custody of George Jr., now in St. Vincent's orphanage, will be determined by juvenile authorities.

Laurence Kranz, 37, of 936 North Butrick street, Waukegan, an unemployed painter, was held in $2,000 bond by Waukegan Police Magistrate Clarence Brown after he was accused by Police Lt. William Blaylock of beating his son, Wayne, with a horsewhip. Kranz, who was arrested Saturday, was charged with endangering the life and health of a child after doctors at the detention home, where Wayne was taken, said they found four deep welts on the boy's back, one on his stomach and one on each arm.

ALP RIGHT WING FEARS RED PLOT TO SEIZE PARTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

George S. Counts.

The two officials, who head a right wing protective committee within the ALP ranks, link Earl Browder, Communist chief, and Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, N. J., with Marcantonio in what they call "the Browder-Hague-Marcantonio front." This movement, Counts and Rose charge, has for its common goal the "destruction of the liberal political movement in New York state and New Jersey."

First Campaign Attack.

The accusation is the first direct attack of the campaign by party leaders on Marcantonio, who heads the ALP left wing flank and frequently has been referred to as "the darling of New York's Reds."

The state leaders, in amplifying their charges, claim that recently announced Communist support of Hague in the name of "unity" behind the President, in reality "is a maneuver to flank Roosevelt with the Communists on one side and Hague on the other."

Cite Daily Worker Item.

Supporting their charge that Communists are seeking to take over the ALP next month, Counts and Rose say the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, on July 15 declared: "There is not the slightest reason why Communists should not enroll in the labor party."

"These tactics," they declare, "will delight all anti-New Dealers thruout the nation for it is a two pronged drive to undermine President Roosevelt's influence with the American people, who are opposed with equal conviction to Hague bossism and Communist philosophy."

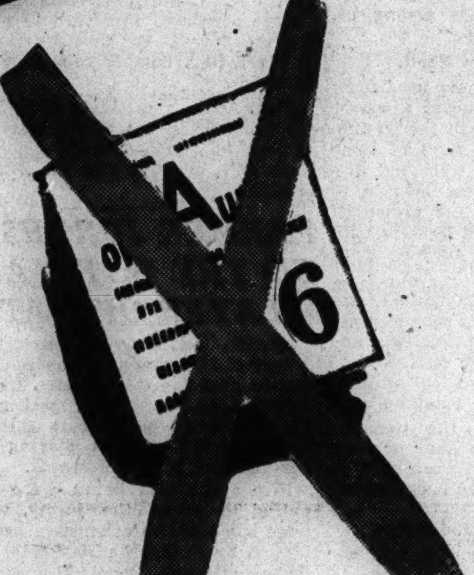
No. 6 Gasoline Coupons Expire July 21st



...time to change your motor oil, too!

RATIONED driving doesn't mean rationed car care! It means you should be more careful than ever—especially when it comes to changing your oil! And here's why:

The finest motor oil is exposed to impurities, dust, abrasives and other contaminants carried through the air. And though your oil lies idle in the crankcase, partially burned fuel particles are constantly promoting oil deterioration.

In addition, with today's short trips at lower driving speeds, your engine does not get hot enough to "cook-off" water formed by combustion and condensation. This water accumulates in your crankcase and further contaminates your oil!

SO DON'T TAKE NEEDLESS CHANCES. YOUR NO. 6 GASOLINE COUPON EXPIRES JULY 21—THIS SAYS, TIME TO CHANGE YOUR OIL. SEE YOUR SHELL DEALER TODAY.

CITY TO PRESENT DIVERSION NEEDS TO WPB TODAY

Seek Action to Protect Water Supply.

Chicago's demand for increased diversion of lake water to protect the south side water supply will be discussed at a conference in the war production board's Washington offices today by a delegation of city officials, headed by Mayor Kelly, and WPB executives, including Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman.

Kelly, apparently confident today's parley will bring results, left by train yesterday afternoon with Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works; Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health; John Baylis, city water purification engineer; W. W. De Berard, city engineer; Horace P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer of the sanitary district, and L. M. Fisher, of the United States public health service.

Arranged by Nelson.

The conference, Kelly said, was arranged by Nelson following correspondence between Kelly and President Roosevelt and between Nelson and the President.

"I talked with Nelson about diversion in Chicago about three weeks ago," Kelly continued.

"I have hopes we'll get somewhere. At least we've got them where they are giving our water supply problem serious attention. They realize the serious danger which prevails here."

Increased Diversion Asked.

The city wants authority to increase the diversion of lake water, now limited by the United States Supreme court order to 1,500 cubic feet a second, to 5,000 cubic feet a second. This would enable the sanitary district to draw off, thru the Calumet river and the Calumet-Sag channel, much of the pollution at the south end of the lake before it can reach south side water cribs.

The diversion is being stressed at present because southerly winds are more frequent during the late summer and early fall, and accordingly the accumulated municipal and industrial sewage at the south shores of the lake is more likely to be moved toward the city's south side cribs. Last year the coliform count [measurement of human and animal waste in the water] soared far beyond safe levels during August and September.

WITNESSES DESCRIBE SCENE IN SLAYING OF RICH BAHAMAS MAN

NASSAU, Bahamas Island, July 19 (AP).—While Alfred de Marigny stroked his Van Dyke beard, witnesses described at a preliminary hearing today the scene in the bedroom where his father-in-law, Millionaire Harry Oakes, was beaten and left to die on a blazing bed.

But before there was any testimony to support the murder charge, the hearing was adjourned until next Monday at the prosecution's request.

There were indications that the investigation is continuing, and Miami police officers summoned to reinforce colonial authorities planned to remain here thruout the week to "tie up loose ends," they said.

Testimony indicated that the 68 year old Oakes made one effort to elude the attacker. But he apparently was caught in the doorway, dragged back into the room, and struck again.

GARY CHILDREN FACING 10 P. M. CURFEW AUG. 2

The Gary city council last night unanimously passed a curfew ordinance which will make it illegal for a boy or girl under 15 years old to be on the streets after 10 p. m. unless accompanied by an adult. The ordinance, which becomes effective Aug. 2, was recommended by Mayor Joseph Finerty, and the Rev. Lawrence Grotehouse of St. Mark's Catholic church, and the Rev. Kenneth Cutler of the 43d Avenue Presbyterian church, who headed a youth committee appointed by the mayor.

ASSAIL U.S. PLEA FOR REHEARING IN TREASON CASE

An answer by defense counsel filed yesterday in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which on June 29 remanded for a new trial the case of six Chicagoans convicted of treason, challenged the government's petition for a rehearing before the appellate court as without merit on several major issues.

"The aim of courts of justice is not to make prosecution and conviction easy, but to secure a fair and impartial trial to the defendant, and if justice requires a separate trial it should be granted," the answer asserted.

The defense brief was in answer to the petition of United States Atty. J. Albert Woll asking the Appellate court to review its opinion ordering retrial of Hans Max and Erna Haupt, Walter and Lucille Froehling, and Otto and Kate Wergin. The three men were sentenced to death and their wives got 25 year prison terms after their conviction on charges of aiding Herbert Haupt, who was executed as a German saboteur.

The brief was prepared and filed by Paul A. F. Warnholtz, trial lawyer, and Atty. Frederick J. Bertram.

LIGHTNING KILLS 3 WAR PRISONERS; 10 OTHERS HURT

Macon, Ga., July 19 (AP).—Three Italian prisoners of war were killed and 10 others injured today when lightning struck a tent in which they were gathered, the public relations office at the Camp Wheeler internment camp announced tonight.

The men were part of a cleaning detail, working in the Warner Robins village adjacent to the Warner Robins air depot near here.

NAZIS' MIDAIR PLANE BOMBING TERMED A 'FLOP'

Capt. Dieffenbach.

Attempts by German fighter plane pilots to break up formations of American eighth air force bombers by dropping bombs among the Fortress squadrons have proved ineffective, Capt. Albert W. Dieffenbach, bombardier veteran of 25 missions over Germany and occupied countries, reported yesterday.

Capt. Dieffenbach is visiting his parents at 849 Ridge avenue, Evanston, en route to a new assignment at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he will turn his combat experience into instruction for student bombardier officers.

Heavy Load for Fighter.

The bomb-the-bombers wrinkle is one of the luftwaffe's newest, Capt. Dieffenbach said. The Germans slung bombs beneath FW-190s, he explained.

"We would see these fighters struggling to get high enough over our B-17s to do their work," he said. "They were pretty heavily loaded, and sometimes they seemed to run out of gasoline before they could get effective altitude.

"Meanwhile, other Germans would fly along beside us and we could hear their radio advice to the bomb-fighters above so they could get our altitude accurately. Then those up above would drop their bombs, which apparently weighed around 40 or 50 pounds. The bombs were time fused to explode among us. They did little damage."

Tells of Rocket Shell.

The Germans also have used some type of gun that appears to shoot a projectile bigger than the 20 mm. cannon, or a rocket shell of some sort, but their hits were not frequent and the biggest menace to the bombers is still the prolonged attacks from standard fighters with the 20 mm. gun and machine guns, Capt. Dieffenbach said.

Yellow nosed FW-100 fighters from the Hermann Goering squadron are among the most persistent and toughest attackers, he said. Several hundred sometimes are encountered in the course of a bombing raid.

Not infrequently, the Germans would attack for an hour or more as the B-17s pressed their raid on the target and turned back to their bases.

First Raid on St. Nazaire.

Capt. Dieffenbach's first raid was on St. Nazaire, France, Nov. 18, 1942, one of the earliest of the 8th air force's excursions across the English channel.

When his total operational flights reached 25, he was taken off active list as is the customary air force practice, to be given a respite. He is 27 years old, a graduate of the University of Maryland, and volunteered as an aviation cadet in April, 1941. He was commissioned a bombardier, second lieutenant, in April, 1942, and was promoted to captain in February, 1943.

He wears the distinguished flying cross, the air medal with three oak leaf clusters, and the Purple Heart, the latter for a wound of the left hand which, he said, was not serious.

Veteran of 27 Raids Home.

Capt. Roy M. Ahalt, 25 years old, a United States army air force officer who, as a royal Canadian air force pilot in England, took part in 27 bombing raids over Nazi held territory, and his bride, Francoise Cabirol, whom he married in London, arrived yesterday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ahalt, 4808 Middaugh avenue, Downers Grove. After his transfer to United States forces he became an instructor in England.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Capt. and Mrs. R. M. Ahalt.

He received the distinguished flying cross from the British for the daring he exhibited on two operational missions on successive nights in March, 1942. In the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire he descended to low altitude in order to identify the exact target, then successfully bombed each one. Capt. Ahalt said King George presented the ward to him and that he was the first American in the British bomber command to receive it.

Capt. Ahalt, a graduate of Downers Grove High school and later a student at North Central college, Naperville, enlisted with the RCAF in 1940.

Opera Singer Buys Navy Show Tickets

Brief Visit

Lily Pons, star of the Metropolitan Opera company, and her conductor husband, Andre Kostelanetz, visited Chicago briefly yesterday between trains. Arriving from New York, they left for Milwaukee where the petite brunette will sing while her husband conducts. They will be back in Chicago soon again, tho, for later this week they have scheduled a program for the boys at Great Lakes. The diminutive Miss Pons, who was dressed in navy blue, said that she is very excited about singing for the navy men. They left from Union station.

FARMER JURORS TO TRY WIFE AS SLAYER OF MATE

Muncie, Ind., July 19 [Special].—A jury of 12 farmers was chosen today to hear the case of Mrs. Clara Edwards, 44 years old, a mother of 10, who went on trial in Circuit court for the shotgun slaying of her husband, Moyne Edwards.

Five and a half hours were required to select the jurors, who were subjected to exhaustive examination by F. Clayton Mansfield, defense attorney, and Prosecutor Ralph Rector. Submission of testimony will begin tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Edwards is accused of having shot her husband, a glass factory foreman, three times with a shotgun while he lay in bed last April 12 after a two day drinking spree.

The defense asserts fear that her husband would carry out repeated threats to kill her and the children drove Mrs. Edwards to kill him.

She was accompanied in court by her 10 children, who range from 2 to 24. One son, Jack, 18, is on furlough from his coast guard station at Freeport, Tex., to attend the trial.

WATCHMAN DIES OF INJURIES.

Iver Swanson, 51, of 433 South Sangamon street, a watchman for Sears Roebuck and company, 400 South State street, died last night in Presbyterian hospital of injuries suffered on June 15 when he fell while at work.

AURORANS GIVE $2,517 TO FAMILY OF POLICEMAN

Fellow townspeople of Police Sgt. Irvin E. Eggestein of Aurora, who drowned in the Fox river a month ago trying to save his son, Robert, 10 years old, who was rescued by others, gave practical expression of their regard for his memory yesterday.

A fund of $2,517.53, collected in a 10 day period, was turned over by a citizens' committee for the benefit of the policeman's five children, the eldest 16 years old, who were orphaned by the tragedy. Since the death of Mrs. Eggestein five years ago, the eldest child, June, has been mother to the others.

Spokesmen for the family said the money will pay off the mortgage on the Eggestein home and leave several hundred dollars toward the education of the children.

PAROLEE HELD IN $50,000 BAIL FOR AX ATTACK

Ottawa, Ill., July 19 [Special].—Neighbors turned out today to run the 240 acre farm left tenantless yesterday when its elderly owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Toftoy, were clubbed in their beds with an ax by their hired man, a 19 year old parolee from the Sheridan training school for boys, who wanted to steal the car to flee from prospective army induction.

James Howard Garrison, assailant of the couple, who was captured yesterday morning as he was fleeing from the farm on foot, was arraigned today before Justice of the Peace George T. Koenig on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He was ordered held under $50,000 bond for action by the La Salle county October grand jury.

Word that they did not have to worry about the farm was brought to Ben Toftoy, 66 years old, and his wife, Christie, 69, at Ryburn King hospital here where physicians said their condition remains critical. Both have head and body wounds and probable skull fractures.

Woman's Call Ends Hunt for Dog that Bit Child

Search by police for a woman and her Boston terrier, which bit Leslie Wyman, 20 months old, in the face Saturday night at Woodlawn and 82d streets ended yesterday when Mrs. Elsie Stone, 8137 Ingleside avenue, phoned police that she had taken the dog to a veterinarian hospital for observation. Dr. Hazel Griffith, 1180 East 63d street, the child's physician, said the child probably will have to take rabies treatments even tho the dog has been impounded. Leslie is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Wyman, 1114 East 82d street.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Ben Markland

July 19, 1943.

THE excessive rains have disrupted farm routines over much of the middle west, causing farmers to worry about crop prospects and delaying their work schedules. The ring-necked pheasants, however, are well satisfied because the weather conditions were ideal for saving the lives of their spring chicks.

The men on the Wheaton farm were talking about this subject the other day. Every spring, while they are cutting alfalfa, they see families of pheasants in the fields. These birds often nest in the fields and keep their chicks there because the tall alfalfa provides excellent cover and feeding grounds. Therefore it isn't unusual for the heavy tractor and mower to flush out many pheasant families.

Chicks Get Under Wheels.

Occasionally some of the chicks are killed or injured during the haying process, because even with a flushing bar attached to the tractor, the first crop of alfalfa often is so heavy that the birds get under the wheels.

This year, however, the spring rains kept the men out of the hay fields until about two weeks after the usual date of the first cutting. During that two weeks of grace, the pheasant chicks grew larger and stronger, so that when the machines did invade the fields the chicks were smart enough to stay out of the way. The men saw a lot of pheasant families during the haying season, and they don't know of a single chick being injured.

One of the men reports that about a dozen clutches of pheasants were flushed from one 14 acre alfalfa field and five more from a seven acre plot, so it appears that the pheasants are plentiful this season.

Pigeon Mystery Solved.

The mystery of the racing pigeon has been solved. As reported here on July 13, an exhausted racing pigeon was found on the farm on July 5. The men noticed it wore a legband, and the band number was published. Julius Johnson, a pigeon fancier of Elgin, wrote to tell us that his records showed that the bird belonged to Herman Janz of that city.

Mrs. Janz states that the bird was one of 20 which her husband released for a training flight that morning. All but this one returned home, and this is understandable as it was only its second practice flight. The bird got off its route, became exhausted, and landed on the roof of one of the farm homes. The men fed it and gave it water, believing that it would return to its base the next day, but it died the following morning.

★ The GARDEN ★

THE two insects which most commonly attack tomato plants are the flea beetle and aphids or plant lice. Flea beetles are about the size of a pinhead, black to reddish-black. They are identified by their habit of hopping from one plant to another when the leaves are shaken. They make tiny perforations in the small, tender leaves. They are most active when the plants are first put in the garden, and are not a serious menace at this time of the year.

If too abundant, they can be easily controled by a spray of two tablespoonfuls of arsenate of lead in a gallon of water. If the fruits are well formed, they should be thoroly washed after this spray has been used before they are eaten.

Aphids, or plant lice, are one-sixth of an inch long, may appear either as winged or wingless adults, and vary in color from pink to dark green. They are sucking insects which can injure but not kill a plant. A nicotine sulphate spray, available from almost every seed dealer, should be applied every three or four days to destroy them.

CHARGES ICKES EDICTS PLAY TO OILMEN'S GREED

Public Will Pay Price, Says Auto Official.

New York, July 19 [Special].—William J. Gottlieb, president of the Automobile Club of New York, one of the most outspoken critics of federal oil agencies, today charged the oil industry with using the petroleum administration for war to create an artificial gasoline shortage in order to force a price increase on crude oil "that would cost the American public billions of dollars annually."

He said the industry has the unqualified support and "blessing" of Fuel Coördinator Harold L. Ickes in this move. Now that a lack of transportation facilities no longer serves as a suitable excuse for keeping supplies out of the east, Mr. Gottlieb asserted, a new "mythical" problem has been conceived by Mr. Ickes to "continue discriminatory rationing in the eastern area."

Assails Logic of Edicts.

With thousands of additional railroad tank cars now hauling petroleum supplies from the southwest to eastern terminals and greater supplies guaranteed by newly constructed pipe lines, Gottlieb challenged the honesty of present arguments in behalf of continued administration restrictions.

"With the rubber problem taken care of and the transportation problem taken care of, a new mythical problem is being created for the purpose of getting an over-all increase in the price of crude oil, which would cost the consuming public more than $600,000,000 a year for crude oil alone," Gottlieb said.

"This figure," he added, "is based on present annual production. By the time they got down to refined petroleum products it would amount to many times this figure and would run into billions of dollars that would be drained from the consuming public. This is the unanimous demand of the petroleum industry war council and Mr. Ickes.

Opposes Price Boost.

"The lame excuse given for the demand for a 35 cent barrel increase for crude oil is that it would solve the shortage problem by stimulating 'wildcatting' and capacity production in nonprofitable fields."

Gottlieb characterized as merely "a bugaboo" in the present situation Mr. Ickes' expressed concern over the possibility of domestic wells drying up. He pointed out that 35 per cent of the crude oil refined on the east coast prior to the war was imported and that if necessity warranted it this percentage could be increased.

AHEPA SUES ITS CHICAGO LEADER FOR ACCOUNTING

The American Hellenic Educational Progressive association would like to know what happened to the $15,000 receipts from a dinner given in honor of King George II. of Greece at the Astor hotel in New York in 1942. The organization filed a suit in federal court yesterday seeking an accounting.

The suit was filed against Van A. Nomikos, 7905 Eberhart avenue, theater owner, who was supreme president of the organization, also called the Order of Ahepa, at the time of the dinner. Leo J. Amberson of South Bend, Ind., supreme counsellor of the order, alleged in the suit that $5,000 of the $15,000 was profit and that Nomikos failed to account for or pay over any of the money.

The Order of Ahepa is chartered as a nonprofit fraternal organization, with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

STATE TO SEND 4,000 DRAFTEES TO MILWAUKEE

Four thousand Illinois draftees will be inducted into the military service thru the Milwaukee, Wis., induction station in August, Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, head of the 6th service command, announced yesterday. The reason for the move is to obtain better utilization of man power in the induction station.

The Milwaukee station was geared to handle more men than present draft quotas for Wisconsin require. Hence the Milwaukee staff can process 400 men from northern Illinois counties each day and, at the same time, handle the normal Wisconsin load. Illinois men inducted in Milwaukee will be sent either to Camp Grant or to Fort Custer.

GAS RATIONING INQUIRY SLATED FOR NEXT WEEK

Ickes Plan Opposition Grows in State.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., July 19.—The Illinois oil kettle was approaching the boiling point today as a result of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' threats to reduce midwest gasoline rations.

Sen. Earle Benjamin Searcy [R., Springfield], said that an Illinois legislative investigation of gasoline rationing will be launched next week, either here or in Chicago.

Marshals Oil Facts.

"Apparently Ickes doesn't know where to stop," Searcy said. "Vigilant representatives of the people in Illinois will not let this state be trampled without knowing the reason why."

John H. Dow, national president of the American Travelers' association, comprised of 14,000 traveling business men from 30 states, conferred today with Samuel F. Peterson, state oil engineer. Dow obtained facts which he will present to Illinois congressmen led by Rep. Leslie C. Arends [R.], at a meeting in Bloomington on Wednesday.

About 150 representatives of the travelers' association will meet in Bloomington Saturday to discuss Ickes' latest statements that he means to cut down midwest gas rations.

"If Ickes and his petroleum administration for war want to help the war effort and not merely harass the public, they will act to make use of the resources now being thrown to the winds," Dow said.

Charges Dry Gas Wasted.

Dow was referring to the waste of dry methene gas in oil well operations. The state oil engineer said that by use of the Fisher hydrogenation process gasoline can be produced at a cost of 5 cents a gallon from each 1,000 cubic feet of the gas, which can be bought at 2 and 3 cents.

Peterson cited figures showing gasoline consumption of 779,655,000 gallons in April for 13 midwest states.

"If the government will finance the use of the Fisher hydrogenation process to handle 5 billion cubic feet of dry methene gas daily, all of these states could get sufficient gasoline from this source alone," Peterson said.

San Francisco, Cal., July 19 (AP).—Harry Leon Wilson, son of the late author, pleaded innocent today to a charge of failing to report for induction. Trial was set for Aug. 18. The Civil Liberties union has indicated it plans a test case for Wilson. Eighty soldiers who are to receive special training in engineering subjects arrived at Wheaton college yesterday. One hundred fifty-five more are expected today. Their quarters on the campus have been ready since last March when the army air forces canceled a program for training aviation cadets because of the lack of airport facilities near the college.

If you MUST travel
ON A MUCH NEEDED VACATION

One thing's certain . . . your trip will be quite different from the easy train travel of peace days. It can't be otherwise. For the railroads are moving two million troops a month . . . in special trains which require more than half the sleeping cars, and one-third of all the coaches in the United States.

Not only that, but the railroads must take care of four times the passenger traffic they carried four years ago . . . soldiers, sailors, marines, WACS, WAVES, traveling on week-end leaves or furloughs; businessmen and Government employees on essential war travel, as well as civilians who formerly used their automobiles.

We are doing our best with the equipment available to handle this enormous volume of passenger traffic. If you must travel on your annual vacation, please bear these facts in mind. And, to make your trip as comfortable as possible, you can help by carrying out the travel suggestions listed in the right-hand block. Your cooperation will help both to make your own trip more pleasant, and to give our boys and girls in the various services the right-of-way they deserve.

TRAVEL SUGGESTIONS FOR THOSE NEEDING A VACATION

BEGIN YOUR VACATION Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday—return any of those days.

HELP SPREAD THE VACATION PERIOD. Why not take yours in the Fall or Winter instead of the Summer months?

TAKE YOUR VACATION NEAR HOME. Spend less time traveling, "free" seats as quickly as possible.

STAY IN ONE SPOT. Use no more transportation than is necessary to reach your destination.

TAKE YOUR VACATION ALL AT ONE TIME. Don't split it. That will help conserve transportation.

TRAVEL LIGHT—TAKE ONLY ONE BAG WITH YOU. Ship ahead as baggage anything else you may need. To save your time and help prevent baggage going astray, please affix a label on both hand and checked baggage bearing name, street number and city address.

LEAVE WEEK-ENDS FOR SERVICE MEN. It's practically the only time they can get away to visit their families.

ANOTHER CAESAR BITES THE DUST.

The third Roman empire is lifeless in its swaddling clothes, the corporative state of fascism is under death sentence. Il Duce, the self-made man who, wearing the purple did not need the crown, is probably tossing coins to determine whether to return to exile in Switzerland or to take Hitler's alms in the insecure Nazi state where in the fine, blustering, delirious days he had the better swagger and Adolf had the better troops. Il Duce's jig is up and all Italy knows it.

The return to Switzerland, which might be allowed to give him asylum, would recall to Benito Mussolini the time, some 40 years ago, when he first made his way into the ken of persons who later were to help rock the world. He appeared in Lausanne among emigre Socialists and Communists. He had run away from military service in Italy. He was hungry, ragged, dirty and abject; sick, morbidly self-distrustful and full of the bitterness of a man who slept under bridges and stole food.

The Socialists befriended him. One woman made him a shirt out of a sheet. He was given odd jobs. His confidence was restored. That was the start of Il Duce's career. He became one of Europe's strange criminal group of self-made men.

The contradictions of our era are beyond belief. Revolutionary movements which had their origin in the mass of the people and elevated men from obscurity to power, turned to mass terrorism and produced Europe's most execrable war against all the people. Lenin's success seemed to make all other fantasies possible. If one man could storm citadels in the name of Marxism, another adventurer could equip himself with an assortment of economic and political concepts and do likewise.

Mussolini fortified himself by reading Nietzsche, Schopenhauer, and Stirner and learned to harangue eloquently. He rose in the Italian Socialist party and became editor of Avanti. As a Socialist he was an anti-imperialist. He opposed the Tripolitan war and advised the mothers of conscripts to throw themselves on the tracks to stop the troop trains. In the World war he changed his politics. The chauvinist appeared, the future man. Later in his turned coat he persecuted his old associates.

As dictator of Italy Mussolini tried to create two things, the corporative state as a substitute for parliamentary government, and the Fascist state of mind. His corporative state has received a lambasting from American radicals who look with approval on its New Deal simulacrum here. Our anti-Fascists notoriously have cried stop thief, and in the confusion of their own outcries have run off with the Fascist apparatus for their own use. The Italian labor charter contains the model for the Rooseveltian social gains. We can recognize the 40 hour week and the regulation of wages, insurance, vacations, assistance, supervision of collective bargaining and contracts, and the method of settling labor disputes.

The Italian labor court and the national labor relations board get out of the same bed. When the war labor board ordered John L. Lewis to sign a contract a Fascist authority was speaking. The formula that if the index cost should rise more than 8 points a "high cost of living indemnity" must be added automatically to wages is a Fascist decree that is echoed in the Little Steel rule. The NRA did not become a council of corporations but only because the Supreme court killed it as an outrageous delegation of authority.

Mr. Roosevelt doesn't call his extra-departmental governing circle the Grand Council of Fascism altho it's just that with, fortunately, the habit of blowing up in dissensions for which the chief executive has neither castor oil nor the island of Lipari as a cure. Congress would have been treated as the Italian chamber of deputies if it had not, because of recurring refreshment from the people, rescued itself from its own moribund condition. Fascism is wholly congenial to our Rooseveltians. Americans who can consistently decry it are Americans who have opposed it also here.

Ten years ago the now fading Caesar's position in Europe's international affairs was correct and his judgment was sound. He was by way of being the protector of Austria and Hungary. He gave Von Starhemberg arms to oppose the Nazi gangsters in Vienna. He saw Hitler's rise with a prophetic sense and dread of what it meant. He was not supported by nations which had more to fear and he was diverted from good sense to a miscalculation for which he is now paying.

In his dreams Mussolini began to hear the tread of legions on the Appian way. He could rebuild the empire in speeches and defy the world with bombast but he couldn't convert the Italian people into the legions of Augustus. Again he has lost his shirt. He may not need sleep under bridges but the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia is seeing the last of him.

NO FOLLOW-THRU.

The farmers of the country, thanks to the departed Joe Weiner and his affiliated nitwits in the war production board, are desperately short of machinery. Some brighter persons, in Washington or out of it, conceived the idea that the shortage might be overcome in part, so far as the wheat harvest is concerned, by bringing Canadian combine threshers to American wheat fields.

The idea was sound. The wheat harvest moves northward, starting in Texas and moving up thru Kansas and the Dakotas into Canada. The war food administration, according to W. Lee Marshall, its equipment director, made arrangements with the Canadians for reciprocal passage of harvesting equipment across the international border, without payment of the usual customs duties.

Now, Marshall says, some 150 Canadian combine units are lined up north of the border, stopped by customs inspectors. The inspectors apparently knew about the waiver of duty on agricultural machinery, but they refused to let the Canadians bring across the border the big flatbed trucks on which they haul their threshing equipment. The Canadian machinery has already missed the southern harvests and unless the mess is straightened out quickly it cannot come to the aid of wheat raisers in the Dakotas and Montana, Marshall says.

The customs authorities are probably not to blame. They do a number of stupid things, from time to time, but usually because they are enforcing stupid regulations. They are honest, if unimaginative men, and they go by the book. The fault lies in Washington. When the reciprocal agreement was made, some one failed to follow thru and see that with the threshers we also arranged to admit the trucks needed to haul them about.

Early this spring the WPB announced that 300,000 pressure cookers would be made available to groups of war gardeners, that they might can their produce. Elaborate rules were made for rationing the cookers. Manufacturers were authorized to make them. But no adequate provision was made for getting steel to the manufacturers. As a result some pressure cookers are becoming available, but many home canners in the Chicago area won't see any pressure cookers until August, after all their early crops are gone.

Again, some one failed to follow thru. That is the besetting sin of burocrats. There are too many of them who consider a thing done because they have written a letter or filed a memorandum on the subject. They don't follow thru to see that a thing is done, not merely ordered done. Private business suffers, too, from this sort of stumbling, but people who practice it don't last long in private business. They shouldn't last any longer in Washington.

THE DEMPSEY DIVORCE.

The decree in the Dempsey divorce case permits Jack to take a new wife if he feels so inclined but forbids Hannah to take a new husband until three years have passed and then only with the express permission of the court.

The restraint on Mrs. Dempsey was not the invention of a judge looking for publicity, but the savage requirement of the New York law. It reads as follows:

"Whenever a marriage has been or shall be dissolved, the complainant may marry again during the lifetime of the defendant. But a defendant for whose adultery the judgment of divorce has been granted in this state may not marry again during the lifetime of the complainant, unless the court in which the judgment of divorce was rendered shall in that respect modify such judgment, which modification shall be made only upon satisfactory proof that three years have elapsed since the decree of divorce was rendered, and that the conduct of the defendant since the dissolution of said marriage has been uniformly good; and a defendant for whose adultery the judgment of divorce has been rendered in another state or country may not marry again in this state during the lifetime of the complainant unless three years have elapsed since the rendition of such judgment and there is no legal impediment, by reason of such judgment, to such marriage in the state or country where the judgment was rendered. But this section shall not prevent the remarriage of the parties to an action for divorce."

That is to say, Hannah may not marry for three years and after that she may do so only if the court finds that since the divorce she has earned an "E" for deportment. Only Jack's death can free her from these restraints. The legislature of the supposedly enlightened state of New York has permitted this cruel statute to remain on the books and the courts of New York have sustained it as a reasonable protection of the marital status, and as a proper punishment of infidelity.

We should think that Mrs. Dempsey had been punished sufficiently by the publication of her adultery and the loss of her children to satisfy any sadist. The legislators of New York must know that their law is likely to give encouragement to illicit sexual relations after divorce. Plainly it discriminates in favor of the well-to-do and against citizens who aren't rich enough to afford the luxury of establishing residence for purposes of divorce in another jurisdiction.

The law has been defended as a means of preventing those who have shown themselves temperamentally unfit for marriage from making another spouse miserable. This could hardly have been in the minds of the legislators, because they provided that as soon as Jack dies, Hannah will be free as any other woman to remarry. If Hannah is the creature that the law says she is, it is difficult to believe that Jack's death will change her nature materially.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM.

The gentlemen of the news department never fail to tell us in parenthesis what flak and ack-ack mean; their skill in multiplying pounds sterling by 4 to give us the amount in dollars is beyond praise. Now we wish they would turn their attention to a phrase that appears frequently these days in the reports of bombing activities. The flyers frequently attack what are called marshaling yards in the dispatches from the front.

Some readers may suppose that a marshaling yard is a place where field marshals gather for secret ceremonies. It is our considered opinion that the words describe what is known in this country as a freight yard. The American expression may lack the elegant turn expected in foreign correspondence but has the great virtue of clarity.

SAILOR MAPLE'S PUZZLE.

[Tulsa Tribune.]

Somewhere out in the Pacific fighting the Japs there is a 19 year old sailor by the name of Curtis Maple from Nowata. A couple of months ago as he eagerly pushed thru the crowd at mail call he was handed a letter from his employer, the United States government. It was from the department of agriculture advising him that he owed $89.18 as a penalty for growing 182 too many bushels of wheat in 1941.

Some day soon Sailor Maple may land on a reconquered Pacific island and hear the starved natives crying piteously for food, and he will hear some commissioner from the United States rehabilitation bureau explaining that the United States can't send very much food because it is so short itself.

And Sailor Maple may tune in on a short wave broadcast and hear some high priest in the New Deal temple advocating a fourth term for the President on the grounds that the President saw the war way ahead and planned everything.

And Sailor Maple may be puzzled.

WAR AMONG THE TEMPLES.

When American troops captured the city of Agrigento in Sicily, with two Italian generals and a fat bag of rank and file, they also came into possession of the finest collection of ruined Greek temples on any single site. The place has been a happy hunting ground for classical archaeologists.

Ten temples were available for research or tourist snapshots, two of which, attributed to Hera and Concordia, have been in a fine state of preservation. The latter was fortunate because of its adaptation into a Christian cathedral, A. D. 587. The temple of Zeus, also called the Olympieum, was also among the glories of Agrigento because of its colossal dimensions [38 columns in the original plan] and its heroic figures of Atlas supporting the entablature. The other temples of which there are remains were supposedly dedicated to Demeter, Hercules, Castor and Pollux, Haephestus, Asclepius, and Pallas Athena. There is also one that scholars have left unnamed.

Agrigento was Agrigentum when it rivaled ancient Syracuse with a population of more than 200,000. It shrank into the small city of Girgenti and was so called until 1928. Most works on archaeology use the latter name.

* * *

The decline of Agrigentum in population and economic importance after the Punic wars favored the preservation of its shrines. Only two of the temple sites are covered by the modern town. Its great man of history was the tyrant Timoleon, to whom Plutarch gave a chapter in the immortal "Lives."

A TOUCH OF BROGUE.

Prim and proper as can be,
Businesslike to nth degree,
With scarcely time for word or joke,
She types all day with steady stroke!
Her main concern is work, it seems,
Yet who can know she often dreams
Of heather scent and stirring skirl
Of bagpipes; of bluebells in the lea,
And afternoons with scones and tea
Beside the hearth, while mists of rain
Press softly 'gainst the windowpane.
Her fingers tap a quickened beat
To match the sound of eager feet
Running thru the dawn-rose flush
Of May's first day to meadows lush
And fair, where legend promised grace
With youth to every dew-washed face;
And there's the reason, I surmise,
For the twinkle in her eyes,
With just a hint of charming rogue
In her faint, delightful brogue.

On the Trail of the Bixby Letter.

"One Hundred and One Famous Poems," compiled by Roy J. Cook and published by the Cable company, Chicago, states that President Lincoln's letter to Mrs. Bixby [July 7] hangs on the walls of Brasenose college, Oxford university.

John W. Elliott.

The rumor that Lincoln's letter to Mrs. Bixby was at Oxford university persisted so long that in 1908 our ambassador to England, Whitelaw Reid, secured a letter from the librarian certifying that nothing was known of the original letter at that university. However, the rumor still persists.

Two days before Lincoln penned the Bixby letter he wrote to Gen. Rosecrans on the subject of retaliation in words almost akin to poetry:

"Executive Mansion, Washington, Nov. 19, 1864.

"Maj. Gen. Rosecrans:

"A Maj. Wolf, as it seems, was under sentence in your department to be executed in retaliation for the murder of a Maj. Wilson, and I, without any particular knowledge of the facts, was induced by appeals for mercy to order the suspension of his execution till further order. Understanding that you so desire, this letter places the case again within your control, with the remark only that I wish you to do nothing merely for revenge, but that what you may do shall be solely done with reference to the security of the future.

"Yours truly, A. Lincoln."

The life of Maj. Wolf was spared. He was exchanged for a captive northern major and returned to his home in Arkansas.

THE MYSTIFIED MOLE.

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

The mole, content beneath the ground,
Yet has one question to propound.
He digs his way from place to place
And as he travels leaves a trace
For us to follow, clear and plain,
A hill or ridge on the terrain
That gardeners find hard to bear
And wish he'd dig his holes elsewhere.
But what I started out to say
Is that the mole, day after day,
Still wonders why menfolk find thrills
In making mountains of his hills.

An Italian and a German soldier, captured in Sicily, were speculating on the first thing they would do when they got home after the war.

"I'm going into a restaurant and order a washtub full of spaghetti," said the Italian.

The German soldier said, "When I get back home I'll jump on a bicycle and ride all over Germany."

"That's fine," said the Italian. "But what will you do in the afternoon?" Tottie Blackburn.

BRAIN TUMORS NO LONGER HOPELESS.

TUMORS are ruthless. They do not regard any region of the body as sacred. They will barge into the most important structures and the brain is no exception.

Fortunately, because of our present knowledge of surgical procedures, many of these swellings can be removed in toto, with restoration of health. This means that growths within the cranium are not always malignant. Many may not resemble cancer. Some are injurious only because they take up room, cause pressure, and interfere with nerve pathways.

Physicians have a right to complain that many of these sufferers visit them quite too late—after the onset of paralysis, for example, or loss of vision. It would be wonderful if every one who observed an abnormality would investigate at once. True enough, when a convulsion appears, the doctor is summoned. But the chances are that, during the months that have passed, enough symptoms have occurred to warrant analysis. A staggering gait, persistent pain, increasing clumsiness in the use of the hands should call for a logical explanation.

Mental changes do not arise without a definite cause. If the victim—from a cheerful, quick witted, active person becomes dull, morose, and sluggish—X-ray studies of the cranium are certainly in order. Again, whenever a staid, phlegmatic person is transformed into one who is boisterous most of the time, cracking silly jokes, the same program may well be adopted. Now and then the general character will become altered with the onset of deceitfulness, rudeness, or lack of attention to personal habits.

Then comes the rôle of the skilled neurologist who, in striking fashion, more often than not will be able to point out the exact site of the lesion. He will be aided materially by radiographs of the skull before and after the introduction of air. The surgeon must then decide what plan to follow.

In a recent report, Horrax reviews a number of cases of this type, 218 of which were considered as belonging to a favorable group, viewed over an interval of years. Satisfactory recoveries were made in 148. They are engaged in some form of productive work. While others survived the operation and regained normalcy—at least, in part—many were unable to resume their former occupations.

It should be recalled that there are several conditions which can imitate a brain tumor. We must think of disturbances of the circulation wherein narrowing of the blood vessels will be responsible for less nutriment to vital parts. This situation may lead to many derangements of personality. But here, the evidence of arterial damage is so definite that no question need be raised concerning the diagnosis.

Early recognition and treatment of one of these brain invaders may mean not only life but the return of full function. The final answer can only be determined by a team composed of the expert trouble shooter, the surgeon, and the X-ray specialist. But the family doctor can recognize the significant signs which may justify his request for help.

STOMACH SECRETIONS.

R. A. writes: How is a gastric analysis made?

REPLY.

STARVED SKIN.

A. P. writes: What causes some areas to peel after rheumatic fever?

REPLY.

Toxins can deprive the outer layers of nutriment. Sloughing or peeling may ensue. The usual cause, however, is an eruption which obliterates capillaries. We find this in scarlet fever, measles, etc.

STERN JUSTICE BREEDS RESPECT.

Chicago, July 14.—I read with interest an editorial in your paper today under the caption "Where Were the Psychiatrists?" in which you raised the question of how the social workers came to the conclusion that the Vannatta boy was ready to rehabilitate himself in society.

Before entering the service I was a police officer in an Ohio city and I have had occasion to ponder that question thousands of times. Such action by the Illinois social workers is not just characteristic of Illinois. It is a general practice of all social workers thruout the country. Somehow, it appears, the more vicious the criminal, especially if he is under 25 years of age, the more justice is tempered with mercy.

In all large cities, detectives on criminal investigations are continually picking up teen age hoodlums who have records of from five to ten previous convictions. There is certainly something wrong with a social or welfare system that will make it possible for such criminals to be at large. But that's the condition all over the country, especially in states with large metropolitan areas.

I have seen youngsters before a captain's mast in the navy receive more punishment for returning late from liberty or smoking in areas where smoking is prohibited, than is often given youths of the same age in civilian courts for such crimes as auto theft, burglary, and grand larceny.

One obeys the rules and regulations of the military services because he respects the courts and officers who enforce them. Is that so of like civilian institutions? I believe it is not. Perhaps therein lies the answer. Stern justice merits respect for law and authority. E. W. Davis, U. S. N. R.

POST OFFICE CANTEEN.

Chicago, July 14.—The article which appeared in The Tribune of July 13 regarding the food mystery at the Chicago postoffice canteen has kindled a spark of hope in the minds of the personnel of the Chicago postoffice that at long last we are about to obtain some information concerning our cafeteria. The prices charged and the service rendered have always been well known to us, but any inquiry by any individual or group of postoffice employes has been met with resistance by the officials in charge.

This postoffice canteen, doing a business of over a half million dollars a year, housed in a government owned building, operated free of sales taxes, social security taxes, and the various local taxes so important in the overhead of other firms doing the same type of business, has never furnished postal employes or their duly authorized union representatives any accounting of the funds passing thru its hands.

DOUBLE JOBHOLDER.

Chicago, July 15.—After the big fire last week on Superior street when nine firemen lost their lives I wondered how the city of Chicago hires its building inspectors, by politics or experience.

One city building inspector who is paid $368 a month by the city of Chicago is a business agent for a union with a membership of over 1,300. How can this inspector represent over 1,300 members of his union and inspect buildings at the same time? Both positions should be on a full time basis. Mayor Kelly should check on this so as to safeguard the lives of men and women who have to work in these buildings.

WHY LIQUOR IS HIGH.

Chicago, July 15.—To Annoyed, who complained of liquor prices, let me explain the liquor situation as it stands today:

In mid 1942 we were told liquor was going to be rationed to the retailer; this meant a certain quota a month. The average liquor store or combination store bought in quantities and, therefore, was supposed to pay the same price a case if they received one or five cases. The five case price is approximately 10 per cent lower. According to OPA the wholesaler was supposed to obey this but when one case came in and we had ordered five cases and were charged the one case price, and we put in a complaint, we were promptly told that if we didn't like it we could buy it from OPA.

Naturally at that time we had to increase our prices. Now the wholesalers force us to pay cash instead of taking the usual 30 days discount, with the threat to refuse to call on us anymore.

But the best joke of all is when the salesman comes in and tells us that in order to get one case of one-half pints of whisky we have to buy six cases of assorted dry wines, brandy, cordials, or some other junk which we will never sell in 10 years.

At present the customer isn't forced to buy cordials or something he doesn't want if he wishes to purchase whisky alone. That is the reason for high prices. The more wines, cordials, etc., we are stuck with the higher the whisky will go.

Of course don't blame OPA. They don't drink, or do they? They sure act ga-ga. Drug Store Cowboy.

NEGLECTING LOCAL RESOURCES.

Chicago, July 12.—Why do we have to go to New York City to obtain pin ball games for use on sewing machines to guide the blind?

The racketeers have flooded the city of Chicago with pin ball games and the boys are gambling on them. Chicago has an anti-pin ball ordinance on the books and all the police have to do is pick up these gambling devices now to be found in taverns, hamburger restaurants, drug stores, etc.

Most of these also violate the federal licensing law which requires a $50 license on these games of chance.

WANTS MORE FACTS.

Chicago, July 16.—Congratulations on revealing Stalin as he is. The American public needs to be awakened from its lethargy regarding Russia and its activities. We need more such Max Eastmans, Tribunes, and fewer Davies, etc. Let us go back and observe Russia's dealings with other nations, especially the Poles, and we will all agree that Russia bears 24-hour-a-day watching. Give us more of those straight facts. E. Orzechowski.

WHY MOVIES BORE HIM.

Chicago, July 15.—A reader calls for boycotting the movies because they are so flimsy. I have not seen a Hollywood picture for six years. The movies bore quick thinking people because the pace of the story has to be set for the slowest-witted guy in Arkansas or Alabama, or even in foreign countries.

WHAT THE RAILROADS ARE MISSING.

Houston, Tex., July 13.—A recent Tribune column stated that the Transportation Association of America had assailed recommendations by the national resources planning board that the government take over railroads.

What if it is more socialism? Isn't government ownership of streets, alleys, highways, airports, and waterways socialism? Does any one ever not want more of that socialism, or ever want these facilities to be treated like tax paying public utilities? Why not let railroads get their taxes returned to them, too, in better roadbeds, double track, better terminals? Why not let railroading get up to the public trough for its share of post-war pump priming grants? Railroading will never get its share if all its property is privately owned, but if part government owned—Eureka—hold your hats for here we go!

Unburdened, like their competitors, by land grant [so called] rates from interest and taxes on rights of way and terminal investments, from grade crossing protection and track maintenance expenses, and receiving yearly a porky "in public interest" subsidy while, like their competitors, paying a nominal license and fuel tax, railroads' fares would be halved and lading and passengers would glide equally smooth in 100 mile per hour streamliners. The country would surge forward to undreamed of prosperity as all America would be every business man's market, all America would be every consumer's shopping center. Citizen.

SAILORS FAVORED.

Chicago, July 16.—Yesterday I called the Chicago Red Cross to inquire as to whether I could send a package to my boy in Africa. The last I heard of him, he was in a hospital there and I thought it would cheer him to receive a box from home. I was asked if he was in the navy or army and I replied army, and was told that unless I had a request from my son that I could show when mailing I could not send the package. If my son was in the navy overseas, I could send one five pound package once a week without a request slip. Can any one inform me why they would favor the navy in this way?

ARGUMENT AFTERMATH.

Chicago, July 17.—[Legal Friend of the People].—Two months ago my husband and I had an argument. He called me names, struck me, and chased me out of the house which we own jointly. I now live with relatives. Meanwhile he has sold all the furniture, moved out, and taken a room in a boarding house. Our home he has rented. Please tell me whether he has the right to do this. B. G.

He has no right to your share. If you wish to litigate, the first step is to have a personal interview with an attorney.

SUBURBAN BUSES CHALLENGED ON USE OF STREETS

Council Inquiry Aims at Licensing—or Else.

BY BRYCE ENGLE.

Operations of suburban bus lines, which use many miles of city streets without compensation to the city government, have become the subject of a thoro investigation by the staff of the city council's local transportation committee, members of the group said yesterday.

The lines have been a source of irritation to the committee for many months. The committee has learned that the suburban lines continue to operate into Chicago, much as they did before the war and often in duplication of local transportation facilities. Meanwhile bus mileage of the Chicago Motor Coach company and the Chicago Surface lines has been drastically reduced. While city buses are packed to the roofs, Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], committee chairman, said, the suburban buses often are traveling along nearby with only partial loads.

Policy Not Enforced.

Quinn said that last fall the office of defense transportation adopted a policy that such suburban companies should transfer their passengers to local transportation facilities as near as possible to the outskirts of the city. This policy hasn't been enforced in Chicago. The committee members would like to see it enforced.

One of the major suburban bus routes involved is the Chicago and Calumet District Transit company. This company operates approximately 100 coaches, principally between Gary and Hammond and Chicago.

This company, an Indiana corporation with headquarters in Hammond, pays nothing for use of some 16 miles of city streets, and isn't even required to purchase city vehicle licenses. Its coaches travel city streets far more than the average passenger car, the owner of which must pay $8 or $16 for a city license.

Operate Into Loop.

This company, along with the South Suburban Safeway lines, the Bluebird Coach Lines, Inc., and American Coach Lines, Inc., operates all the way into the loop. Another major operator, the Suburban Transit System, Inc., comes in as far as 63d and Halsted streets, and the United Motor Coach company brings passengers down Milwaukee avenue as far as Lawrence avenue.

Among other bus lines which use city streets less extensively are those of the Highway Bus Lines, Inc., Glenview Bus company, Chicago and West Towns railways, Leyden Motor Coach company, Evanston Bus company, and Schappi Bus Lines, Inc. In some cases these companies use only the half of a city street along the border of the city.

Inquiry to Sift Fares.

Maj. R. F. Kelker, head of the transportation committee staff, said the staff will go into all phases of the companies' operations, finding out the extent of their operations, just where they operate, and the fares charged. The staff plans to investigate carefully the extent to which such companies violate regulations by hauling passengers between points within the city.

"We know some of these companies, especially some of the smaller ones, are chiseling by hauling passengers between Chicago points," one traction expert said.

The city has in mind stopping such "chiseling," or forcing the companies to seek city authority for such business. The investigation also is expected to supply the basis for another plea to ODT to stop the lines' duplication of local transit facilities.

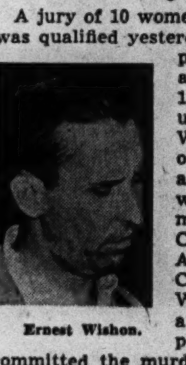
WISHON'S JURORS SELECTED; NONE OPPOSES DEATH

199 Year Bid Turned Down by State.

A jury of 10 women and two men was qualified yesterday for a death penalty verdict and accepted in 1 hour 20 minutes as Ernest Wishon, 35 years old, slayer of an aged jeweler, went on trial for murder before Chief Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court. Wishon's counsel admitted the prisoner had committed the murder.



Ernest Wishon.

Reject 199 Year Offer.

An offer to accept a sentence of 199 years by James M. Burke, court appointed defense attorney, was rejected by Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Austin and Richard Devine. Burke then demanded a jury trial.

"As the defendant's attorney, I will admit that he committed murder," Burke told the court and jury. "There is no dispute as to the facts. The defendant killed Joseph Schulte. The only purpose in calling a jury is for the purpose of mitigating the punishment."

Wishon, an ex-convict, was trailed five miles to the north side, after the killing, by William F. [Smilin' Bill] Mahoney, street car motorman.

Killer Called Paretic.

The defendant, according to Burke, suffers from several venereal diseases, which have made him a paretic, and is an habitual alcoholic. On such ground mitigation was sought, Burke said.

Austin called the killing cold blooded murder and asked death in the electric chair.

SOLDIER SWAPS BEST MAN ROLE, IS BRIDEGROOM!

Miss Florence Flynn, 27 years old, 1856 North Richmond street, finally made up her mind yesterday as to which of the Olson boys she wanted to marry—after seeing Raymond in uniform.

Miss Flynn had known Raymond, who is 21, for 10 months. Then she met his brother, Ernest, 27, of 1846 North Spaulding avenue, and began going with him. They obtained a marriage license last Friday. Raymond, who in the meantime had joined the army and was stationed at Camp Gordon, Johnstown, Fla., arrived home Saturday to be his brother's best man.

Over the week-end Miss Flynn's heart did a flip flop. Yesterday she and Raymond appeared for another license and were wed in marriage court by Judge Frank B. Leonard. Ernest, a little pale, was best man. The most composed member of the wedding party was Violet Olson, 17, a sister of the brothers, who was a bridesmaid, just as she had planned.

REVIVED BY FIREMEN.

CAPTURE TWO WHO ESCAPED AT BRIDEWELL

Two men who fled from the Bridewell last Friday after beating the jail's master baker were back in solitary confinement yesterday, victims of their own stupidity.

They are George Mueller, 37 years old, of Chicago, who on Jan. 21 began serving a nine month term for assault, and Thurman Green, 22, of Seattle, Wash., committed June 24 on a sentence of a year in jail and a $500 fine for obtaining money by false pretenses.

The men were seized by State Highway Policeman Ray Wolford of Washburn, Woodford county, as they were put off a southbound Rock Island railroad freight train at Lacon, Marshall county, 20 miles southwest of La Salle.

Unable to produce draft identification demanded by policemen, the men surrendered without a fight and were taken to the Lacon jail, where they were recognized from published descriptions.

Wolford said local police were on the lookout for the men because Mueller had asked his Chicago landlord by telephone to forward his clothing to his former home in La Salle. The clothes were sent, but police were posted at the destination. It is believed the men were on their way to get them when captured.

BARRETT NAMES APPRAISER FOR OPERA BUILDING

Ward Farnsworth, a member of the Chicago real estate board, was appointed yesterday by Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett to make an independent appraisal of the Civic Opera building at 20 Wacker drive in connection with an offer of the General Finance corporation to purchase the 42 floor building from the Chicago Music Foundation.

The attorney general is required by law to approve the transaction since the foundation is a charitable trust. The foundation was created in 1929 by the late Samuel Insull.

STATE OFFICIAL PLEDGES AID TO VAULT VICTIMS

'Portage Park Losers' to Start Legal Action.

Two hundred victims of the recent looting of the Portage Park Safe Deposit Vault company were assured last night that Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett will give them whatever aid his office can legally render. "He will do everything he can to get you what you want," said Daniel J. Buckley, assistant attorney general.

The group, which calls itself the "Portage Park Losers," met at the Portage Park fieldhouse to hear reports of progress in their efforts to redeem their losses in the robbery of the vaults, which were the property of William R. Skidmore, now serving a 30 month prison term.

Will See Courtney, Too.

Paul Stevens, of 4057 North Kostner avenue, chairman of the meeting, announced that he had an appointment with State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney at which he will discuss the plight of the losers.

A committee of three, headed by Stevens, was chosen to hire a lawyer to represent the entire group in future legal actions to recoup the losses. A collection of $800 was made at the meeting.

Stevens reported that on the basis of 84 boxholders' claim that they lost $114,000 in cash and $8,300 in jewelry, the indicated total loss for the 411 boxes robbed is about $600,000.

Asks End to Watching.

An attorney for 12 of the victims, Milton Gerwyn, urged the group to form a more compact organization so that they could act in unison and proceed legally. "Let's eliminate this watching of the vault building and these indignation meetings," he said.

Several of the women members of the group reported on their daily watch of the sorting of papers which had been tossed about the vaults after the individual boxes had been looted. Mrs. Roy Lord, 4029 Kolmar avenue, charged that she had seen money extracted from a mysterious brown envelope and that later the envelope was found empty.

Watchers Air Complaints.

The watchers complained that last Saturday they were not allowed to enter the vaults and that, furthermore, all chairs had been removed so that they would have had to stand up if they had been admitted.

It was reported that John J. Oros, manager of the vaults, had been invited to last night's meeting. He was not present.

Electrocuted in Effort to Free Aerial of Radio

Matt Stumpf, 47 years old, a janitor at 928 Chicago avenue, Evanston, was electrocuted yesterday when he attempted to free a radio aerial which fell across high tension wires outside the building during a wind and rain storm last Friday. He lived at 316 Main street, Evanston, with his wife and two children.

PEACEMAKER KNIFED.

William H. Besaw, 39 years old, 1334 Madison street, was cut in the neck when he attempted to stop a knife fight between two men in the lot in the rear of his home, he told police yesterday.

UNION DEMANDS LOWER PRICES; RALLY PLANNED

Roll back of living costs to May, 1942, levels will be demanded by 5,000 workers of the Studebaker aviation engine plant at a "Tell It to Congress" banquet to be held in Chicago late in August, Miss Gertrude Selig, secretary of local 998 of the CIO United Automobile Workers, said yesterday.

Miss Selig and a political action committee from the Studebaker plant conferred with Raymond S. McKeough, regional administrator for the office of price administration, on the development of a program to enforce price ceilings. Miss Selig pledged coöperation of the union in reporting price ceiling violations and in discouraging illegal use of ration coupons.

She said that some merchants are ignoring rationing regulation and selling rationed goods without collecting stamps.

Tribune Style Designers Get Extended Time

Deadline of the American Fashions contest of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has been extended one week to Aug. 8. This was made known yesterday by Mrs. Grace Pickering, noted fashion authority in charge of the competition, in response to requests from hundreds of prospective contestants.

Because of the vacation period, numerous professional sketchers are unavailable for assignments from designers who are unable to draw their own designs, Mrs. Pickering explained. The competition rules allow contestants to collaborate with professional artists in the execution of the sketches, and the extra week of grace will make it possible for many to submit entries, she said. Entrants from towns in New Mexico and other far away states will appreciate the extra time, as heavy mails this season are causing delayed deliveries.

The decision of the contest authorities was reached after serious consideration of hundreds of requests from all parts of the country. In last year's American Fashions contest, THE TRIBUNE also granted an extension of the deadline for similar reasons.

The main purpose of the competition is to encourage American designers to create attractive and practical clothes for women in war time and every opportunity is being granted contestants towards this goal. The new deadline of midnight, Aug. 8, however, will remain unchanged, and contestants are urged to submit sketches earlier if possible.

The $3,000 in prizes are attracting entrants from all parts of the country, postmarks indicate. Immediately following the deadline, the selections committee headed by Mrs. Pickering will study all entries and will choose 20 of the best sketches from the standpoint of originality, ingenuity in the use of fabrics, and suitability for introduction on the American market of 1944. These 20 sketches will be awarded $50 each and will be eligible for the grand prizes of $1,000 for first place and $500 each for second and third.

Each of the 20 designs will be made up into models by expert dressmakers and tailors at the expense of THE TRIBUNE and will be shown at a spectacular fashion show the latter part of September. They will be modeled by topflight mannequins, to whose measurements they will be tailored. At the fashion show, the grand prizes will be decided and awarded.

All designs must conform with the war production board restrictions as to the manufacture of women's clothing, but the selections committee will modify or alter details of the designs to fit in with the regulations, if necessary. Complete rules of the contest may be obtained at The Tribune's Public Service bureau in Tribune Tower and 1 South Dearborn street, or by mail upon request. Inquiries should be addressed to "American Fashions, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue, Chicago."

Society Increases Bible Order as War Time Demand Grows

Demand for Bibles and testaments in the army and navy and in occupied countries of Europe and Asia has caused the American Bible society to order 1,800,000 additional copies for distribution this year, according to Dr. Rome A. Betts, general secretary.

Plans for raising $696,000 in excess of the society's regular budget were discussed at a meeting of the board of managers of Chicago Bible society yesterday in Union League club, at which Dr. Betts said civilian reading of the Bible also has reached a new peak.

"Since Pearl Harbor the society has distributed 2,078,000 Bibles and testaments to members of the army, navy, and marine corps at a cost of $253,000," he said. "A total of 490,000 have been sent to, and received by, prisoners of war and refugees in Europe. In addition, 42,500 have been sent to distressed churches in France and Belgium and we have contributed nearly $20,000 to printing of Bibles in the East Indies."

Benefit Party Auction Given for Preventorium

Chicago and North shore society leaders bought pork chops and leg of lamb on the hoof without spending their ration stamps last night. The live stock, together with a couple of whiterock hens, a pair of turkeys and four ducks, all donated, were sold at auction for $314 at a benefit party for Ridge Farm preventorium in Deerpath theater at Lake Forest. The preventorium is operated by residents to care for convalescent indigent children.

Suggestion System.

Ezra Taylor, profiting from 40 years' experience with the Pullman company, has written a pamphlet on "How To Conduct A Successful Employes' Suggestion System."

In the past, says Mr. Taylor, 95 per cent of such systems have failed, altho they can and should foster constructive thinking toward industrial betterment.

"The whole fun of living," he quotes, "is in trying to make something better."

A successful suggestion system, given a director with broad experience, is dependent upon 10 precepts. "That is," he continues, "it must be conducted—[1] anonymously, [2] impersonally, [3] impartially, [4] conscientiously, [5] honestly, [6] tolerantly, [7] patiently, [8] liberally, [9] accurately, [10] effectively."

Set Two Attendance Records at St. Louis City Opera in Week

St. Louis, Mo., July 19 (AP).—Despite war time travel restrictions, the St. Louis municipal opera's production "The Great Waltz" set two attendance records in the last week.

An overflow crowd of 11,407 Saturday night cracked the one night record of 11,385 held since last Aug. 8 by "Roberta" for the second time. Last Thursday's attendance was 11,402.

Last night's attendance of 11,387 brought the week's total to 78,138, exceeding by 3,458 the previous record for one week of 74,680 set by "Balalaika" in August, 1941.

Drug Plants' Soaring Prices Spur to Tests

When the war began, the United States lost most of its sources of medicinal plant drugs. Prices have skyrocketed. To avoid a repetition of this situation in future wars, the University of Illinois college of pharmacy is conducting long range experiments with drug plants on two acres of land near Des Plaines, where the university college of agriculture has an experiment station.

Cheap foreign labor has kept Americans from producing their own medicinal plants in peace time. The pharmacists and university agricultural experts are breeding plants to produce high yields, hoping that such plants will enable American farmers to compete with imported products.

Last year atropine, which Webster's says is used to relieve spasms, to diminish secretions and to dilate the eye pupils, rose from a few cents an ounce to $180.

The university experiments are in charge of Dr. E. H. Wirth and E. R. Searles, dean of the college of pharmacy. Last year, on their two acres, they produced enough of several kinds of drugs to supply the needs of 600 patients and 140,000 out-patients of the university's research hospital.

They produced digitalis with two times the strength required by the United States pharmacopeia standard and hyoscyamus with fourfold the strength. This year they have added to their experiments sage, whose spicy oil is used to take the bad taste out of drugs.

Dr. Wirth said that during World War I. a good many American farmers set out to replace the lost foreign drugs, and suffered heavy losses, because after the war they lost their markets to foreign competition.

Girls in Lead as More Births Are Announced

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE old-wives' superstition that boy babies outnumber girls in war time seems to be refuted in today's birth announcements, for numerically speaking the girls are leading, two to one. The Mason Phelps' home in Lake Forest is enlivened these days by the presence of young Sandra Schriber, the baby daughter whom Lt. and Mrs. Thomas Schriber [Betty Brooks] adopted recently from the Cradle. Mrs. Schriber is here from Bedford, N. Y., for a visit with her mother and Mr. Phelps while her husband is on active duty. Mason Phelps Jr. has reported for service with the navy.

The Bruce Alexander Bakers' 4 year old daughter, Sandra, now has a baby brother, Bruce Jr., born on July 4 in Passavant hospital. On the same day Mrs. Baker's sister, Mrs. Jason Paige Jr., and Lt. Paige became the parents of a second son, Christopher, in the Garfield hospital in Washington, D. C. The Paiges and their older son, Michael, live in Delaplane, Va. The four young cousins are grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Quigley.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kenyon Jr. [Doris Bokum] became the parents of a daughter on Sunday at the Presbyterian hospital. Altho the baby has not been named, Pamela is high on the list for consideration. Tiny Miss Kenyon has a brother, Robert III, who is called Peter, and a half-brother, Calvin King. Peter will be five next Tuesday.

Lt. Day to Learn Soon of Birth of a Daughter

Somewhere in the mid-Pacific, Lt. [j. g.] James Edward Day soon will be receiving word of the birth of his daughter, on July 17, in Presbyterian hospital. The baby has been named Geraldine Burgess for her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Kenneth Farwell Burgess. Mrs. Day, the former Mary Louise Burgess, has been staying with her parents in Hubbard Woods while Lt. Day is serving overseas.

When Mrs. Donald A. K. Brown and her baby daughter, Mary Mitchell, leave St. Luke's hospital, they will go out to Lake Forest to the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney. At present Mrs. Brown's parents, the Joseph T. Ryersons, and their youngest daughter, Ellen, are with Mrs. McBirney, who is Mrs. Ryerson's mother. Miss Anne Ryerson is in Mexico City this summer, studying at the university.

Mary Mitchell Brown and her two youngest cousins will be able to hold joint birthday celebrations in future years. On Saturday, the day after Mary Mitchell was born, the Edward K. Browns [Grace Collins] welcomed their first child in Cleveland. She has been named Ellen Dallle. The Bradford Browns' second child was born in St. Joseph, Mich., on June 14, her father's birthday anniversary. She was named Nancy Dickinson for her paternal aunt, Mrs. Clarence Boyd Jones of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Lt. and Mrs. L. H. Hunt Parents of a New Son

Lt. and Mrs. Lawrence Halley Hunt of Oak Park are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Lawrence Jr., on July 15 in Passavant hospital. The baby, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Johnson of Oak Park and of Mrs. A. C. Hunt of Rapid City, S. D., has a great-grandmother, Mrs. James Halley of Rapid City.

Receiving a royal welcome in Chicago is Lt. [j. g.] Parker Bryant, who with his attractive wife, the former Betty Dixon, is at the Ambassador hotel. Lt. and Mrs. Bryant plan to spend a few days at the Coleman Lake club in Wisconsin, after which she will accompany him back to Seattle to remain until he leaves for sea duty. Mrs. Bryant expects to return to Chicago to be with her parents, the Homer W. Dixons, about Oct. 1.

Mrs. Bryant's sister, Mrs. Alexander P. Fletcher, and her children are arriving on the 30th to be here while Lt. [j. g.] Fletcher is on active duty with the navy. Mrs. Fletcher has taken a house in Winnetka from Aug. 1.

The Donald R. McLennans have loaned their box at Ravinia tonight to their daughter, Mrs. John Morse, who will give a small party for Mrs. Paul Swift. Preceding Efrem

Fashion Show Has Brilliant N. Y. Opening

BY REA SEEGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 20.—Launched today with all the verve of foreign fashion shows of other years, the important show of the New York Dress institute lived up to advance notices. Fashion editors and writers from 55 newspapers registered, were taken to luncheon, then rushed to the first showing of fall and winter fashions.

The first showing hints at the theme of other presentations to come, for silhouettes, amount of yardage, colors, and decorative details surely and effectively reflect the wartime life of the women who will shop and select these same models—not only in Chicago and other large cities, but in the smallest towns as well.

Fox-Brownie, the first exhibitor, used a colorful Chinese motif. Precisely straight and equally narrow skirts, with shallow slits at the side seams, were adapted to the long, slender lines of an American woman's ideal street or daytime suit. Details such as large embroidered medallions, embroidered frog fastening devices, and other typically Chinese embellishment made the suits slim, super-flattering, and colorfully eye catching.

The colors alone are worth a good three-quarters of the applause, real Chinese vermilion, cooled down with dull black; vivid Chinese porcelain blue, combined with Chinese cerise; buff gold with black, and red with green, all strong shades, are effectively combined to startle the eye after weeks of summer pastels and whites.

This year, you, the shopper, will buy suits; real suits, consisting of a slim skirt and a very short jacket, that jacket ending briefly on the hipline, with a waistline a permanently shirred affair simulating a draw string effect or an elastic, which, of course, is a fantastic dream of luxury. These shirred waistlines are provocatively young, there's no additional belt to cover the shirrings, thereby that much material is conserved.

But there is no conservation of individuality featured in each suit, for the blouses are extraordinary examples of contrast. Buying procedure will be changed for you will buy a suit as a two piece suit [skirt and jacket]. The blouse, designed to wear with and properly complete the outfit, is ticketed and sold as a blouse. These are especially tempting, the better to cause you to spend extra money for that blouse. Satin dull-sheened jersey is the big favorite, wool combined with chiffon velvet is another, thin wool jersey and taffeta rayon comes in third.

All are made with long sleeves, the kind that are simply gathered into narrow band cuffs. Necklines are high with soft double ruffles and bows along the throatlines and sometimes bows at the wrists.

Thru the Looking Glass

L-85, the order that limits the amount of fabric in the dresses we wear, isn't entirely responsible for those extremely short skirts the young girls are wearing. The skirt-above-the-knee fashion is a little idea of their own, and we feel it's about time some one told them it's a bum one.

Not because it's immodest, but because it's utterly unbeautiful. A skirt that hits just above the knee makes the skinny leg look skinnier and the plump leg look plumper. Even the perfect leg looks less perfect, because there is really no beauty in the shape of a kneecap. A bathing suit shows off a long, lovely limb. A skirt cut off a few inches above the knee doesn't.

One thing even less attractive than a kneecap is the back of a knee. The view from the rear is uproariously funny, but the poor little biddies who think it's glamorous as all get-out don't seem to realize it. Maybe their mothers ought to take them on an observation tour.

The swing skirt that comes to an end above the knee plays the dickens with the hip line, too. The effect of a skirt just below the knee is 10 times more slimming.

It's a funny fashion, this—a strictly juvenile idea of what's smart. Unlike so many of the nice, attractive ideas the youngsters have developed for themselves—the peasant fashions and the typical college clothes—this doesn't do a thing, aesthetically, for the young figure. It's a lemon, we're afraid.

Open Letter to Mrs. Hobby.

Oveta Culp Hobby,
Colonel, Women's Army Corps,
War Department.
Dear Mrs. Hobby:

You have a problem right now, a big problem. You need more WACs. You need WACs, and the girls are not joining up. That, stated baldly, is your problem, isn't it?

In the last few weeks you have put on a tremendous recruiting campaign. The magazines have coöperated by running pretty pictures of pretty WACs in pretty uniforms. The newspapers have coöperated by running whatever your publicity department has dreamed up. The WACs, the war department, and other agencies have coöperated in staging some of the most ridiculous fantasies ever conceived at the height of a serious war.

Two or three weeks ago a company of engineers from Camp McCoy came down here and threw a bridge across the Chicago river. The announced purpose? To spur WAC recruiting. Two weeks ago two WAC companies engaged in a public softball game at Cubs' park here. The purpose? To spur WAC recruiting. The other day Eddie Cantor came down and yowled and grimaced and was photographed between two pleasant WACs. Purpose? The same.

Now, Mrs. Hobby, you are a sensible woman. Why did you agree to head the WAC? Because you thought a girlish softball game engaging and enchanting? Because you liked the way Eddie Cantor sang "America" or "If You Love Tomatoes . . ."? Because some hard working soldiers from Texas took time off from stringent and badly needed maneuvers in Wisconsin to throw a bridge over a river?

You joined because Gen. Marshall and Secretary Stimson came to you and said: "This looks like a long war. We have to get every available man into the line. There are countless jobs at army posts and camps that women can do. These women can replace soldiers who then can be sent off to fight. We have to have the women in the army because we have to have complete and unquestioned authority, discipline, and order."

Wasn't that about the way it went?

There was much opposition to the idea, remember? It was overcome by telling congress, frankly, just why women were needed. The American public, to whom the idea of marching women was novel and rather distasteful, responded tardily and at times acridly, but the WAC got under way. Got under way with a great whoop and hooray and roseate clouds of glamor. Possibly it started out too much in that direction, for such a project presumably should be undertaken slowly and with great caution, and a few unpleasantries, such as the strip tease WAC and the AWOL WACs and the out-of-character WACs, received wide and harmful attention.

We understand the WACs are doing a good job at the army posts. Some go a little haywire, but the majority work hard and get little credit. Most of them are dignified, self-respecting, and respected. It's a tough job for many of them, a distasteful job, but they are doing it.

An army flyer, a man who was wildly opposed to the WAC when it was created, was talking the other day.

"I was down in Texas," he said, "and I ran into a WAC. I don't know when I've seen as tired a girl, but she came in and took over a radio operator's job in two minutes. Gee, she was wonderful. She was superb. And she sat there five hours without flinching."

Now, Mrs. Hobby, are we playing paper dolls, or aren't we? Can't you stop these public softball games and Eddie Cantor song fests, and come out with a few facts about where your WACs are, what they are doing, how well they are doing, and why you have to have 600,000? Please ignore the glamor, if softball comes under that heading, and the uniforms which don't fit, anyway, and just say it's a tough, thankless job, but a very necessary one. Maybe you'll get some place then.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Six new additions to the WAVES recruiting staff took over their duties yesterday in headquarters, room 1170 Board of Trade building, to work with Lt. [j. g.] Margaret Harding Cecil, senior WAVES recruiting officer for the Chicago area. Wearing the specialist's "R," 3d class insigne on their sleeves, the young women are recent graduates of the training station at Hunter college, New York City.

Genevieve Sullivan of Waterloo, Ia., who lost her five navy brothers aboard the cruiser Juneau, is one of the six. Miss Sullivan enlisted in the WAVES last April in San Francisco, Cal., in ceremonies at which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was present. Before joining the service, Miss Sullivan was employed in an office in her home city.

"Every girl who has no dependents should join the WAVES," Miss Sullivan said yesterday.

One Evanston girl, Miss Suzanne Maurer, is another of the new recruiting personnel. Two young Milwaukee women, Mrs. Jane Thomasson and Miss Lorraine Wagner, also took over their duties yesterday. The fifth new addition to the staff is Miss Lorraine Aageson, whose home is in Montana, and the sixth, Miss Charlotte Bierce, of Minnesota.

Two of the young women will be stationed in the Chicago office daily, while the other four will work out of the city, recruiting in the middle-western area.

The Navy Mothers' club will take a boat trip to St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 2 in order that the 1,000 members may become better acquainted. Friends and family members are invited to this "going to sea" party. Reservations must be in by July 21, and may be made by calling Franklin 4368.

On Aug. 23 the club will have its regular benefit birthday party, featuring cards and other games, in the organization's headquarters on the mezzanine in the building at 335 N. Michigan avenue. Mrs. G. A. Boehnert, chairman of ways and means, will be in charge.

The proceeds from these events, which are given by members whose birthdays fall within the month, are put into the club's treasury, which is drawn upon for the Mothers' various activities in behalf of navy men and their families.

A war garden at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, a canteen in the club's rumpus room, in which 2,000 navy men are entertained each month, a sewing group which makes layettes for wives of the men, parties for ambulatory cases in the Great Lakes hospital, and various other welfare projects are benefited by the club's parties.

The Navy Sisters and Wives' club, an auxiliary of the Navy Mothers organization, recently elected Mrs. Charles E. Bird as president to serve for the balance of the club year, following the resignation of Mrs. Lorraine Boehnert, who left to be married.

The young women's group invites any one who is a sister or wife of a man in the navy, marines, or the coast guard to join the auxiliary. Applications may be made at 335 North Michigan avenue.

Service men turned the hospitality tables recently and showed their appreciation for the efforts in their behalf by the Fort Sheridan Volunteers, when they gave a party for Mrs. Richard Hoffman of Winnetka and the women working with her.

"The boys" took over one of the day rooms for the event, a room which was equipped and furnished a few months ago, thru the Volunteers' activities. Each of the 150 soldiers in the battery had some role in organizing the party. They invited officers and their wives, the day room committee members, and girls who had entertained them at their first party.

Members of Mrs. Hoffman's committee are Mrs. Donald Defrees, Mrs. Austin Jenner, Mrs. Dorr Price, Mrs. Carrol Steinhoff, Mrs. John McKeown, Mrs. William Warfield III., Mrs. Fred Fairman, Mrs. Burdette Mast, and Mrs. Ogden Coleman.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

INSTALMENT XXVI.
BLACK FUTURE.

Donald straightened up and, without a glance in Diego's direction, moved toward the cave entrance but paused before he disappeared to say over his shoulder: "You'll know I'm coming when you hear me whistling. God help ye!"

"Go with God!" murmured Ann. And then they were alone.

She looked up at Diego and he saw the darkness of her eyes in a white face. She put a hand on the rug at her side and he went across and sat by her.

"Do we start thinking now, Diego?"

"Sleep, that is the first thing."

"I am, indeed, weary, but I will never sleep again."

"I will make you sleep within this hour." He put a hand on her arm. She straightened and her shoulder touched his. "I am set here in charge of you and you are safe in my hands."

"For how long, Diego?"

"Do not think of time. We are used to war, you and I; used to danger and the hills and all the strategy of saving our own skins for another day. That is so?"

"It is so. But in the end I failed. I failed tonight."

"We will win this game."

"You will not yield, I know, but what chance——"

"Every chance. Look! It is all heather southward to Glasgow, a great town, where two moving quietly can be lost, and from Glasgow to London no one will stop us going by train. The thing is easy."

He went on spinning words that he himself did not believe, to bring her out of the slough. But after a time she stopped him.

"But Diego! We would be together alone in the hills many days—and many nights."

"As we are alone here."

"But nights—and then nights."

"We would not be man and woman alone in the hills but comrades, making bids for freedom."

"We are in this because we are man and woman, Diego. We are in this because a man is dead, and one of us killed him. That is what is between us, Diego—a tie that is also a bar of iron. Do I not see where you are leading me to? From this den to Glasgow, and from Glasgow to London, and from London—where?"

"Anywhere you like."

"To the hacienda of San Jose? I know. But that dream is dead. There is blood between us. Take me in your arms, kiss me on the mouth, have passion with me, and the embrace and the kiss and the passion are bought with blood. Be patient with me, Diego! Give me time! Tomorrow I may be hard and logical, ready to grasp at life, ready to take to the hills with you, body and soul in your hands. Tonight I am weary to the soul."

There was no use saying anything more.

"O! But I am weary and I cannot think." She leaned against him, her head drifted down on his shoulder and he put a quiet arm around her. She sighed deeply and was still.

In a minute or two her head started to slip off his shoulder and he propped his black head against her red one. He got the faint scent of heather and verbena. And then at the back of his throat he voiced a soothing old lullaby — a melody without words. She stirred for a moment and then her breath started coming soft and regularly. She was on the verge of sleep and, then, in a little while he knew that she was asleep.

With infinite care he drew away inch by inch till her body was lying down, her feet off the couch. He went on his knees then and softly removed her shoes; and she gave only the sleepy turn and murmur of a child when he pivoted her long legs onto the rug. The night was cool and he groped for the blankets and draped them over her, and she turned on her side like a child to be tucked in. His hand touched hers and, like a child, her fingers closed on his. Her hand that used to be warm, and had been cold earlier in the night, was not cold now, and it grew warmer, and presently a finger slipped. He drew his hand away. She was sound asleep.

He threw the other rug over an arm and, treading cautiously, moved across to where the lantern hung. The dawn was outside. He turned the lamp down to conserve oil, watched it till it flickered out. He went outside and down to the turn where he could see the gorge below.

The dawn had come, not here a brilliant dawn of red and gold and purple, but only a toneless light full of desolation. At the turn of the narrow rock ladder he draped the rug about him after the fashion of a native pancho and sat down, his shoulder against one wall of the fault and his feet against the other. Sleep stood afar off from him notwithstanding his bone weariness, and thoughts would come altho his mind was numb. Let him think then.

He had come into the Glen a sick man, but death had not come to him. Death had come to another at a moment when he himself was full of a new confidence, and with that coming death had stayed and was now dogging the footsteps of himself—and of Ann. That was stern fact. Things looked black against them. Whatever their friends might think, the public would hold that they were accomplices in murder. And what facts had they themselves to win them mercy, for mercy was all they could hope for? They had none that any one would believe—any one but a few friends: Hamish McLeod, Ellen Honora McCarthy, Donald Gunn, and whom besides?

But he knew that deep down in him his decision was already made. He would make a bid for freedom, for himself and for the woman. He would not surrender with mere mercy held out to him by the hands of even friends. That was final. Stop thinking then.

He was wakened by a hand on his foot. A man used to the open in dangerous places, he woke quietly and fully, mind and body at once aware. Donald Gunn was standing before him, his face level with his own. He was an old man and had had a grueling time, but it was finely resolute and his jaw had a firm jut. He had another game bag slung on his shoulders.

"How's Mistress Ann?" he asked. "She didn't get away on you, Don Diego?"

Without a word Diego got stiffly to his feet and up into the cave, Donald coming behind. There was just enough light to show that she was still on the old couch. The mass of her red hair had a dark glow in the dimness. She was half over on her face, but the moment they stood over her she turned her head, and her black eyes looked at them without feeling. Then she swept the blankets off and pivoted to a sitting position on the rug. They could see the white flesh thru the torn stockings.

"Be with God! Yesterday I thought — was it yesterday? O! yesterday! yesterday!" Her fingers covered her eyes and ran up thru her live, stirring hair. "There is grit under my eyelids, and behold my hands."

"Your face could do with a bit wash, too, Mistress Ann," Donald said. "But gosh! I forgot a scrap o' soap and a towel, but this will do for the towel." From the game bag he took a white napkin that had wrapped warm scones.

"I have gone many days without soap or towel, my friend," she said, and moved slowly toward the mouth of the cave. Her feet had not quite found their balance, but head and shoulders were well back.

"She is all right, but she'll never be the same," said Donald. "You did that lady a terrible wrong, Don Diego, and she trusted you."

"As you say, Donald Gunn," Diego said. "Have you any news?"

"I wasn't any place to get news." He jerked his game bag off and began arranging food on a flat topped shelf. "The other bag is for the day—the thermos will keep the coffee hot. Your breakfast is in this, and my own as well."

There was a large wicker topped flask of hot tea, and rolled in paper against the flask, to retain warmth, were four cooked trout of good size; and a packet of sandwiches wrapped in another napkin; and there were half a dozen hard boiled eggs. Also there were three enameled picnic cups. He had not forgotten even the salt.

"Did you sleep at all, Donald?" Diego asked gently.

"A body don't need much sleep after 60," he said. "Here's Mistress Ann back."

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

A large proportion of the throw-in plays that are used so frequently and to such excellent advantage by experienced declarers can find success only thru the unwitting coöperation of a defender. There is something almost inane about holding grimly to a high card and hoping to win a trick with it when, in fact, the worst thing that can happen to you is to win said trick! For example:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

♥ Q J 10 6 3 2
♦ Q 8
♣ Q 9 7

WEST	EAST
♠ K Q 9 8 3	♠ J 7 2
♥ K 5 4	♥ 9 8
♦ 9 3	♦ J 7 5
♣ J 8 5	♣ 10 6 4 3 2

SOUTH
♦ A K 10 6 4 2
♣ A K

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 no trump	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 no trump	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

South chose to open with the "fancy" bid of two no trump rather than the correct bid of two diamonds because his partner was weak in the play of the cards, and if the final contract was to be no trump, South wanted to "get there first." North's jump to four hearts was rather optimistic and ill advised tactically. With no higher cards than queens, it would have been more accurate to respond first with three hearts and then, if South's rebid was three no trump, to persist to four hearts. The direct jump led South to believe that he would find North with slightly better values than he held.

West's double was just one more example of loose reasoning. It had much to lose by "placing cards" and little to gain.

The spade king was opened, East following with the seven. Declarer won, cashed the ace and king of clubs, then crossed to the diamond queen and discarded a spade on the club queen. He then rattled off the entire diamond suit.

Coming down to three cards, West did exactly what declarer had hoped he would do. Naturally, West had to guard the heart king, and this reduced him to one spade. To his everlasting shame, however, he kept the spade queen instead of a low spade. He was now thrown on lead with a spade and had to return a heart from his king.

I grant, unequivocally, that West could not be sure about the location of the spade jack. But one thing he should have known: if he held onto the spade queen against this particular declarer, an expert, he certainly would be end-played. The right defense, of course, was to keep a low spade and pray that East, instead of declarer, held the jack.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Events at the Oriental theater this week prove that the star of Roy Rogers, the cowboy hero, is high in the firmament. When Mr. Rogers and his sleek and intelligent horse Trigger go thru their paces on the stage, the theater rings with the whistles of delighted youngsters, and probably of delighted adults as well. No sooner have the fleshly embodiments of Mr. Rogers and Trigger disappeared from the stage than the movie begins, instantly repeating exactly the same routines in a canned version.

Are the patrons irritated at seeing the same thing twice? Obviously not; their hunger for Mr. Rogers and Trigger is a consuming one, not to be satisfied by a diet of moderation.

I found Mr. Rogers, in my first acquaintance with him, an ingratiating fellow who behaves naturally instead of acting, and who sings suavely in a voice of a crooner's texture, handled with a crooner's artifices. Trigger, in his public aspects at least, seems to have a more profound personality than his master, and his rôle in the picture was a more adult one for a horse than Mr. Rogers' was for a man.

"Song of Texas," all of which takes place in New Mexico, represents, I am sorry to say, a tragic decadence of the noble American tradition of the horse opera. The main purpose of the film seems to be to provide opportunities for Mr. Rogers and Bob Nolan and the Sons of the Pioneers to sing. Action is reduced to an absolute minimum.

The shell of a western plot is there—the cattle rustling, the girl, who is told to stay behind and who rides into danger and has to be rescued by the hero just when he has more important matters to attend to, and all the rest. But these elements are handled in lifeless routine which are gotten over with as soon as possible, so as to allow Mr. Rogers to sing more items from a maudlin non-cowboy repertory that includes "Moonlight and Roses" and "Mexicali Rose."

All I can say is that I certainly miss Tom Mix and William S. Hart.

Kurtz's first appearance as a Ravinia conductor, Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart will give a dinner party. Their box guests later will be Mrs. Frederic Upham, Mrs. Florence Bohrer of Bloomington, Miss Edith Kohlsaat of Lake Geneva, Wis., and Albin Polasek.

Misses Gerstenberg, Clark to Entertain at Tea Today

Miss Alice Gerstenberg and Miss Herma Clark will entertain at tea today in the former's Lake Shore drive apartment for Miss Marjorie Lamie who will take the lead in the new play the two hostesses have completed. The play, a historical work entitled "Port of Chicago," will be presented in October by the Uptown Players.

After a short visit here with her father, Sidney Wanzer III, and Mrs. Wanzer, Miss Jacqueline Wanzer is leaving today for Cleveland, O., for a brief stopover with her mother, Mrs. Kurt Groener, before going on to New York to be married. Miss Wanzer and Midshipman Edward H. Gustafson will be married in the Little Church Around the Corner at 4 p. m. on July 28, the day on which he will receive his commission as ensign from the naval reserve training school at Columbia university. A reception will follow at the Vanderbilt hotel.

The bride's father and Mrs. Wanzer, who gave a luncheon yesterday at the Camellia House for the bride-to-be, are leaving for New York on Sunday. Also going east for the ceremony will be Mr. Gustafson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Gustafson of Evanston. During Miss Wanzer's visit here Mrs. Gustafson gave a tea for her at the Union League club.

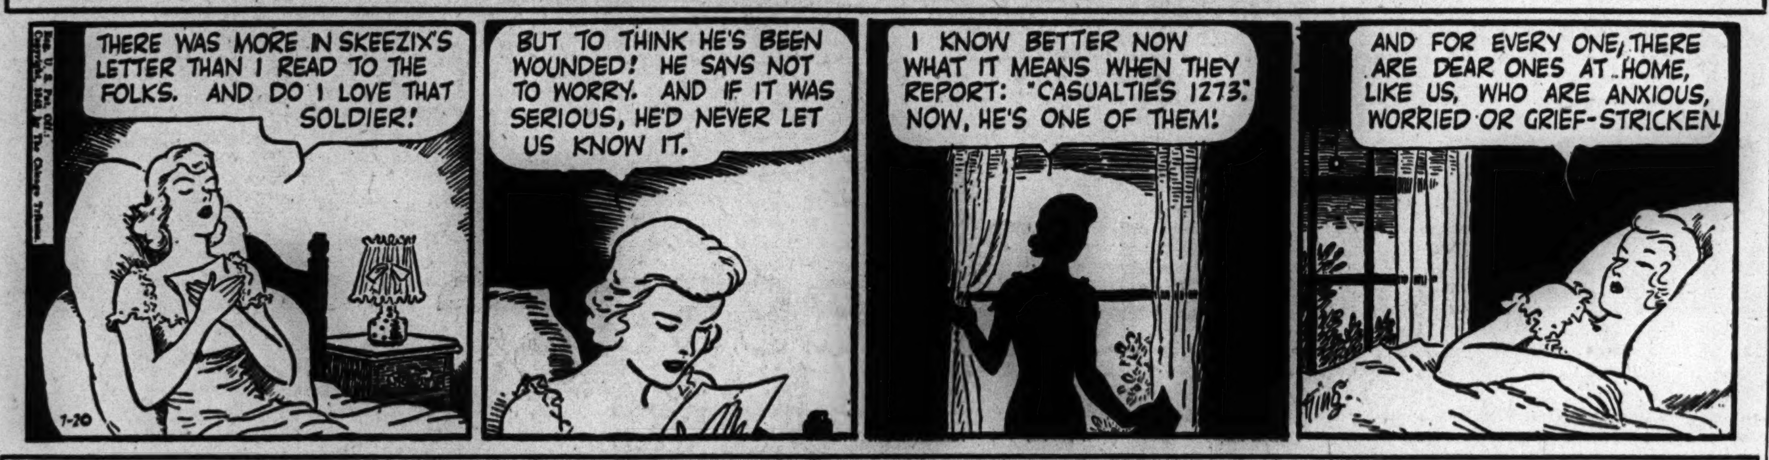
Chesterton Women Voters to Hear of Merit System Jobs

Mrs. Bradford L. Patton, vice president of municipal affairs for Cook County League of Women Voters, will address the Chesterton [Ind.] league at a meeting tomorrow in the Dune Acres home of Mrs. Lloyd R. Steere. Mrs. Steere formerly was a member of the south side Hyde Park league but, now residing for most of the year in Indiana, recently transferred to the Chesterton league.

Mrs. Patton's talk will center upon the reclassification of jobs under the merit system here, a subject which has a particular interest for Indiana league members, whose organization was instrumental in preserving the merit system in their state when it was under fire in the 1943 state general assembly.

Tomorrow morning Mrs. Patton will participate with Mrs. Edwin Harrington, president of the Chesterton league, and Hazel Hannell, Chicago artist, Chesterton group, in a League of Women Voters radio broadcast on world organization.

GASOLINE ALLEY—I LOVE THAT SOLDIER



THERE WAS MORE IN SKEEZIX'S LETTER THAN I READ TO THE FOLKS. AND DO I LOVE THAT SOLDIER!
BUT TO THINK HE'S BEEN WOUNDED! HE SAYS NOT TO WORRY. AND IF IT WAS SERIOUS, HE'D NEVER LET US KNOW IT.
I KNOW BETTER NOW WHAT IT MEANS WHEN THEY REPORT: "CASUALTIES 1273." NOW, HE'S ONE OF THEM!
AND FOR EVERY ONE, THERE ARE DEAR ONES AT HOME, LIKE US, WHO ARE ANXIOUS, WORRIED OR GRIEF-STRICKEN.

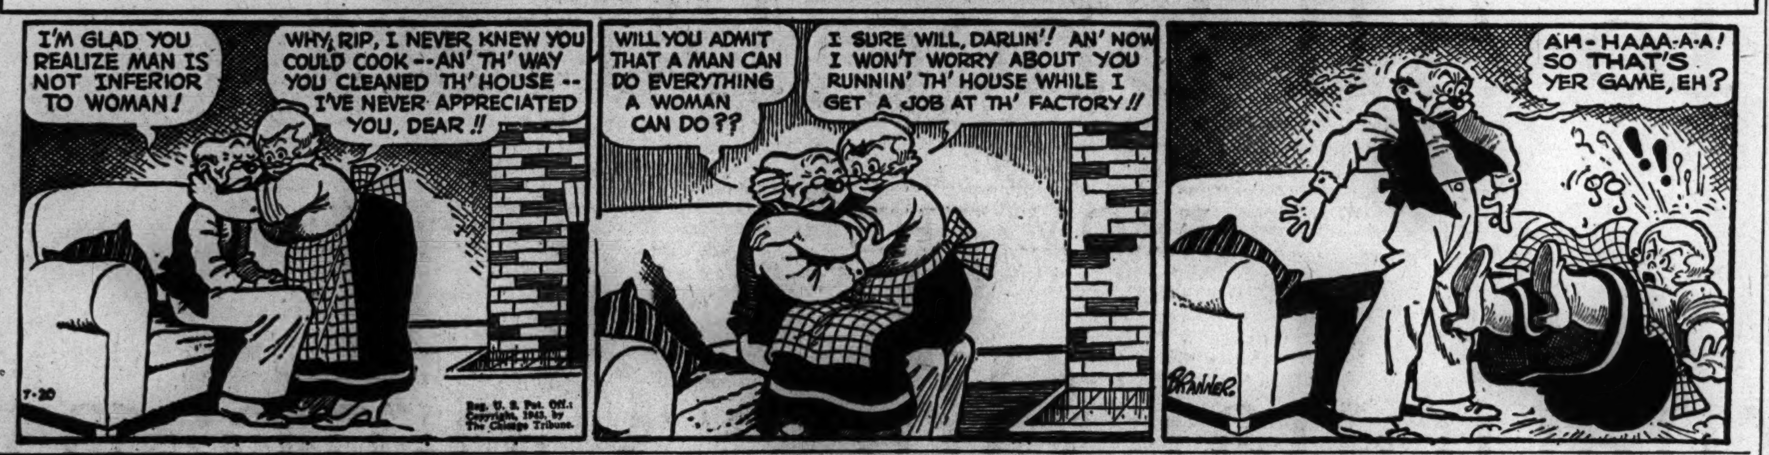
WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER—DISILLUSION



I'M GLAD YOU REALIZE MAN IS NOT INFERIOR TO WOMAN!
WHY, RIP, I NEVER KNEW YOU COULD COOK--AN' TH' WAY YOU CLEANED TH' HOUSE--I'VE NEVER APPRECIATED YOU, DEAR!!
WILL YOU ADMIT THAT A MAN CAN DO EVERYTHING A WOMAN CAN DO??
I SURE WILL, DARLIN'! AN' NOW I WON'T WORRY ABOUT YOU RUNNIN' TH' HOUSE WHILE I GET A JOB AT TH' FACTORY!!
AH-HAAA-A-A! SO THAT'S YER GAME, EH?

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., July 19.—Winfield Sheehan is wrestling with a casting problem in the story of Eddie Rickenbacker that's truly colossal. "Rickenbacker" deals not only with the living but the dead. The following will be impersonated on the screen—Secretary Stimson, the late Billy Mitchell, Gen. Marshall, Adm. Nimitz, Chiang Kai-shek and Mme. Chiang, Josef Stalin, Gen. Eisenhower, Churchill, Gen. Stilwell, Henry Ford, Gen. Pershing, Gen. Arnold, Hermann Goering, Ernst Udet, Gen. Milch, Gen. de Gaulle, Stanley Baldwin, Lady Astor, Hitler, Gandhi, Gen. MacArthur, Adm. Halsey, Gen. Wavell, Bernard Baruch, many other statesmen—and, of course Rickenbacker's companions on the 21 day ordeal on the raft. Rickenbacker had a memorable meeting with Hitler in '35, when Hitler showed him his plans for war. Few believed Rickenbacker's story. It's going to drag out an awful lot of history, and if the film's in color, many crimson faces will predominate on that screen.

Friend in Need.

Lots of excitement at a beauty shop here when Louise Fazenda met a pretty little 16 year old high school girl, Elaine Nelson, from Eagle Rock. Louise asked if she could sing. Yes, she was taking lessons—also dancing. Said Louise, "How about a screen test?" The girl looked mighty skeptical but reckoned she'd like one, and Louise said, "Come to Warner Brothers Monday and I'll see you get a good one. If it turns out well, I'll personally supervise your career." As Louise left the booth, she turned to Operator Helen Doren, and said, "Tell her I'm not an ogre—I'm all right." Then the youngster for the first time found out that Louise was the wife of Hal Wallis, the biggest producer on the Warner lot.

Wouldn't You?

Broadway's lost out again. Dorothy McGuire declared on the first day she began work in "Claudia" that she'd divide her time between movies and Broadway. She meant it. That was before she'd met John Swope. Now she'll divide her time between her duties as a wife at Phoenix, Ariz., and Hollywood. Dorothy and John met four months ago at Leland Hayward's house, were engaged only two weeks. They had a quiet wedding at the Haywards' on Sunday. . . . Might have known Capt. Jimmy Stewart, on leave here, was up to something momentous. He was. He was Swope's best man. 'Twas reported that Jimmy had been beauing Dinah Shore about, which was a mistake. Her leading man is Pvt. George Montgomery.

Short Shorts.

Joe Kennedy angels Freddie Lonsdale's play, "Love Story," which stars Roland Young. Roland's house is up for sale—all his belongings, including a priceless collection of penguins. . . . Betty Hutton wired from Fayetteville, N. C.: "I'm thru with Hollywood men. I've fallen in love with everybody from a yardbird to a general here." . . . Victor Moore became a chain smoker at the license bureau while his child bride, "Sweetie-Pie," took her driving test. . . . Paul Whiteman will use the baton presented to him by Arturo Toscanini in the Gershwin picture. It's his prize possession. . . . Pine and Thomas aim to do the life of Bernardo O'Higgins, the South American patriot. . . . Joan Fontaine is dying to do a revival of "Peter Pan" on the stage. Why not on the screen, Joan?

Same Old Sixpence.

Bob Hope had some swell gags on his English broadcast. One was "This is England—the place where Churchill visits when he leaves America." . . . There were so many delays in making the picture "Russia" that Gregory Ratoff's Metro friends called it his five year plan. . . . Andy Lawlor moved his bits and pieces from the Jaffe agency to Twentieth Century as a special talent scout.

Will History Repeat?

I'm off to have a look at Sam Goldwyn's beauties in "Up in Arms." Sam swears this is the prettiest bunch he's ever had. Remember in an Eddie Cantor picture, as chorus girls he had Paulette Goddard, Virginia Bruce, Lucille Ball, Betty Grable, and Shirley Ross?

NAIL CREME TREATMENT

Tense Mother Devotes Time to Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Nervous mothers need a new slant on their jobs. Here is a letter from a mother who tried to overcome her tendency in that direction and has succeeded:

"I want to tell you how I have helped myself. It may aid some one else.

"I have two fine youngsters, a 6 year old boy and a 3 year old girl. The little girl is the spunky and tempestuous type, but her temper spells are growing less, and she is becoming more reasonable and affectionate. But it often is hard to tell when I should spank her or when to ignore her, especially as I am the nervous high strung type myself.

"I am constantly busy, and often my youngsters' little troubles and countless questions nearly uproot my calm, if I don't keep a good grip on myself. But by reminding myself that their problems are just as big to them as mine are to me, I am able to handle them sanely. I find it doesn't take any more time to answer childish questions simply and constructively than it does to fling some angry impatient answer at them, and spoil their faith in me.

"If mothers of 2 year olds would take time out, regardless of their work, for a certain daily play period with their children, just drop everything and relax completely and just play with or watch them play, they couldn't help but see and enjoy the physical and mental unfolding.

"Mothers owe it to themselves as well as to their children. A child is only young once to enjoy, and there will be housework to do long after he is grown up and gone. Mothers should remember that many times a child's willfulness and wild seeming actions are just the result of the natural abundance of energy that a healthy, vigorous body always contains."

Cadet Nurse Corps to Wear Cross of Malta on Sleeves

Washington, D. C., July 19 [Special].—Members of the newly created United States cadet nurse corps, it was learned today, will wear the cross of Malta on the sleeves of their uniforms, a symbol that dates back far beyond Florence Nightingale to the very birth of nursing when, during the Crusades, those dedicated to tending the sick adopted the symbol.

On their caps and lapels the cadet nurses will wear the insignia of the United States public health service, a horizontal fouled anchor with a winged caduceus, the staff of Mercury, upright in the center.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

Mrs. E. H., 2240 North 22nd street, St. Joseph, Mo.: I have found that if I put two small rubber tipped door stops a few inches from the wall where I place the sofa, or love seat, they keep the furniture from being pushed against the wall and save the wall from marks and bruises.

Grace S., Chicago: I tried to remove some adhesive tape the other day which was certainly sticking to its position. I spread over it a oil of wintergreen which I had in the medicine cabinet. This penetrated the tape and loosened the adhesive.

Alice B., Evanston, Ill.: My eyes aren't any too good, and I keep a flashlight handy when I want to thread the needle of my sewing machine. Is it a help—and does it save on time—and frowns!

Mrs. Ted B., Peoria, Ill.: My husband helped us all to some extra and convenient space in our bathroom last month by installing little glass shelves on adjacent walls over our built-in tub. I believe he used grooved cleats to support the glass shelves.

Allied Artists in New Guinea Stage Exhibit

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, July 18 [Delayed]—The first art exhibit ever held in this savage outpost—some 45 paintings and drawings by allied service men ranging from chef to flyer and amateur to professional—is luring hundreds to the Red Cross hut where the exhibit is presented. The most amazing feature is the lack of actual combat scenes as tho artists were using this work as an outlet thru which to forget the uglier side of war. Even a painting titled, "Death in a Swamp," offers the tragedy of a plane crash against a lovely background. The only really grim entry, "The Battle of Milne Bay," shows a skeleton holding a Jap flag sitting disconsolately near a grave.

Visiting the exhibit this afternoon was especially satisfactory because of the presence of our favorite art critic, a young native named Varina, who knows nothing of art, but definitely knows what he likes. He dismissed a still life of jungle lilies as puzzling, but was emphatic in his pronouncement that "Dobudura" was not quite so puzzling because "Dobudura" is a place and needs on criticism.

The exhibit is directed by Miss Betty Thompson of Red Bluff, Cal. It represents the cream of 150 entries. It will be sent to the United States on tour on the chance that magazines or the public may make purchases if they desire.

Work by several professional artists was entered including that of 1st Lt. Robert L. Pierce of Lincoln, Neb., a fighter pilot, who did a jungle landscape, "The Tranquil Enemy," and several others including a cartoon, "Night Fighter," which shows one of the most typical New Guinea scenes. He portrays an irate soldier on all fours under a mosquito net hunting down mosquitoes with the aid of a flashlight.

Exhibits range from portraits and landscapes to cartoons. The latter include a scene showing natives leaning on their shovels and a sign nearby, "WPA."

Don't miss the exhibit if it reaches your town.

A Vital Message To All Shoe Buyers

FROM THE

International Shoe Company

Because there has been considerable misunderstanding regarding the quality of shoes now available to civilians, it is important that you become acquainted with the facts.

Perhaps this message from America's largest manufacturer of shoes will be helpful to you.

At present, our Government has first call on shoe materials. Millions of pairs of shoes are being manufactured annually for our armed forces. These shoes are built according to rigid government standards. Only the best materials and skilled workmanship are suitable. Neither you nor we would have it otherwise. Victory demands it.

But—does that mean good shoes—dependable shoes—are not to be had by civilians?

Not at all—you can still buy good shoes. The honor and integrity of the International Shoe Company stand behind that statement.

We, as well as other shoe manufacturers, could make more shoes were we willing to disregard quality—but quality is the essence of this message—and this company is determined not to use present conditions as an excuse for lowering the moral standards of its product—standards maintained for more than forty years.

Despite heavy demand from our armed forces, there is still a sufficient quantity of good, serviceable shoe material available to meet essential civilian requirements. We assure you that we will continue to manufacture shoes that will return full value for your dollar—and satisfactory shoe mileage.

You may continue to have confidence in the shoes made for men, women, and children by this company. We shall keep faith with the wearers of our shoes.

INDIANA AMATEUR LEADS AT TAM O'SHANTER

EAST'S LEADING FULL BACK JOINS COLLEGE ALL-STARS

FILIPOWICZ OF FORDHAM WILL REPORT AUG. 7

Adept at Plunging and Passing.

All-Star Roster

THE following college foot ball players have accepted invitations to join the All-Star squad which will meet the Washington Redskins Aug. 25:

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Steve Filipowicz, the best back Fordham university has had in a decade and a unanimous choice for all-eastern football honors for three years, has accepted an invitation to join the All-Stars for their game with the Washington Redskins in Dyche stadium Aug. 25.

With Filipowicz ready to play the 1943 All-Star squad now has three of the finest full backs in all sections of the country. The others are Pat Harder of Wisconsin and Roy McKay of Texas.

Filipowicz started each Fordham football game for three seasons and except for those infrequent occasions when he was taken out for minor injuries, he played 60 minutes of each game. This record, without further statistical background, indicates the high regard of Lt. Comdr. Jimmy Crowley, his coach, and Earl Walsh, who headed Fordham's football staff last fall.

Steve combines a line crashing type of attack with other abilites which would assure him a place in almost any back field for he is the best forward passer the Rams have had since Ed Danowski and he also averaged 39 yards on punts last season. In the last two years Filipowicz completed 58 of 174 forward passes that netted 1,230 yards, gained 977 yards in 216 rushes, scored 11 touchdowns, and threw nine touchdown passes.

Awarded C. Y. O. Trophy.

In 1941 and 1942 Steve was awarded the Catholic Youth organization trophy for outstanding play in the Fordham-St. Mary's game in New York. The Rams won last year, 7 to 0, for one of their five victories against three defeats and a scoreless tie with North Carolina. While this was Fordham's most indifferent season in the three Filipowicz played, Steve actually carried more than his full share of responsibility because of the loss of veteran players.

Filipowicz was chosen as metropolitan full back at the conclusion of the 1942 campaign, an honor New York sports writers also had accorded him for the previous two seasons, and he starred on the east team which defeated the west in San Francisco New Year's day. Steve scored the touchdown which whipped the west, 13 to 12. Filipowicz contributed to Fordham's victory over Missouri in the 1942 Sugar bowl game and he starred in the Cotton bowl game in 1941 in Dallas, Tex., when the Rams were beaten by Texas A. & M.

He's in Marine Corps.

Filipowicz is 22 years of age, weighs 195 pounds, and is 5 feet 8 inches tall. His home is in Kulpmont, Pa., where he attended high school. He is enlisted in the marine

Gloriant Wins Mackinac Run by 37 Seconds

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 19 [Special].—Gloriant, entry in the Universal division, won the annual Chicago to Mackinac Island yacht race today in one of the closest and most dramatic finishes in the 36 year history of the event.

Gloriant, owned by Vitas Thomas, 23 year old Marquette university Naval R. O. T. C. midshipman and skippered by her former owner, Tony Herrmann, finished 37 seconds ahead of Falcon II., last year's universal division winner. Gloriant crossed the finish line at 6:32.26 for an elapsed time of 53 hours, 32 minutes and 26 seconds and a corrected time of 51:55.25.

Falcon and Gloriant approached the finish line in racing trim with Falcon in the lead. The two Q class racers were moving only about 2½ miles per hour and Skipper Hermann edged the Racine sloop to windward of the defender to win the historic Mackinac cup, first competed for in 1906.

Trident Finishes Third.

Following Gloriant and Falcon was the 56 foot yawl Trident, flagship of the Chicago Yacht club, first of the cruising division to complete the course.

Southern Cross, Robert Benedict's Jackson Park Yacht club yawl, was in A class of the cruising division. The White Cloud, the 1942 cruising time prize winner, now owned by Phil Hill and George Sollitt of the Chicago Yacht club, finished second to Southern Cross, less than two minutes astern.

Takes Temporary Lead.

John T. Snite of the Chicago Yacht club sailed his 44 foot yawl Tahuna into Mackinac harbor at 7:56.46 p. m. tonight, putting it temporarily into the lead with a corrected time of 47 hours 59 minutes and 43 seconds.

An hour later Lassie, sailed by its new owner, William J. Lawrie, of the South Shore [Milwaukee] Yacht club, crossed the finish line. Being a 36 footer, it is given considerable time allowance by the larger Tahuna. Lassie's corrected time of 47:42:55 is nearly eight minutes faster than Tahuna, for first place in the entire cruising division as well as in B class.

Hear Hunters Face Heavy Cut in Ammunition

BY BOB BECKER.

Altho a government official has stated that some shotgun ammunition will be released for hunters this fall, indications are that it will not be enough to take a normal harvest of duck, geese, pheasants, rabbits, and other wild game.

The writer yesterday learned from a reliable source that at a recent meeting held in the east to discuss rifle and shotgun ammunition for civilian use, it was suggested that 100,000,000 shotgun shells be released to hunters for 12, 16, and 20 gauge guns, all shells to be loaded with either 4, 6 or 7½ shot. The plan provided no shells for trap or skeet shooting but it does call for the manufacture of some rifle cartridges for deer hunters.

If only 100,000,000 shotgun shells will be available to hunters for the fall hunting season this will be between one-sixth and one-seventh of the number usually fired by hunters in a normal year.

While various government organizations are trying to decide on a program to make a limited amount of ammunition available to civilians this fall, shells bought for skeet and trap shooting have been frozen.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

TODAY'S example of what the schools of the Western conference are doing for war time football is Purdue university, which, with only one of last year's 15 letter men certain to return, is facing the heaviest schedule in its history. . . . The Boilermakers, opening with Great Lakes on Sailors' field Sept. 18, and closing with the traditional Indiana battle in Lafayette on Nov. 20, will play on 10 consecutive Saturdays. . . . The balance of the card is Marquette at Milwaukee, Illinois at Lafayette, Camp Grant at Lafayette, Ohio State at Cleveland, Iowa at Lafayette, Wisconsin at Madison, Minnesota at Minneapolis, and Michigan State at Lafayette. . . . The returning letter man is Ed Cycenas, right half back from Chicago who is taking Navy V-12 training. . . . Since announcing their schedule the Boilermakers have been informed that a number of stars from other schools have been ordered to the Lafayette campus for military training, but the point is the heavy schedule was arranged in advance . . . . Purdue was determined to do its part whether or not a representative team was available. . . . Headed by Bob Higgins, who is starting his 16th season on the job, the Penn State football coaching staff is an all-alumni affair. . . . The others, with their periods of service, are: Joe Bedenk, line coach, 14th year, and Al Michaels, Earle Edwards, and Marty McAndrews, all seven-year men. . . . Clint Brown, the former Indian and White Sox relief specialist, has had several offers to return to baseball. . . . The only one that interested him was a chance to break in as an umpire, but he turned that down, too, in the interests of his big chicken farm. . . . Miss Eilleen Ryan has left the White Sox office staff after 17 years of service. . . .

Cleveland writers class Thurman [Specs] Tucker of the White Sox with Joe Di Maggio and Terry Moore as a fielding center fielder. . . . Buck Reavely, Michigan State catcher, must be about the busiest man on the campus. . . . After catching State's game with Selfridge Field the other day, he hustled off to work a seven inning contest in the Lansing City league. . . . At 11 p. m. he reported for his regular shift in a war factory and at 8 a. m. the next day was in class. . . . Buck apparently has figured out a way to live without sleeping. . . . One of the new stars of the Pacific Coast league is Harold Hoffmann, Portland catcher, who was sent to the Beavers by Charley Grimm of the Milwaukee Brewers. . . . Hoffmann, a former Spencer Coals [Chicago] sandlotter, threw out the first three opposing runners who tried to steal on him. . . . A bit of philosophy from the creed of Slip Madigan, Iowa's new coach: "If you make a mistake on offense you spoil only the play or series of plays and you punt. If you err on defense, the other fellow gets 6 points." . . . Harry Wismer of Detroit will broadcast all Washington Redskin football games this season.

Housecleaning.

The time has come to clean my heart,
To make each corner shining, new,
To throw all windows wide and high,
To dust out all my thoughts of you.
I'll sweep the shadows out the door;
I'll keep the sunshine streaming thru,
The tears I'll wash across the floor—
Erase the footprints left by you;
I'll take your picture from the wall,
Resolve to put it far away.
And yet I find the outline's there—
The mem'ry of your face to stay.

The house is clean—my heart is new

But, what's the use? I hate the

IT'S ASKMENOW IN TUNEUP FOR $50,000 RACE

Beats Occupation Half a Length.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Askmenow, Hal Price Headley's filly which won the recent Matron stakes, yesterday dealt a blow to Occupation's prospects in Saturday's $50,000 Arlington Classic. She beat the 1942 juvenile money winning champion by half a length in the Challenger purse, which headed yesterday's Arlington program at Washington Park. Bourmont, a Classic candidate owned by Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan, was third in this gallop of a mile and a furlong which was designed as a tuneup for horses eligible to run in Saturday's rich stake.

This was the first time that John Marsch's Occupation was asked to go anywhere near as far as he'll be required to travel if his handlers expect him to figure in the major events for 3 year olds remaining on the season's schedule.

Over Longer Route Saturday.

His failure to withstand Askmenow's strong finish wasn't taken as conclusive evidence that he'll never be able to go a route. However, this was Occupation's last chance to get ready for the job which he'll face at a mile and a quarter Saturday.

Occupation was the even money favorite, the Headley entry of Askmenow and All Hoss being held at 3 to 1. The winner paid $8.60, $2.60, and $2.40.

Occupation got away from the gate with his usual alertness, but Burnt Cork went out to run with him. They were side by side on the swing around the clubhouse turn. As they headed down the back stretch Lyle Whiting took Occupation under restraint, letting Burnt Cork forge ahead to an advantage of a neck. The early pace was by no means fast enough to account for Occupation's weakening toward the finish. It was :48 2-5 for the half and 1:14 for the three-quarters.

Askmenow Takes Her Time.

While Burnt Cork and Occupation were striding along in the lead Askmenow was racing in third position about five lengths farther back. On the turn approaching the stretch there was a general closing in on the leaders.

At the head of the stretch Askmenow and Bourmont both came up with a strong challenge. Burnt Cork began to tire as the stretch run progressed. Occupation and Askmenow were head and head midway thru the straightaway. In the later stages the filly gradually forged ahead and was half a length in the lead as they went over the line.

The outcome of this race made it probable that Headley will send Askmenow into the Classic. His other likely starter, All Hoss, was fourth yesterday, 10 lengths behind Bourmont. Famous Victory, the horse which Greentree stable shipped here for the Classic, gave an unimpressive performance to finish sixth in the field of seven.

Sox Fold After Scoring Five in First; Lose to Dodgers, 7-5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 19.—The White Sox had a look at baseball's hall of fame today and for additional amusement took a peek at Leo Durocher's wilted Brooklyn Dodgers. However, the Chicagoans derived no pleasure from the latter part of their visit to the spot made famous by Abner Doubleday. They were taken apart, 7 to 5, by the National leaguers, who refused to be disturbed despite the fact that the Sox pelted them with five runs in the first inning.

Eddie Smith, off the suspended list after 10 days in the dog house, appeared to have profited little by his enforced payless vacation. The Dodgers polished off Eddie with four runs in the second inning and slapped him into defeat with two more in the fifth, whereupon he was taken out of circulation. The other Brooklyn run was at the expense of Jake Wade, but it was tainted by one of the four errors of which the Sox were guilty.

Sox Attack, Then Subside.

The Sox stepped off with their handsome first inning lead by taking liberties with what was thrown at them by old Freddy Fitzsimmons. The patriarch was peppered with a salvo of five hits, one a homer by Joe Kuhel, a wallop duplicated a few minutes later by Dolph Camilli. With this five run splurge out of their system the Sox went into retirement. They produced only one more hit against Fitzsimmons and only two against Frank Melton, who performed during he last six innings.

The Sox developed their surprising first inning power after Wally Moses had fanned. The five run parade got under way on singles by Thurman Tucker and Guy Curtright, both scoring on Luke Appling's triple to center. A popup disposed of Ralph Hodgin and Appling sauntered home on over the left field wall. Doubleday field isn't exactly spacious and such batting feats are recorded as doubles. Additional abuse for Fred Fitzsimmons came with Kuhel's two run homer into the right field seats.

DICK M'CREARY SHOOTS 72 IN ALL-AMERICA

Five Tie for Second with 73s.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Richard McCreary, Jr., a roundish and amiable young Hoosier who is in the baking business in Indianapolis, yesterday kneaded himself a tasty par 72 to lead the field in the first 18 holes of the qualifying round of the All-American amateur golf tournament at the Tam o' Shanter Country club.

The ingredients of Mr. McCreary's pastry included five birdies, three of them being whipped into the batter in succession. The 26 year old Richard's confection not only gave him a one-stroke lead on the field of nearly 250 golfers who will enter today's final 18 holes of medal play, but also touched off the seven-day merry-go-round which will see three All-American champions, open, amateur, and women's, crowned by Sunday evening.

Breaks Up Conspiracy.

McCreary, Indianapolis district champion, winner of his state title in 1937 and runner-up for same last week, served up his 72 just in time to break up a 73 conspiracy among three former North Shore caddies and Bob Cochran, 29 year old St. Louis paper salesman, who is Missouri's No. 1 amateur. Cochran had to sink a 20-foot putt on the 18th for the birdie which enabled him to tie the three lads from the North Side who were off by themselves until he and McCreary arrived.

And just when that foursome thought they had a slight corner on the second scoring spot, along came Officer Frank Hayes, of the plain clothes detail at the Racine Avenue police station. Frank arrived at 8:20 o'clock with the 73, which didn't give him too much time to report for midnight duty. He is current champ of the police department, and was low man in the Knights of Columbus Police and Fire section at Elmhurst last Wednesday.

Miller Furnishes Climax.

The perfect climax to the day's confusion, which began at precisely 7:02 a. m., came at 8:41 p. m., when Herman Miller, a tool salesman from Grand Rapids, Mich., who had dashed over the front nine in par 36, came to the last green with two putts for a 73 from 50 feet above the pin. He approached within less than six feet, but missed the putt and settled for the 74 which deadlocked him with John Lenzini of Sunset Valley; Jack Coyle Jr. of Springfield, Ill., and Walter Kroll of South Bend, Ind.

The cards for the leaders follow:

The North Shore trio has been heard from before. It includes 32 year old Bill Chambers, storekeeper, third class at the Great Lakes naval station, and 30 year old Frank Kovack and 25 year old Frank Perpich, both registered from Waukegan's Bonnie Brook daily fee course, where Storekeeper Chambers used to play a lot of golf himself.

Trio Has Background.

Sailor Bill, who went on night duty at 6 o'clock last evening, twice was runner-up for the Western Junior title in his teens and also was a state finalist. Kovack, employe of a North Shore utility firm, introduced himself in earnest in the 1942 All-American by defeating the favored John David and Bob Cochran in the first two rounds, then went on to the semi-finals of the Chicago National amateur. Perpich, who gained an Evans caddy scholarship at Northwestern, led all Chi-

CUBS WILL SEEK 9TH IN ROW OVER BOSTON COUSINS

Open Series Tomorrow in Wrigley Field.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The fifth place Cubs will exercise vigorously in Wrigley field this morning, the better to sharpen themselves for the reception of their most beloved cousins, the Boston Braves. Tomorrow the Chicagoans will be seeking their ninth victory in nine starts against Casey Stengel's valiants and Hi Bithorn, the rising Cubs' winningest pitcher, will go after his 11th favorable decision.

The series with the Braves will consist of four games, two of which will be played as a double header on Thursday. The set will be terminated Friday with a single game.

Giants Follow Braves.

Following the Braves will come the Giants, who have been very rough with the Cubs this year despite their many reversals against other competition. Mel Ott's proteges also will be here for four games, two single games with a double header in the middle, said double header being set for next Sunday.

The quarrelsome Brooklyn Dodgers will be here for only two working days, July 28 and 30, but they will play three games during their brief stay, a double header having been arranged for July 28.

The disillusioned Phillies will wind up the invasion by easterners. They will play July 31, Aug. 1, and Aug. 3, with a double header on Aug. 1. After the easterners go home the Cubs and the Cincy Reds will play a five game series.

Pitchers in Top Shape.

Manager Jim Wilson faces the invaders with his pitching staff in fine shape, providing his starters go thru in a majority of instances. Paul Derringer suffered half of the six defeats the Cubs met in their recent 19 game eastern trip but Lake Michigan's cool breezes are expected to revive the big right hander. Paul has lost little of his old competitive fire but simply seems to suffer from fits of weariness. This year Paul has been at his best with the thermometer ranging between 72 degrees and 74 degrees—not too cool and not too hot.

Claude Passeau, who won four victories without a defeat on the recent trip, is in peak form, and so is Henry Wyse, who won three without a defeat on the journey just ended.

ILLINOIS RACING BOARD ACTS TO AVERT STRIKES

The Illinois racing board yesterday adopted a ruling making it binding upon all horsemen, jockeys, stable hands, and track employés to comply with the advertised conditions under which a meeting is conducted, once they have accepted those conditions, directly or indirectly. Under the provisions of this measure, any one refusing to continue his phase of the operations would be liable to disbarment from the turf.

This action was generally regarded as an anti-strike law designed to put teeth into handling a situation which has been smouldering since the start of the current Arlington Park meeting. Owners and trainers have held a number of conferences in the last couple of weeks and have asked the management to modify the conditions of the meeting so as to provide more opportunity for the cheaper grade of horses.

B. F. Lindheimer, executive director of Arlington Park and Washington Park, has taken the stand that the conditions of the coördinated meetings were announced far in advance and that all horsemen had adequate knowledge that the competition would be difficult during Chicago's midsummer racing.

RAY LEWIS PUTS DAWSON AWAY IN FOURTH ROUND

Marigold Defeat First in 11 Pro Bouts.

Ray Lewis, 1941 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight champion, knocked out Fred Dawson, former Catholic Youth organization title holder, in the fourth round of their scheduled eight round bout in Marigold outdoor arena last night. It was Dawson's first defeat in 11 professional starts and came as somewhat of a surprise to the 1,822 spectators, who contributed to a gross gate of $3,054.

Honor Dr. Lagorio's Memory.

Before Robert Simmons, Indianapolis welterweight, beat Tommy James in an eight-round secondary feature, a tribute was paid to the memory of Dr. Frank A. Lagorio, chief medical examiner of the Illinois Athletic commission, who died recently. The spectators stood while Timer Charles Tow rang the big bell at the ringside 10 times. Members of the Illinois Athletic commission will attend the funeral at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at Assumption church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Andy [K. O.] Morgan, colorful Detroit bantamweight, scored a decision in six rounds over Eddie [Kid] Carson. Gene Simmons, middleweight brother of Robert, pounded out a victory in five rounds over Mike Sopko of Indiana Harbor.

Fort Custer boxers will meet a Savoy Athletic club team in a series of amateur bouts tonight in the Savoy arena, 47th street and South park way.

Smith handed free passage to Camilli with one out in the fifth and the one run Sox lead quickly was turned into a one run deficit. Owen tripled into the right field corner to score Camilli with the tying run and then counted on a blooping single by Bragan.

The Sox left tonight for Boston where they open their eastern tour Wednesday with a double header.

The gents who figured to be in front after yesterday's opener didn't fare as well as expected. Among these were Art Doering of the home club, former trans-Mississippi champion, who had a 76; Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., runner-up for last year's title, who took a homeward 40 for a 78; Steve Kovach of Pittsburgh, and Jim Frisina of Taylorville, Ill., each with 78s; Chick Evans of Edgewater and Randy Ahern of Detroit, with 79s, and Gus Moreland of Peoria, with an 80.

Louis Shoots 87.

Up there among the 87s was Sgt. Joe Louis, the world's heavyweight boxing champion, who settled for a 44—43—87. This included a terrific drive to the fourth, traveling 290 yards, and an eight at the 500 yard 15th, where, after putting his first four shots out of bounds, the sergeant hammered a 3 iron out of the deep rough, chipped up to six feet and sank the putt for a technical birdie. Even tho Joe doesn't qualify for the amateur match play, he has agreed to play a round each day of the long party.

The amateurs will conclude their medal play today, with the low 64 scorers for the 36 holes gaining the match play brackets. These will open tomorrow with two 18 hole bouts, but they won't be alone on the course. Twenty-nine women swingers, led by Patty Berg of Minneapolis and Elizabeth Hicks of the SPARS will play an 18 hole round for the 18 places in the women's tournament proper, to be decided at 18 holes a day on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Others Start Tomorrow.

Those professionals who are not exempt also will go to work tomorrow in an 18 hole test which will fill out the All-American Open field of 200 places not taken by the 64 amateur qualifiers and those pros whose past performances have excused them from the trial. The amateurs still involved in match play on Thursday and thru Saturday's 36 hole championship match can submit their scores in the Open by playing out a full round on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

THE ARMY PICKS UP SHORT WAVE AUDIENCE IN U.S.

The invasion of Sicily has focused the attention of short-wave listeners on the United States army's radiotelephone operated station in North Africa. Thru it come the communiques and announcements of new developments. Short wave listeners eavesdropping on its transmissions sometimes can hear the sending of news dispatches to American newspapers and reports to their home offices by network commentators.

The station operates on 16.022 megacycles from 6:45 to 8:45 a. m. and on 8.96 megacycles from 4:15 to 6:30 p. m. Reports on reception may be addressed to Allied Force Headquarters, Public Relations branch, APO 512, Postmaster, New York City.

Besides this "voice" station the army also operates a powerful station in North Africa employing six telegraph channels for communications between allied headquarters and Washington.

THE QUESTION.

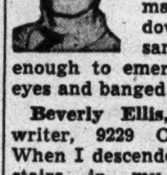
Did you ever show off and regret it?

WHERE ASKED.

Standard Oil building, 910 South Michigan avenue.

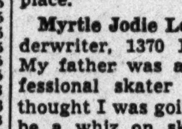
THE ANSWERS.

Joyce Kempf, record clerk, 1114 Balmoral avenue—After I learned to swim I thought I'd show people how well I was doing. They warned me about swimming out too far but I assured them I could tread water if I tired. I had to tread all right but on the bottom of the lake. I felt foolish when they had to drag me out.



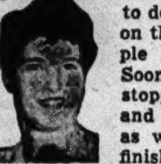
Jack Rosenberg, mailcarrier, 4909 North Avers avenue—There was a time when I wasn't a bad hockey player. When I saw some boys playing the game I had to show them how it should be done. I made a play right down center and was sandwiched in long enough to emerge with two black eyes and banged up shins.

Beverly Ellis, insurance underwriter, 9229 Oakley boulevard—When I descended the stairs in my new formal gown I held my head high and imagined I looked somewhat queenly as I entered the ballroom. I concentrated so much on making an impression that I missed the bottom step and fell.



Shirley Alvis, student, 524 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park—Our party seemed dull so somebody suggested I liven things up with a solo jitterbug dance. Before I had scarcely begun I felt clumsy and conspicuous and didn't know where to stop. I found the limelight wasn't always a comfortable place.

Myrtle Jodie Leach, insurance underwriter, 1370 East 54th street—My father was a professional skater so I thought I was going to be a whiz on skates. One day I thought I was cutting quite a figure in my new short suit. The performance reached its climax when I made a crash landing.



Mrs. George A. Pangburn, housewife, 2861 Belden avenue—When my husband and I started to do some fancy steps on the dance floor people gathered around. Soon every one had stopped to watch us and we loved it. Just as we were about to finish the final whirl my heel caught on my skirt and tripped both of us.

OPA IS PLAYING POLITICS, SAYS OUSTED CHIEF

Republican Loses Post as Rent Director.

Rockford, Ill., July 19 [Special].—The office of price administration was accused by Warren A. MacCollum, Rockford OPA area rent director until today, of ousting him from the post because he is a Republican. He declared he would appeal the action to the civil service commission.

"The regional OPA office in Chicago tried repeatedly to get me to resign," MacCollum said. "They brought all sorts of pressure on me and told me they had so many charges against me they would ruin my reputation if I didn't resign. But I refused and so I was dismissed."

From McKeough's Office.

MacCollum said he received the dismissal notice, which became effective today, from Benjamin Baltzer, regional OPA executive in the Chicago office of OPA Administrator Raymond S. McKeough.

It charged him with failure to acquaint himself with rent regulations, absence from duty, and inability to maintain staff morale, and of using government time to conduct his personal affairs.

MacCollum, who has been rent director ever since rent control machinery was set up more than a year ago, observed that it wasn't likely he would change in a month to the inefficiency of which he is accused.

Praised in Letters.

"I have in my files a letter from Baltzer, terming me one of the most efficient directors in his six state area," he asserted. "My rating in May was that my work was entirely satisfactory. Could it have entirely gone to pieces in a month?

"I have no doubt that this pressure and the final action was brought against me because I am a Republican. I entered the job under protests from opposing political factions and, altho I operated the office entirely free of politics, it has been a tough job at best."

DENIES REASONS POLITICAL.

Benjamin Baltzer, regional OPA rent director, said yesterday that Warren A. MacCollum's charge that he was outed for political reasons "is entirely false." He said MacCollum was dismissed because "I didn't feel that he was doing the work, he couldn't grasp the regulations and there were just too many complaints about him."

MORE BABY FOOD AND CANNED MILK GO TO CIVILIANS

Civilians will get 2,500,000 more cases of canned milk and baby foods, and 4,500,000 more of prunes, pumpkin, sweet potatoes, apples, and apple sauce than was expected this year, the war production board said yesterday in revising tin plate quotas for can manufacturers. There will be a corresponding decrease in canned peaches, apricots, cherries, and some other fruits, it was said.

The war food administration announced yesterday that the percentage of cheese and butter reserved for government purchase would be decreased during August, September and October. During August butter producers will reserve 40 per cent of their output for war uses. The September and October reserve quotas were set at 30 per cent. During May, June and July the producers were required to hold 50 per cent for government use.

Cheese to be held for government use was scaled down from 70 per cent during the recent summer months to 60 per cent during August and September and 50 per cent in October.

The WFA said civilians are expected to have available approximately 300,000,000 pounds of butter out of an estimated 440,000,000 pound production and 92,000,000 of cheddar cheese from an estimated 200,000,000 pound production thru August, September and October. In addition, it said civilians should have available during the three months about 100,000,000 pounds of farm butter and about 35,000,000 pounds of cheese other than cheddar.

PROBE WOMAN'S DEATH ON TRAIN; ORDER ANALYSIS

Mrs. Martha Brooks, 55 years old, Beverly Hills, Cal., who was found dead in the berth of a Pennsylvania railroad train Saturday, apparently died of an overdose of a sleeping potion but a chemical anaylsis will be made, Pasquale Venetucci, deputy coroner, said at the inquest held in Chicago yesterday. A note to her husband, Stephen, a New York manufacturer, was found in her compartment.

A CANNING BEE! THAT'S HINSDALE WOMEN'S FORTE

Turning War Gardens Into Preserves.

The first war canning bee of the Hinsdale Canning association got under way last night in the basement of Unity Unitarian church. Thirty-five women of the commuity went to work amid an array of steaming machinery to pack vegetables from their war gardens. In the next 10 weeks the association expects to pack 100,000 cans of home grown foods.

Somebody had bet somebody a hat three days ago that it would be weeks before the association could get started, but last night the machinery was running smoothly. The women, who had been instructed as to methods of mass production, were at their posts and the canning of the first beets and beans and tomatoes from the gardens was accomplished.

Women Give a Day a Week.

The women have pledged to donate at least one day a week to help their neighbors can their foods. Some will work at the preparation tables, where the vegetables are readied for blanching, cold soaking, and packing. They will tend the exhaust tank that removes air from open cans, operate the sealing machine and the pressure cookers in which the sealed product is processed.

The equipment used in these processes has been begged, borrowed, or bought, said Mrs. J. B. Lamson, president of the canning association. The 18 horse power tubular vertical boiler that generates the steam for the pressure cookers was borrowed from the Food Distribution administration. Other private or governmental units lend-leased other equipment.

The association was formed last April, when residents of Hinsdale, preparing for another season of war gardening, figured that more than 50 tons of vegetables had been left rotting in soil last year because gardeners lacked the equipment to preserve. Determined that it shouldn't happen again, the association was formed, under the sponsorship of the village office of civilian defense, and incorporated, not for profit.

$2,500 Subscribed.

The money to start the project—about $2,500—was raised thru subscription, and the donor will probably get it back when the association begins to pay its own way. The cost to the gardener is 5 cents per can. The association expects to do a land office business, with 1,500 war gardens developing in the community. Invitations have been extended to residents of other villages to use the facilities.

Gardeners who have grown more than they care to can for their own use are being urged to donate the garden greens to the association, which has planned a food bank for the village, to be used in emergency.

ORDER FREEZING OF MENU PRICES IN EASTERN AREA

Food and Drink Rates Set at April Level.

New York, July 19 [Special].—The regional office of price administrator announced today the freezing of prices on all foods and drinks served in eating and drinking establishments in five states and the District of Columbia. An estimated 250,000 restaurants and taverns are affected in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware.

The freezing will take effect one minute after midnight next Sunday night, regional OPA Administrator Sylvan L. Joseph said. Prices thereafter must be not more than those charged during the week of April 4 to 10 of this year.

Both intoxicating and soft drinks are included in the order.

Special Holiday Prices.

If higher prices were charged customarily for meals on holidays the owners "may continue to maintain the customary differentials."

Restaurants are prohibited from dropping food items from meals, from lowering the quality and quantity without making adequate price adjustments. They may limit a customer to one cup of coffee and one dab of butter. Condiments, as catsup, chili sauce, etc., may be reduced or eliminated.

Call for Record Keeping.

Orders are issued for the keeping of elaborate records by the eating and drinking places. Penalties for failure to do so include, besides the usual criminal punishments, suits for treble damages and suspension of licenses.

Some of the exemptions quoted were for churches, hospitals, and dining cars on railroads and other common carriers. The last named, however, are under a national control which was recently established.

Administrator Joseph reported large numbers of war workers recently had bitterly complained that prices had been shoved upward without any apparent reason. Joseph commented that some eating places had tacked on a boost "as high as 25 per cent." He said the OPA has on file the typical menus of restaurants, obtained when they applied for ration points.

Ready to Amend Edict.

Asked about possible injustices coming from a flat order of this type, he replied:

"Our purpose is not to put any operator of business. We have established machinery for amendment at any time to take care of excessive squeezes or other hardships for restaurant owners."

Joseph said a special staff is being set up to "police the restaurant industry." He said they will be persons of practical experience in restaurant food matters. He said the OPA enforcement also will rely upon public coöperation.

FARMERS GIVE OPA RAZZBERRY ON RASPBERRIES

T. G. Driscoll, district director of OPA in St. Paul, when asked for an explanation of what occurred, said:

"The farmers who were openly and flauntingly defiant of the OPA regulations will be punished."

When the market opened this morning some farmers contended that OPA inspectors did not know what the ceiling prices were. After considerable delay and much discussion some set the price at $5 a crate and started selling, OPA inspectors said.

Eastern Leg of 'Big Inch' Ready for Oil

Phoenixville, Pa., July 19 (AP).—"Big Inch," the oil pipe line built to help solve an acute national problem, was completed today near here, 1,341 miles from the western end at Longview, Tex.

But Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, looking on as pipe line workers welded the final section, warned that the oil flowing thru the 24 inch tube is not intended for civilians.

The nation's problem, Ickes said, "is to assure that our fighting men and machines go into battle confident that behind them there is no break in the line of petroleum supply, no limit to the volume of oil they need for the bloody job of blasting every enemy into unconditional defeat."

Jones Praises Industry.

Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, in a message read by Chairman C. B. Henderson of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, noted that the pipe line was built in 350 days, at a cost of approximately 5 million dollars less than the original 100 million dollar allocation.

President W. Alton Jones of War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., replied that the oil industry is proud to be able to prevent any breakdown in the flow of oil for war purposes.

Final Ceremony Simple.

The final ceremony was brief, attended by only a few hundred spectators, among them oil company executives and pipe line workers. A hundred yards across the valley riveting continued on the first of at least 15 storage tanks, each designed to hold 85,000 barrels.

Two powerful cranes tugged the heavy pipe into position. Electric welding arcs flared for a few moments; then the job was done. "Big Inch" was ready to go to war.

REPORT APPEAL ON MILWAUKEE PLAN IS DENIED

Washington, D. C., July 19 [Special]. — The interstate commerce commission has denied the petition of the protective committee for holders of Milwaukee road 5 per cent bonds of 1975, asking permission for filing a modification to the commission plan of reorganization, it was learned today.

The committee based its appeal on the large amount of cash on hand, contending that security holders should benefit thru reallocation of securities and distribution of cash. The ICC said further hearing was set for tomorrow, to receive evidence solely on matters requiring further consideration under court rulings.

It also was learned that the road itself had filed a petition for reconsideration of the entire plan on the basis of earnings and the cash position.

ICKES INCREASES OIL QUOTAS FOR AUGUST; ILLINOIS FLOW IS CUT

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP).—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, as petroleum administrator, today called for a net increase of 96,100 barrels daily in oil production for August.

The production rate was set at 4,424,600 barrels daily, compared with 4,328,500 this month, in certifications to oil-producing states.

Important changes called for increases of 90,000 barrels daily for Texas and 25,000 barrels daily for Louisiana. Illinois production was ordered cut 10,200 barrels to a daily flow of 222,800.

ORDERS ANSWER TO PROTEST OF SALE OF HOTEL

Judge Charles A. Williams of the Superior court yesterday ordered the Chicago Title and Trust comnay and other interested parties to file answers within five days to a petition of Harry Victor, a bondholder who objected to the proposed sale of the Shoreland hotel for $1,050,000.

The Shoreland has been managed by the trust company, as receiver, for many years. Atty. Carroll A. Teller, for Victor, said the bondholders had not been told the name of the bidder for the property, which is at 5454 South Shore drive and cost 6 million dollars to build, and that he believed the hotel was worth at least $1,300,000. He asked that the court order the title and trust company to advertise for bids.

MOBILE AND OHIO $6,700,000 OFFER EXPECTED SOON

Offering this week of $6,700,000 Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad company collateral trust bonds, series A, is expected to be made by an investment group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., apparent successful bidders yesterday with a bid of 100.1602, approximately a 3.50 interest cost to the railroad.

The bonds will mature annually from July 1, 1944, to July 1, 1953, are expected to be offered at prices to yield from 1⅛ per cent for the 1944 maturity to 3.60 per cent for the 1953 maturity.

No bid was received for the $8,700,000 series B term bonds maturing July 1, 1958.

Bars County's Bidding in Tax Foreclosures

A decision that may have an important bearing on the back tax collection policies of Cook county was handed down yesterday by Judge William V. Brothers of the Circuit court and is to be signed in final form today.

The case concerned the Midland Club building at 168 West Adams street, which owes a delinquent tax bill of more than $750,000. The county foreclosed on this property and, at a tax sale ordered last April by the court, bid it in at the full amount of the taxes and penalties.

Insists on "Cash Sale."

Judge Brothers held that the county had not complied with the court order, which specified that the sale should be "for cash to the highest and best bidder," and that an actual bid of $150,000 cash made by Atty. Alexander Spare was the only valid offer and must be accepted. It was not disclosed what interests Spare represented.

Atty. Barre Blumenthal, for Spare, had argued that the county, if it bid at all, would have to pay cash like any other bidder and distribute the amounts due to the other taxing bodies—a manifest impossibility in view of the county's dire financial situation.

Assistant State's Attorneys Marshall V. Kearney and John T. Fitzgerald, representing the county, said that the decree as outlined would be appealed.

Would "Stifle" Competition.

Informally, Judge Brothers said that it was doubtful that the county had any right to "go into the real estate business" even if it appropriated cash to make purchases, and that its bidding might have the effect of stifling competition of private bidders.

In recent years the county board's tax foreclosure committee has collected millions of dollars of delinquent taxes by agreed bids, under which the owners pay compromise amounts to prevent the county becoming the purchaser of their properties as in the Midland case.

CIVIC OPERA'S SALE AWAITS AN APPRAISAL

An independent appraisal of the Civic Opera building at 20 North Wacker drive by Ward Farnsworth, member of the Chicago Real Estate board, was ordered yesterday by Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett. The order was issued in conjunction with the proposed sale of the controlling stock of the building to the General Finance corporation.

Barrett has been making an investigation of the sale plan, which promises to insure the continuation of opera in Chicago for 10 years. The controlling stock is now owned by the Chicago Music foundation, a charitable trust created by the late Samuel Insull in 1929. Because a public trust is involved, the transaction must have the approval of the attorney general prior to its submission to a court.

CURTISS-WRIGHT BONUS REPLACED BY PAY INCREASE

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP).—The war labor board today ordered the bonus system at the Buffalo plant of the Curtiss-Wright corporation, airplane division, replaced by a general increase in hourly wage rates averaging 14½ cents.

All except 500 of the approximately 27,000 employes were affected by the order which the board said would result in an aggregate increase of about 8 million dollars annually, "which is less than the amount paid by the company for bonuses to the same employes" last year.

Both the company and the International Association of Machinists, representing the workers, had urged elimination of the bonus system as unworkable.

'PEACE' STOCKS EDGE FORWARD IN MIXED TRADE

Aircrafts Lead Dip in 'Arms' Issues.

New York, July 19 (AP).—Scattered peace stocks, including rails, made moderate gains in today's market, but many leaders were unresponsive to exceptionally cheering war bulletins, and closing prices were mixed.

Assorted favorites edged to new high levels at the start, but the majority slipped later. Losses among armament rated issues, notably aircrafts, were general. Selling, however never was pressing, and dealings were relatively slow.

War victories may have been discounted to some extent by the recent price swing to peak marks in nearly four years, it was suggested, and some profit cashing was considered natural. Commitments were lightened in many instances pending more definite indications of the next general market trend. Investment purchases again provided important support for prices.

Oils Display Strength.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.1, at 52.9.

Hopes for a boost in crude oil prices, coupled with post-war optimism, aided the petroleum department. Steels had to contend with reports of a dip in second quarter profits for the big producers. The wage outlook kept most rails quiet despite pleasing revenue statements and forecasts of expanding traffic.

New peaks were reached by American Telephone, up ⅝ at 157½, altho the company failed by a few cents to earn its regular dividend in the second quarter; Standard Oil [N. J.], Pure Oil, Ohio Oil, and United States Lines.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

Chicago stock prices were mixed yesterday in quiet trade of 34,000 shares, altho 12 new highs were touched. Miller & Hart was the volume leader with 7,100 shares, closing up ⅛ at 3 after touching a peak of 3⅛.

SOME RAIL BONDS GAIN.

New York, July 19 (AP).—The bond market moved in a narrow range today, with moderate gains made by some rails. Utilities were in selective demand. United States government loans closed 1/32 to 15/32 higher in quiet stock exchange dealings, and were steady in more active outside markets.

Live Stock Markets Lack Corn to Feed Hogs in Pens

Several important live stock markets outside Chicago were reported yesterday to be without corn needed to feed hogs until they are sold or processed. Officials of the Chicago stock yards said corn supplies here are adequate and that no shortage is in prospect.

The stock yards corn situation is another manifestation of the acute shortage, outside farms, which developed several months ago. Live stock dealers said that major markets no longer able to provide corn for hogs received there include East St. Louis and Peoria, Ill.; St. Paul, Minn., and Indianapolis, Ind.

Using Up Reserves.

These yards have been on a "hand to mouth" basis for several weeks, it was said, but were able to meet feed demands until now thru reserves or an occasional purchase. The scarcity has been intensified by a record hog run, abnormal for this season, caused by record numbers of animals on farms and a lack of feed in certain producing areas.

Chicago dealers said that some yards, such as East St. Louis and St. Paul, are experimenting with wheat or barley for hog feed. Some farmers have been forced to carry corn along with their hog shipments to guard against a lack of feed while waiting to sell the animals. The war meat board has requested farmers repeatedly to delay hog marketings because of the corn shortage in market centers and because shipments were exceeding processing capacities.

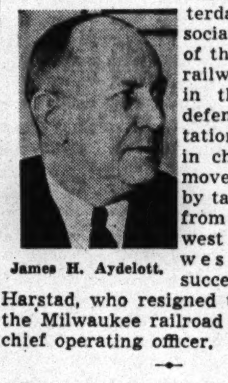
Scour Country for Feed.

A buyer for a packing company recounted that recently he purchased 10 carloads of hogs in Indianapolis for processing in the east, but was forced to delay shipment. The stock yards could not feed the animals and his agents were obliged to scour the countryside to find enough corn to provide a meager diet for the animals, he said.

The plight of the stock yards is similar to that of corn processing plants, which have been forced to curtail operations or shut down because they cannot obtain commercial corn. Commercial users complain that corn price ceilings prevent their competing with illegal market prices and the return farmers receive from feeding corn to hogs.

People and Events

James H. Aydelott of La Grange, Ill., general manager of the Burlington railroad, yesterday became associate director of the division of railway transport in the office of defense transportation. He will be in charge of the movement east by tank car of oil from the southwest and middle west. Aydelott succeeds Oscar Harstad, who resigned to return to the Milwaukee railroad as assistant chief operating officer.



James H. Aydelott.

Rufus W. Scott, chairman of the executive committee of Tubize Chatillon corporation, was elected chairman of the board, W. P. Barba was elected a director, and Gordon A. Hardwick was elected to the executive committee, all succeeding the late Roland Taylor.

Steel Output to Top 98% of Capacity This Week

New York, July 19 (AP).—Operations in the steel industry will rise to 98.3 per cent of capacity this week, compared with 97 per cent last week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today.

WPB'S 'SALE' BAN APPROVED BY MERCHANTS

About fifty members of the Chicago Retail Merchants association, representatives of other merchant groups, and merchants yesterday endorsed the WPB's declaration of policy on selling practices made public last Friday. They met in a private dining room at Marshall, Field & Co.

Word of the action was sent Arthur W. Whiteside, director of civilian requirements, WPB, Washington, D. C., who drafted the war time code which strikes the word "sale" from merchandising parlance except in restricted cases and which asks that more space be devoted to institutional copy in advertising, such as conservation and care of goods. The code also eliminates scare appeal by personnel, discrimination in filling customers' orders and selling more than is reasonable to one customer, spokesmen for the group said.

Redemption of C. & O. 'A' Preferred Authorized

Cleveland, O., July 19 (AP).—Directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company today authorized the redemption next Oct. 1 of the company's entire outstanding series A preferred stock at $107.50 per share together with a $1 dividend, payable Oct. 1.

LONG EXPECTED CEILING ON HOGS FIXED AT $14.75

Packer Licensing to Be Changed.

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP).—A hog ceiling of $14.75 a 100 pounds, Chicago basis, will be ordered early next month in a move to hold price fluctuations to a minimum, the government announced tonight. The ceiling—the first to be placed on live stock—is $1 above the level at which the government earlier had promised to support prices of hogs.

Altho it is between 75 cents and $1.25 above recent market levels, the ceiling will keep hogs from advancing again to the $16.10 peak reached this spring. The higher prices brought sharp complaints from packers who contended they were being squeezed between hog costs and government ceilings on pork and pork products.

The action will have no effect on retail pork prices, it was said.

Adequate Margin Promised.

A joint statement by the office of price administration and the war food administration said the ceiling would apply to all grades and weights of hogs and assure packers an adequate margin between hog prices and OPA pork ceilings.

Hog prices probably will continue to fluctuate seasonally between the ceiling and floor prices, the statement said. In seasons of small marketings, prices tend to go up, and during heavy selling, such as at the present, to go down.

WFA also announced its existing system of food distribution orders controling meat slaughter and processing will be superseded Aug. 15 by an over-all system of licensing slaughterers. Officials said the present system was considered too complicated and the new one would be much simpler.

Support Is Broadened.

All slaughterers—except farmers, who will continue to operate under the present permit system—will be licensed to slaughter live stock under conditions to be announced prior to Aug. 12. Two of those conditions will be [1] payment by packers of not less than the "government support price" of $13.75 and not more than the ceiling price, and [2] "appropriate" division of meat supplies among civilian, military, and lend-lease groups.

WFA further disclosed that its

What's Ahead for COMMON STOCKS?

That this country will enter into a period of great industrial expansion in the post-war period there can be little doubt, in our opinion. The deferred demand for almost every type of industrial product is growing daily and has already reached a volume of vast proportions.

For example, one authoritative survey indicates an immediate post-war demand in the first six months after the end of the war for well over 2,000,000 automobiles, 1,500,000 electric refrigerators and 1,200,000 radios. In addition, there will be vast markets for all kinds of building, farm and utility equipment and other products which this country can produce better than any other.

Just as we believe in the future prosperity of this nation and a great post-war expansion in industry, we are also convinced of the wisdom of considering the purchase of sound common stocks at this time. As in the past, holders of common stocks have the best opportunity to share in the kind of expansion which is likely to follow the end of the war.

Careful selection of common stocks is important because the companies they represent will experience varying growth. We believe that there are many common stocks today which offer exceptional opportunities for sound investment. We also believe this is an appropriate time to review your holdings looking toward the future.

We will be glad to submit suggested lists of stocks for your consideration and supply analyses of companies whose common shares you now hold.

CHARGES UNFAIR CONTRACT PLAN ON BOILER JOBS

Illinois Plant Official Cites Long Wait.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—How a 52 year old Illinois manufacturing concern spent two and a half years trying to interest the United States maritime commission in a product used in the manufacture of Liberty ships was unfolded today before the senate committee on small business. Witnesses accused the commission of unfair practices in awarding boiler contracts, which they said "will promote post-war domination of the boiler industry by a few large companies."

The firm which complained it was denied work by the maritime commission is the Springfield Boiler company of Springfield, Ill., capitalized at $250,000 and backed by 35 years of experience in manufacturing the type of boilers adopted for Liberty ships.

Only Half of Capacity.

According to the testimony, the plant is operating at only 50 per cent of capacity, notwithstanding the fact that it has a record of 4 million dollars worth of boilers for war production without a default.

W. Ross Irwin, vice president of the company, told the committee that a "boiler bottle neck" has resulted from the commission's persistence in concentrating its business with a few large concerns, and refusing to give smaller plants the usual data on which to base bids.

"Notwithstanding our special suitability for the maritime boiler requirements," he declared, "it was only after the Smaller War Plants corporation had interceded for us early this year that we finally succeeded in obtaining an invitation from the commission to bid. The first invitation was dated Feb. 19, 1943, and required a bid by return mail. No plans or design were enclosed. The specifications were of a most general character. In these circumstances, the prepration of an intelligent bid was virtually impossible."

Others Had Specifications.

Irwin said the large companies that made the original designs continued to receive the contracts. They had the specifications on hand before the bidding was invited, he said.

Irwin testified that out of contracts for sectional header type water tube boilers for 487 ships, the Springfield company was given two contracts to supply 47 ships, but only after it had been referred to the commission as a "distressed plant" by the Smaller War Plants corporation.

Sen. James E. Murray [D., Mont.], who presided at the hearing, commented tartly that his opinion, as the testimony unfolded, was that the Springfield case was almost identical to one which attracted the attention of the committee some months ago. It involved a series of exclusive contracts given to the Bendix corporation of New York. This corporation was overloaded to such an extent, the senator recalled, that it wrote back to Washington asking whether the production was intended "for this war or the next war."

Lloyd B. Jones, assistant purchasing officer of the maritime commission, admitted under questioning by Sen. Murray that the request for a reply from prospective bidders by return mail was "probably a little harsh."

Jones insisted, however, that the commission's practice is to allow 12 or 15 days for a reply.

RETAILERS URGE WIDE CHANGE IN PRICING SYSTEM

Their Confidence Lost, Asserts Meek.

Thousands of business men have lost confidence in the "workability" of the office of price administration, Joseph T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, said yesterday. Addressing the Salesmen's Association of the Paper Industry at a meeting in the Hotel Sherman, he asserted that "this is one of the most regrettable losses of the home front war thus far."

These business men know that prices must be kept in check and will "go to any sane ends" to accomplish this, said Meek. Asserting however, that congress has forced the OPA to use men of practical experience in policy making capacities, he said the price order remains "the same monumental error of impracticality, scarcity, and subsidy that it was over a year ago."

Urge OPA Abolishment.

He said most of the merchants with whom he has come in contact believe that four steps are essential to protect the consumer and retailer. They are:

1. Complete abolishment of the OPA, with its food functions taken over by a centralized food organization.

2. Writing into law the actual pricing methods to be followed so there may be government by law and not be "cooked up regulations."

3. A new start all along the line, with buyer and seller beginning from the common premise that inflation can be controled thru the recognition of competitive forces, by adequate control, at the source and not at the complex retail level, and that producer, worker and distributor must make common sacrifices "without benefit of political temporizing."

Ask Reasonable Profit.

4. Concrete recognition of the facts that labor will not produce efficiently without fair reward, and that goods will not be brought into the retail market unless they are sufficiently profitable to allow the merchant to stay in business.

"Most of all, we need to refrain from name-calling, from unfair criticism, which retailers themselves know only subscribes to the axis idea of divide and conquer," Meek said. "But we do need fair criticism placed in the proper quarters."

BROWN FENCE AND WIRE.

A description of the operations and earnings record of the Brown Fence and Wire company will be appreciated.—H. A.

Answer: Brown Fence and Wire conducts a mail order business in fencing and farm supplies, and operates several retail stores. Lines carried include barbed wire, metal roofing, and other steel products which, with fencing, account for about one-half the sales volume. The company also sells paints, asphalt roofing, blankets, shoes, wearing apparel, and miscellaneous farm equipment. Manufacturing plants are in Cleveland, O.; Adrian, Mich., and Memphis, Tenn., and have been largely converted to war work.

The company went thru the depression of the 1930s with a loss in only one year, the fiscal year to June 30, 1933. A comparison of net sales, net income, and earnings per share for fiscal years ended June 30 follows:

1942	$5,166,173	$302,892	$8.08	$ .38
1941	3,650,190	183,895	1.86	d.05
1940	3,600,378	118,735	1.20	d.28
1939	4,097,623	162,906	1.64	d.13
1938	3,830,516	294,052	2.97	.34

d—Deficit.

For the six months to Dec. 31, 1942, net income amounted to $16,206, equal to 16 cents a share on class A stock, compared with $102,058, or $1.03 a share in the corresponding period of 1941.

Capitalization consists of 98,364 shares of $2 dividend no par value class A preferred stock and 279,764 shares of $1 par common. The preferred dividend is cumulative to the extent earned. Dividends have been paid on the preferred each year, at varying rates, since 1935. Since 1939 the only distribution on the common was 10 cents a share in September, 1942.

LONG EXPECTED CEILING ON HOGS FIXED AT $14.75

Packer License System to Be Changed.

support price will be extended to include weights from 200 to 270 pounds, good to choice butcher hogs, between Sept. 1 and March 31, 1944. The "floor" had applied only to good to choice butcher hogs weighing 240 to 270 pounds, on which WFA said the support would remain in effect thru September, 1944, as originally provided.

In view of dwindling feed supplies, however, WFA asked farmers not to feed hogs to more than 230 pounds.

The purpose of the slaughter licensing system is to call on the meat processing industry to assume increased responsibility in carrying out the government program of distributing meat supplies, said WFA.

Inspection Be Extended.

Under the present system, slaughterers must operate under quotas and orders requiring that certain portions of their output be set aside for military and other war uses. The new system will leave pork slaughter operations "pretty much" to competition among packers, with a minimum of government controls. The rationing system will remain to limit civilian purchases.

WFA said arrangements were being made to extend federal meat inspection to many more plants to help remove obstacles to equitable distribution of pork supplies among various areas of the country, particularly those far from packing centers.

Because the government limits its purchases to federally inspected plants, many plants had been unable to meet both government and civilian demands. At present, slaughter in non-federally inspected plants is limited to civilian meat quotas based on 1941 slaughter, but there is no limit on the quantity of live stock federally inspected plants can slaughter for government purchase.

PRICES ARE BELOW 'FLOOR'

Chicago receipts were the second heaviest for a Monday since last January, and the biggest for a July day in 10 years. The movement to market was attributed partly to the failure of the government to keep its promise, as well as to the tight corn situation and a rush by farmers to dispose of heavy hogs they had produced in record numbers on advice of the department of agriculture.

153,000 Hogs Handled.

Twenty of the largest stock yards handled 153,000 hogs in the day, compared with 137,000 a week earlier and 107,000 on the same day last year. Prices ruled steady to 10 cents lower.

The $13.90 top equaled the lowest in three weeks. Top grades have been lower on only two days this year. Most of the 200 to 240 pound hogs sold at $13.75 to $13.85. The average moved down 5 cents, to $13.35.

Cattle receipts were less than the big volume last week, but they were far above the "famine" receipts of four weeks ago.

Best steers, yearlings, and heifers, ruled strong to 25 cents higher. Others were mostly steady.

AUTO INDUSTRY WAR PRODUCTION IN JUNE RISES TO 725 MILLION

Detroit, Mich., July 19 (AP).—The automotive council for war production reported today arms output of the car industry during June reached 725 million dollars, compared with $705,600,000 in May and $383,800,000 in June a year ago.

The industry is producing at an annual rate of 8 billion 700 million dollars, said George Romney, managing director of the council.

METALS FIRM DECLARES NEW 75C DIVIDEND

Directors of the Reynolds Metals company, Richmond, Va., yesterday declared a dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock. Previous payment was 50 cents last December, the first dividend since December, 1940. Other dividends declared follow:

GRAINS ARE OFF, LED BY DECLINE IN RYE FUTURES

Early liquidation yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade caused a rye decline of 2⅛ cents a bushel to $1.04½. The slump resulted in short covering and part of the loss was recovered later with the close 1¼ to 1⅝ cents lower.

Wheat resisted selling and finished ¼ cent lower to ¼ cent higher. Oats were unchanged to ⅝ cent lower.

October Eggs Boosted to 44c; Potatoes Weaken

October egg futures closed a full cent higher at 44 cents a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday under short covering and an advance in cash egg ceiling prices. Trading volume was seven cars. Potatoes for November delivery closed a cent lower in light trading at $3.04 per 100 pounds.

One of These Days Uncle Sam Will Want Me—and That's a Break for You

I'm an auditor and office manager of a war plant, and while what I am doing is important to the war effort, Uncle Sam figures I can be replaced by a man who can do my job while I get into uniform.

I'll have enough time to break you in thoroughly. If you have had public accounting and auditing and have had some supervisory experience, I am sure you'll make the grade. And just so it won't happen again—you ought to be draft exempt.

Another thing—we are leaders in an important phase of the electronics field. When this shindig is over and I come marching home again, there'll be plenty of room for both of us.

New Chicago Plant

many good jobs are still open in various skills and trades where you can get ahead and go places with DOUGLAS.

Don't let any one tell you that this great, new CHICAGO PLANT is merely an assembly branch. This is not true. We build the famous C-54 complete—the giant DOUGLAS SKYMASTER. We perform every operation in building planes ready-to-fly from here to far battle areas. From raw materials all the way thru our own tooling and thru every variety of machining operation, no other plant in the entire aircraft field is any more self-sufficient. Just one of our big buildings, alone, is almost three-quarters of a mile long under one roof. DOUGLAS employees say, "A swell place for all of us to work!"

Everything here is fine and new, each individual works with new, up-to-the-minute equipment and with company furnished tools. Eating facilities are tops. No other job will afford you any greater degree of pleasure along with profit. The essentiality of aircraft means we have materials for full time work, with time and a half pay for overtime above 40 hours per week. You may have group life insurance, health and accident insurance and hospitalization at low cost. And you will have the deep satisfaction of participating DIRECTLY in war effort, seeing YOUR planes fly from here to our fighting men to win VICTORY quicker.

LOOK TO THE WEST!

The trend is toward the West with its dependable and definitely mild, seasonal, healthful climate. Therein are located the 14,000 miles of "SP" Railroad, serving the West and growing with it.

The "SP" is lengthening its sidings, expanding its yards, and constantly installing the most modern equipment to handle the ever-growing volume of traffic.

THIS IS SOMETHING FOR YOU EXPERIENCED "RAILS" TO PONDER OVER! YOU ARE NEEDED OUT THERE and it's the opportunity of a lifetime to enter the service of one of the nation's best roads in the growing Empire of the West.

There are good jobs and good prospects for your future awaiting experienced railroaders.

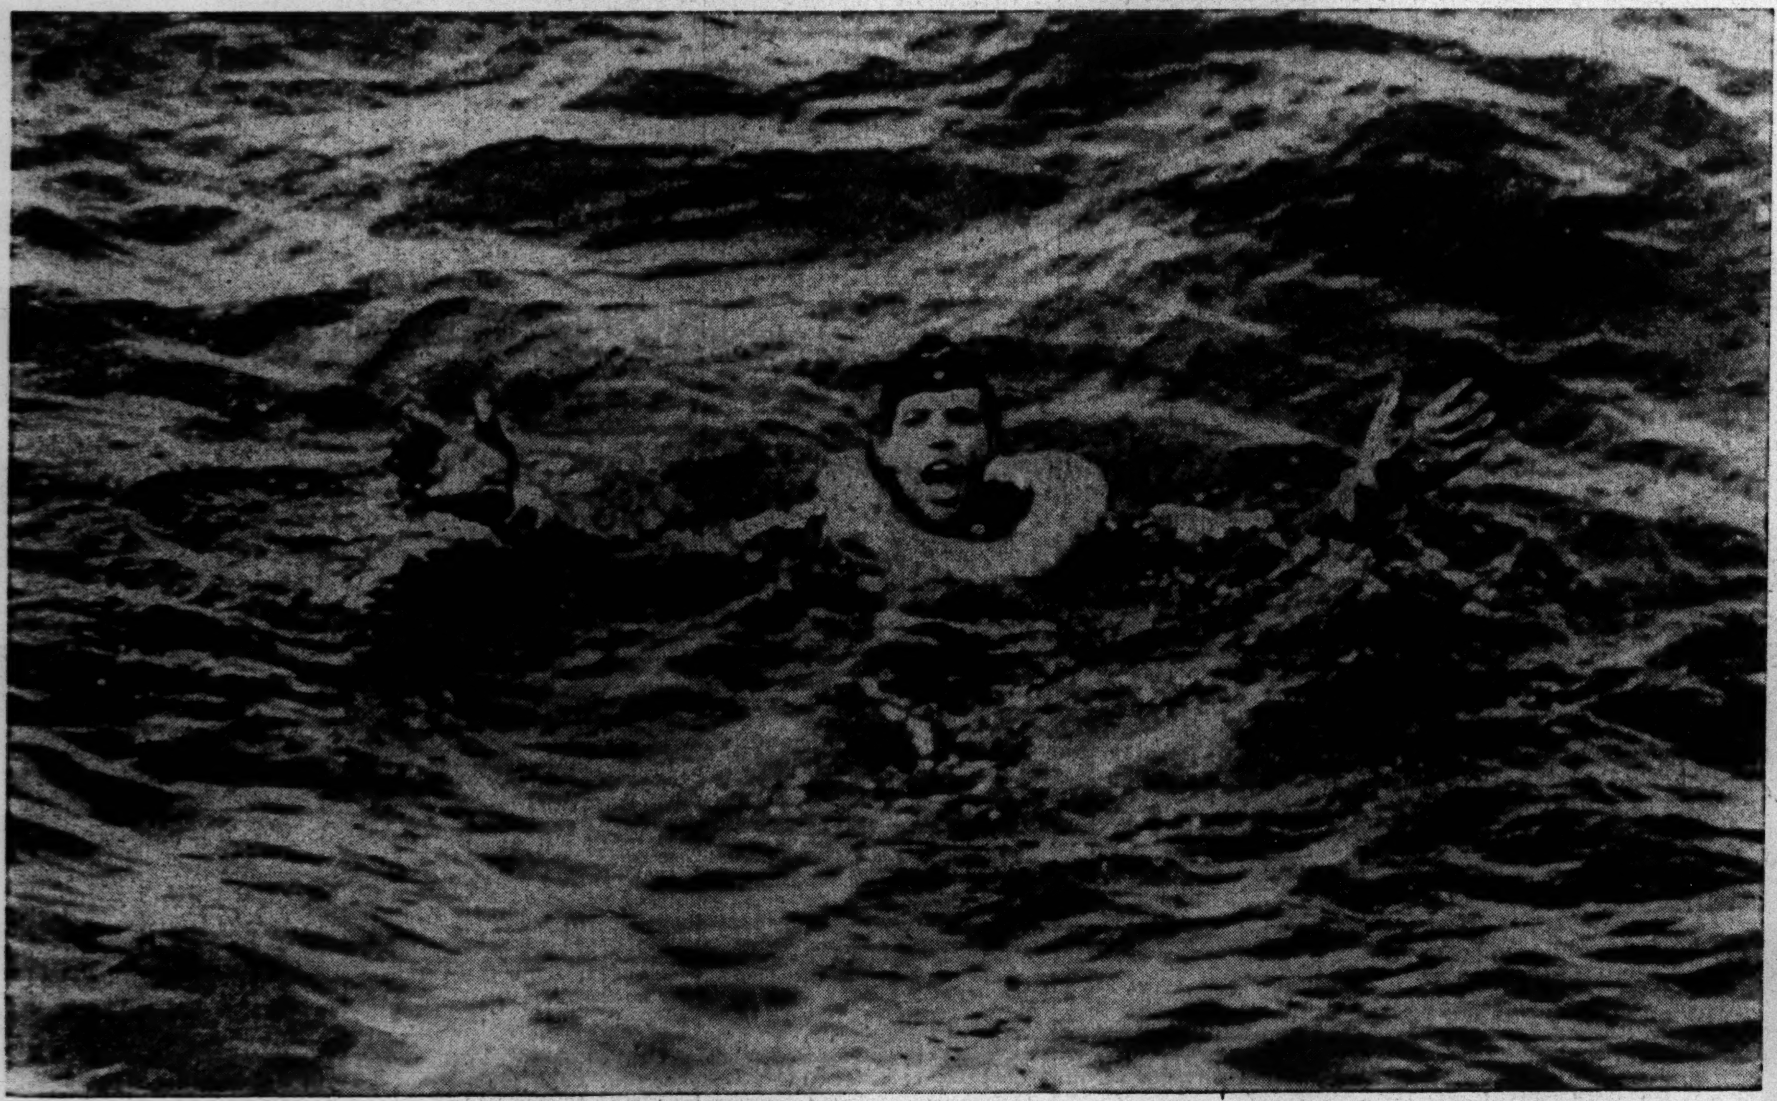
Coast Guard Cutter Sinks German Submarine; Rescues Its Survivors—WAVES Recruiting Staff Augmented



[Associated Press Wirephoto: From U. S. Coast Guard.]

The coast guard says this is a German submarine officer bobbing to the surface and screaming for help after his submarine was sunk by a cutter. He escaped thru the submarine's escape hatch and is wearing what is described as a German version of the Momsen artificial lung.

The coast guard says this is a crew member of a sunken German submarine being hauled aboard the cutter which sunk it. The locale is given only as "in the Atlantic."
